No. 3477Medl.2D-33/48.—2nd August 1948.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 33 of the Drugs Act, 1940 (XXIII of 1940), the Governor is pleased to make the following amendments in the Bengal Drug Rules, 1946, published with Government of Bengal notification No. 110-Medl., dated the 7th January 1946, the same having been previously published as required by the said section, namely:—

Amendments.

I. In the said rules—

(1) In the first proviso to rule 3,—

(a) for the words, figures, letters and brackets "7 and 11 in Schedule C and those in Schedule C(1)" the figures, words and letters, "7, 11 and 14 in Schedule C" shall be substituted;

(b) for the words, figures, letters and brackets "7 and 11 of Schedule C and those in Schedule C(1)" the figures, words and letters "7, 11 and 14 in Schedule C" shall be substituted.

(3) In rule 73, after clause (h) the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"(i) Preparations from cultures of pathogenic Organisms in a form to be administered orally, which must be sterile".

II. In the schedules annexed to the said rules,—

(1) In Schedule C, after the entry "13, sterilised surgical legature and sterilised surgical suture" the entry "14, Bacteriophages" shall be added.

(2) In Schedule E appended to the said rules—

(a) in part I(B)—

(i) in sub-paragraph (7) of paragraph 4, for the word "scheme", substitute the word "schedule", and

(ii) in sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 6, for the words, "the potency can be assured for at least six months" substitute the following:—

"when the potency can be assured for fourteen days:

Provided that it shall be permissible to state that if the lymph is kept continuously below 0°C. the potency can be assured for at least six months.";

(b) in part IV(J) for the word "Aatipneumococcus" in the heading, substitute the word "Antipneumococcus";

(c) after part VII, insert the following as Parts VIII, IX and X and renumber Parts VIII, IX and XII as Parts XI, XII and XIII, respectively.

"Part VIII.—Liquor Adrenalinæ Hydrochloridi B. P. for Parenteral Administration.

Proper name.—Liquor Adrenalinæ Hydrochloridi is a sterile solution of adrenaline in normal saline and hydrochloric acid, containing in each 100 c.c. not less than 0·09 gramme and not more than 0·110 gramme $C_9H_{13}O_3N$.

Standard preparation.—The standard preparation is a quantity of adrenaline B. P. which satisfies all the tests for purity specified in the British Pharmacopoeia. The optical rotation of a 4 per cent. w/v solution of standard adrenaline in N/1 hydrochloric acid, should be between −50 and −53 degrees.

Test for potency.—A suitable solution of adrenaline hydrochloride injected intravenously into a cat or a dog by the methods described below produces a rise in the systolic blood-pressure of the animal corresponding to that produced by an equal amount of a solution of adrenaline B. P.

(i) Preparation of the solution for the test.—The following method is suggested:—Weigh accurately about 0·050 gramme of standard adrenaline, dissolve it in 5 c.c. of N/10 hydrochloric acid and dilute this to 50 c.c. by the addition of distilled water, thus making a 1 in 1,000 solution. This solution must be recently prepared, otherwise it deteriorates. It will keep for a short time if preserved in hard glass containers in a refrigerator, but it must be discarded if any signs of deterioration, such as discolouration are observed.

Suitable dilutions of the standard adrenaline solution may then be made in physiological saline for comparison with equivalent dilutions of Liquor Adrenalinæ Hydrochloridi to be tested.

(ii) Methods of comparison of potency.—Either of the following methods may be adopted:—

(A) For the purpose of the assay a full grown cat, preferably male, should be used. The cat should be anæsthetised with a suitable anæsthetic, the spinal chord should be divided and the brain destroyed, the respiration being maintained artificially. The blood-pressure is estimated by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which decords on a moving drum. The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein. The blood-pressure must be low and must not vary before experiments are started.

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a sub-maximal rise in blood-pressure by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution at regular intervals and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of reaction should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size. If these injections produce approximately equal increase in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made carrying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raise the blood-pressure to the same height, indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in the doses used. From the results thus obtained, the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted.

(B) For the purpose of the assay, a dog of medium size should be used. The animal should be anæsthetised with a suitable anæsthetic and maintained under artificial respiration. It is prepared for blood-pressure estimations by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum. The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein. Before the test is made, in case any muscular movement such as twitching is present, the dog should receive by intravenous injection a sufficient dose of curare, but if the animal is deeply anæsthetised this is not necessary. The dog should also receive a sufficient dose of atropine sulphate (from 0·001 gramme to 0·002 gramme) to paralyse the vagi, this paralysis being proved by electrical stimulation. Injections must be made at regular intervals of approximately 5 minutes.

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a rise in blood-pressure from 30 to 60 mm. of mercury by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of reaction should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size. If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made varying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raise the blood-pressure to the same height indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in the doses used. From the results thus obtained, the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted.

Containers.—Ampoules shall be made of white resistance glass passing the B. P. tests for limits of alkalinity of glass. Containers other than ampoules shall be made of amber coloured resistance glass passing the B. P. tests for limits of alkalinity of glass.

Storage.—Liquor Adrenalinæ Hydrochloridi shall be kept in small, well-filled, well-closed bottles or ampoules, protected from light. If the solution becomes brown in colour or contains a precipitate, it must be rejected. A suitable preservative may be added to the solution.

Labelling.—The label of the container shall contain the following in addition to any other particulars prescribed in these rules:—

1. Strength of the solution.
2. The word 'sterile' or "suitable for parenteral injection'.
3. Dose (0·12 to 0·5 mil. by injection).
4. Caution.—If the solution is brown in colour or contains a precipitate it must be rejected.

Part IX.—Any other preparations in a form to be administered parenterally.

Tests.—1. The preparation shall be in a container which precludes the access of bacteria.

2. The composition of the preparation shall be in accordance with the composition stated on the label. Such deviations as may be allowed in the composition of the preparation shall be fixed by the Licensing Officer.

3. The preparation shall comply with tests for sterility.

4. If the container is made of glass, the glass shall pass the tests for limit of alkalinity in glass laid down in the British Pharmacopoeia."; and

These preparations shall be submitted to the test prescribed in Part VIII of this Schedule except that they will not be tested for sterility. The label on the container and the label or wrapper on the package shall bear the words 'Not to be injected' clearly printed in a distinctive manner in addition to any particulars prescribed in these rules."

Part X.—Provisions Applicable to the Production of Bacteriophages.

1. Definition.—(i) This part X of this schedule applies to the bacteriophages made from any micro-organism pathogenic to man or other animal.

(ii) For the purpose of this part of this schedule a bacteriophage means a sterile preparation derived from a culture of the micro-organism from which the bacteriophage derives its name.

2. Staff of establishment.—Any establishment where bacteriophages are prepared must be under the complete direction and control of a competent expert in bacteriology, who must be assisted by a staff adequate for carrying out the tests required during the preparation of the bacteriophages and in connection with the finished products.

3. Proper name.—The proper name of any bacteriophage shall be the word "Bacteriophage" followed by the name of the micro-organism from which it is prepared, or other name approved by the licensing authority.

4. Records.—Cultures used in the preparation of bacteriophage must before being manipulated into a bacteriophage be identified by the generally accepted tests applicable to the particular micro-organism The permanent records which the licensee is required to keep shall include a record of the origin, properties and characteristics of the culture.

5. Combined bacteriophages.—Bacteriophages may be issued either singly or combined in the same container. In the case of combinations of bacteriophage a name for the combined bacteriophage may be submitted by the licensee to the licensing authority and if approved, may be used as a proper name of the bacteriophage.

6. Containers.—The container shall be a sealed glass ampoule of non-alkaline resistance glass.

7. Labelling.—The label of the container shall indicate:

(a) The proper name of the bacteriophage;

(b) The words 'For oral administration only';

(c) The date of manufacture; and

(d) A caution to the effect that if the preparation is cloudy or shows a deposit it should be discarded.

8. Tests.—Bacteriophages shall be subjected to the same tests for sterility as prescribed in these rules for bacterial vaccines."

ORDER.

No. 2478Lab.—22nd July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 1694-Lab., dated the 26th May 1948, the industrial dispute between the Prabartak Jute Mills, Ltd., 61, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta 12, and their workmen represented by the Jute Mill Workers' Federation, Bengal, 115-E, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta, in connection with the case of Sri Parimal Das Gupta, a workman of the said Mills, was referred for adjudication to Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein.

ANNEXURE.

AWARD.

This industrial dispute between the Prabartak Jute Mills, Limited, 61, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Jute Mill Workers' Federation, Bengal, 115-E, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta, in connection with the case of Sri Parimal Das Gupta, a workman of the said Mills, has been referred, by Government order No. 1694-Lab., dated the 26th May 1948, to me as the Tribunal for adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

2. Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, Pleader, appeared for the workmen and Sri Satish Chandra Sen, Advocate, appeared for the Mills.

3. The Government of West Bengal by an order, dated the 15th August 1947, have set up a Tribunal more commonly known as the Jute Textile Tribunal, for adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the disputes existing between the employees and the employers of the entire Jute Industry. The Prabartak Jute Mills are a party to the proceedings pending before the Jute Textile Tribunal. Their workmen also are before the Tribunal represented by the Jute Mill Workers' Federation, Bengal. The case of the workmen before me is that in order to strengthen their position by collective bargaining the workmen of the Prabartak Jute Mills have been organising a Trade Union of their own. Sri Parimal Das Gupta eventually was elected the Vice-President of the Union. He was also one of the persons who was active in organising the Union. The case of the workmen further was that at 5-30 a.m. on the morning of 26th February 1948, Sri Debendra Nath Chowdhury, the Manager of the Mills, refused Sri Parimal Das Gupta admission into the factory. The action of the Manager, according to the workmen, amounted to an illegal lock-out. An illegal lock-out being an illegal change during continuance of the proceedings before the Jute Textile Tribunal, the workmen demanded employment of Sri Parimal Das Gupta, and for payment of full pay for the period of unemployment.

4. The case of the employers is that Sri Parimal Das Gupta was discharged for gross misconduct on the 26th February 1948. They denied that there was any illegal lock-out.

5. The point for adjudication therefore is whether Sri Parimal Das Gupta shall be directed to be re-employed and, if so, on what terms?

6. On the 29th February 1948, Sri Phani Ghosh, General Secretary of the Jute Mill Workers' Federation, Bengal, addressed the Hon'ble Labour Minister, Government of West Bengal, copy of which was forwarded to the Labour Commissioner, complaining against the action of the Manager taken with regard to Sri Parimal Das Gupta. The complaint in that letter was that Sri Parimal Das Gupta was suspended on the 25th February 1948 for alleged collection of subscriptions for the Employees' Union. There was a demand for withdrawal of the order of suspension. The Labour Commissioner, in his capacity as the Conciliation Officer, took action upon that letter. His attempts at conciliation having failed, the dispute has been referred to me for adjudication. The dispute therefore was over the alleged suspension of Sri Parimal Das Gupta. That was the dispute referred to me for adjudication. After the reference for adjudication it was not open to the workmen to alter the dispute and to say that this was a case of lock-out and not of suspension. Looking to the original demand of the workmen and the version of the employers, this was either a case of suspension or of discharge. In any event after the order of suspension or discharge, whatever it was, no question of lock-out would arise if Sri Parimal Das Gupta was not permitted by the Manager to enter the Mill premises. The point therefore which arises for decision is whether Sri Parimal Das Gupta was suspended or discharged. The case of the workmen was that action was taken against Sri Parimal Das Gupta because of his Trade Union activities. In the written statement filed before me there are no dates mentioned to indicate when Sri Parimal Das Gupta became active in organising the Union except that the Union was formed on the 29th February 1948. That was a date after the action taken against him. In the written statement filed before me on behalf of the workmen it was mentioned that Sri Parimal Das Gupta was locked out on the 26th February 1948. The Attendance Register produced by the employers, Ext. C, shows that on the 26th February 1948 Sri Parimal Das Gupta had attended the Mills. During evidence Sri Parimal Das Gupta stated that he was locked out on 27th February 1948. The contradiction between the evidence and the case is material but I need not base my decision on this. The workmen relied on a copy of a poster, Ext. 1. It shows that Sri Parimal Das Gupta invited everybody to attend a meeting on the 29th February 1948. The poster was signed by Sri Parimal Das Gupta on the 24th February 1948. The demands to be placed before the meeting, according to the copy of the poster, were (1) reinstatement of Parimal Babu and Jiban Babu; (2) stoppage of retrenchment; and (3) acceptance of the demands of the Union. It was in the meeting of 29th February that the Union was said to have been formed and its office bearers elected. This is the case in the written statement filed on behalf of the workmen. This is also the evidence of Sri Parimal Das Gupta and Sri Jibandhan Ghosh examined on behalf of the workmen. This is also what appears from the minutes of the proceedings of the meeting said to have been held on 29th February 1948, Ext. 2. On behalf of the employers there was a serious challenge given to both the evidence and the case of the workmen relying on the contents of the copy of the poster, Ext. 1. It was argued on behalf of the employers that the demand for reinstatement of Parimal Babu and Jiban Babu could not have been made in a meeting called on 24th February 1948 to be held on 29th February 1948, because no action had been taken against Parimal Babu on the 24th February 1948 and further because action against Jiban Babu was taken on the 19th March 1948. It was further argued on behalf of the employers that the other demand for acceptance of the demands of the Union displaced the story of the workmen that the meeting of the 29th February was called for organising the Union in so far as it was clear from the copy of the poster that it was written on a date after the formation of the Union and the actions taken against both Parimal Babu and Jiban Babu. The content of the copy of the poster, which mentions "Union's demands" and also reinstatement of Parimal Babu and Jiban Babu, very clearly establishes that it must have been written on a date after the 19th March 1948 which was the date on which action was said to have been taken against Jiban Babu. These contents of the copy of the poster very clearly displace also the date fixed for the meeting, and the date on which the meeting was called. There was no attempt made on behalf of the workmen to explain the contradictions pointed out above. The internal contradictions in the copy of the poster placed before me ought, in the circumstances, be decisive. I am therefore unable to find in favour of the workmen that the action taken against Sri Parimal Das Gupta had anything to do with his activities with regard to the formation of the Union. The evidence of the copy of the poster further cautions me strongly against accepting, on its face value, the evidence of Sri Parimal Das Gupta as to the nature of the action taken against him.

7. On behalf of the employers Sri Debendra Nath Chowdhury, the Manager of the Mills, was examined. He stated that on 16th February 1948 he detected a falling off in production in the Spinning Department. Sri Parimal Das Gupta was being employed as the Overseer of this Spinning Department. In so far as this under-production continued, the Manager is said to have given verbal warnings to Parimal Babu on the 17th and also on the 18th February 1948. On the 18th February the Manager is said to have made enquiries and to have come to know that Sri Parimal Das Gupta was during working hours engaging himself in raising subscriptions from the workmen and spending a lot of time in the boiler house, morning and evening, during working hours, in preparing and drinking tea in the company of some others. The Manager stated that as the verbal warnings did not improve the position he sent a written warning to Parimal Babu by a peon under a peon book. The peon was named Tilokdhari, a coolie in the Ration Department. The peon reported that Parimal Babu had refused to accept the warning notice and was angry and had abused him. According to the Manager, he called Parimal Babu to his office and explained the contents of the warning notice to him. Copy of the warning notice is Annexure A to the written statement filed on behalf of the Mills. It mentioned that collection of subscriptions in the Mills for purpose not sanctioned by the management was strictly prohibited. It directed Parimal Babu to refund the amount, if any, already collected by him. It mentioned further that Parimal Babu was spending some time every day in the boiler house during working hours. There was a direction not to do so in future. In so far as the Manager was moving on reports, he was perfectly justified in issuing the warning notice. The notice was carefully drafted and the language indicated that the Manager intended correction and not any action just then. According to the version of the Manager, Parimal Babu refused to accept the notice even though tendered by him, and abused him and also threatened him saying that he had seen many Managers like him and that he would teach him a lesson if he would go out. The Manager stated further that for his absence from work, disobedience and misconduct towards the Manager, Parimal Babu was discharged that very day, the 26th of February 1948. Parimal Babu was told about his discharge and was assured of a discharge notice in writing in confirmation of the verbal order. On the 26th February 1948 the discharge notice was said to have been issued under registered post together with a copy of the warning notice which Parimal Babu was said to have previously refused to accept. The discharge notice was received back unserved. The explanation of Parimal Babu was that he was absent from his address during the period. Thereafter the Manager reissued the discharge notice under certificate of posting. The postal receipt is Ext. A. It appears to have been correctly addressed. Therefore the presumption is that it must have reached the addressee in due course. On the 28th February 1948, the Manager informed the Labour Commissioner that the services of Sri Parimal Das Gupta had been terminated by him. Copy of the warning notice and the discharge notice were attached to the letter addressed to the Labour Commissioner. This is a contemporaneous document and is of an earlier date than the complaint made by the Jute Mill Workers' Federation to the Labour Commissioner. It cannot therefore be lightly rejected. This letter mentions the grounds exactly as now advanced for discharging Sri Parimal Das Gupta. The Manager was substantially corroborated by Tilakdhari who was said to have tendered the warning notice to Parimal Babu. Sri Khagendra Nath Bose, Time-Keeper, corroborated the Manager and Tilakdhari as to the refusal by Parimal Babu to accept the warning notice tendered to him. He also corroborated the Manager that Parimal Babu was called to the office and that there he talked haughtily with the Manager and that though the Manager cautioned him, Parimal Babu finally left saying that the Manager might do whatever he liked. Habul Adhikari, a Mistry, supported the Manager on the story that Parimal Babu was collecting subscriptions inside the Mill factory. Nur Islam, the fireman in the boiler house, supported the Manager saying that Parimal Babu and two others during working hours, in the morning and in the evening, would go to the boiler house, prepare and drink tea and engage themselves in conversation. Their stays extended from 15 to 30 minutes on each occasion. They also smoked there. It appears therefore that the Manager had correct report about Parimal Babu's activities, and his absence from work during working hours. The Manager was therefore justified in warning Parimal Babu against continuance of all these in future. Parimal Babu was very wrong in refusing to accept the notice, even when tendered by the Manager, and in treating the Manager in the manner he was said to have done. Because of the disclosure made by the contents of the copy of the poster already mentioned, I am unable to accept the oath of Parimal Babu denying the allegations as made against him by the Manager. On the other hand, the Manager has been corroborated by witnesses who are workmen in the Mills and against whom Parimal Babu had no suggestion to make. In the circumstances, I have no difficulty in accepting the version of the Manager as to the nature of the action taken against Parimal Babu and also the circumstances leading to it. I find therefore that this was a case of discharge for misconduct. This was not a case of suspension for alleged collection of subscription for the Union, nor was it a case of lock-out for alleged Trade Union activities.

8. There is nothing in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, which abrogates the normal right of the employer to discharge an employee on a proper cause. Under the civil law in a case of discharge on an improper cause the employee has no right to reinstatement though he may claim damages. Where, however, over the discharge of an employee there is an industrial dispute, the Adjudicator has wide discretion given to him by the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, to direct reinstatement in the interests of industrial peace. Industrial peace has two sides to be considered: the employers and the employees, which two together are the parties directly interested in the industry. Industrial peace with any of these parties not in the picture is an impossible conception. Therefore in exercising the discretion vested in him over such a matter, the Adjudicator must look to the interests of both the employer and the employee and must not direct reinstatement where the discharge order has been made on a proper cause. In the present case I am satisfied that the Manager had good grounds to issue the discharge order terminating the services of Sri Parimal Das Gupta. My award, therefore, is that Sri Parimal Das Gupta cannot be directed to be re-employed. In the circumstances, the point as to terms of re-employment does not arise.

ORDER.

No. 2562Lab.—28th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 599-Lab., dated the 28th February 1948, the industrial dispute between Messrs. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Delta Metal Refineries, Mahesh Mukherji Feeder Road, post office Ariadaha, 24-Parganas, and their workmen in connection with the case of Harihar Sharan and six others.

PRESENT: SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company—Sri Harانath Singha, Pleader.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 599-Lab., dated the 28th February 1948, the above dispute was referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

The case of the employees is that the Delta Engineering Works and the Delta Metal Refineries are managed by the Company and that a Union of the workers of both the above firms was formed in which office bearers were elected and that a Charter of Demands had been forwarded to the Company on 13th October 1947 whereon 2 of the office bearers were dismissed on 14th October 1947 without any ceremony of notice, pay, etc., and that on the following day, i.e., 15th October 1947 (a) Harihar Saran, (b) Kasi Singh, (c) Mukhlal Ram, (d) Garjan Singh, (e) Sree Krishen, (f) Ram Gobin and (g) Lachman were discharged and that new recruits have been made to fill up the vacancies so caused by the aforesaid victimisation. Thereupon, the Labour Commissioner had been moved and 5 of the above discharged workers (barring Kasi Singh and Harihar Saran) were recommended by the Labour Commissioner to be reinstated and the Company agreed to abide by the decision. Unfortunately, the Company wanted to impose further conditions detrimental to the interest of the workers which they resented and refused. Consequently the order of discharge was not withdrawn. The only point before this Tribunal is that the discharge of these workers amounted to unfair labour practice and that these workers ought to be reinstated. The case of the employer is that Mukhlal, Garjan Singh, Sree Krishen, Ram Gobin and Lachman were discharged by the management as they were presumably incited by Harihar Saran and Kasi Singh and absented themselves from duties for consecutive days without any notice and when any amount of persuasion failed to bring them back, the firm was compelled to discharge them and to take in new hands. So far as the cases of Narendra Mandal and Sudarsan are concerned, their case is awaiting adjudication in another Tribunal. Regarding Kasi Singh and Harihar Saran, the case of the Company is that they do not belong to Delta Metal Refineries but to Delta Engineering Works.

ISSUES.

1. Are the discharged workers employees of Delta Metal Refineries or are employees of Delta Engineering Works?
2. Were these workers discharged for being active members of the Union?
3. Were these workers discharged for misconduct?
4. Can these workers be restored?
5. Are these discharged employees entitled to emoluments and pay of the period of discharge?

Findings.

Seven discharged workers await decision of the Tribunal over discharge. At the outset on my suggestion, the Company was agreeable enough to reinstate Mukhlal Ram, Garjan Singh, Sree Krishen, Ram Gobin and Lachman. It is also clear that the Labour Commissioner had also recommended reinstatement of these 5 persons. The Company therefore did not adduce any evidence before me to show the propriety of the order of discharge of these 5 persons. The Company, however, submitted that these workers would not be entitled to any back pay for the period of discharge. Strictly speaking in law the Company is to pay the arrear wages in such cases. But in this Tribunal which is more a court of equity than of law, I allow the Company's prayer for the purpose of restoration of good feeling between the employer and the employees. A good deal of trouble and bitterness have been avoided by the Company's concession to reinstate these men and as such I make no order regarding arrear wages of these workers. My order, therefore, is that these 5 workers should be reinstated with effect from the date of publication of the award, if they had not been reinstated in the meantime. I want, however, to make it clear that these 5 workers must be allowed to draw their old scale of wages and dearness allowance.

Next, regarding Kasi Singh and Harihar Saran, no definite case has been made out in the written statement of the Company as to why these persons were discharged. The only point urged was that they belonged to Delta Engineering Works and were not employees of the Delta Metal Refineries. There is no satisfactory evidence to substantiate this contention of the Company.

At the time of trial, evidence has been adduced by the Company to show that these people were not properly attending the furnaces and burning excessive crude oil which was causing smoke to the furnace. When taken to task, these workers threatened, it is so complained, to burn the factory and as such these workers were discharged by the Proprietor. Two witnesses were examined on behalf of the Company, one of them is Pandit Jwalasankar Gaur, Works Manager. He proves nothing. Next witness is the chargeman of the factory. He alleges that these people were neglecting work for which a report had been sent to the Proprietor and that when the Proprietor took them to task, these workers threatened to burn the factory, whereupon they were discharged. The Proprietor does not come to substantiate the allegation. I must hold that the best evidence has been withheld. The charge levelled against these workers is of a serious nature and the Manager reports that all serious misconducts are noted in the register. The Manager admits however that this particular serious misconduct was not noted in the register. It is in my opinion a cock and bull story was set up by the Company to justify wrongful dismissal of these workers. In the written statement not a whisper is made about the alleged misconduct of these workers. It is well-known that the burden of proof in the case of discharge is always on the employer and in this case the Company has lamentably failed to discharge the onus. It is proved to my satisfaction that the Union had been formed on 4th October 1947 in which Kasi Singh, one of the discharged workers was elected Vice-President and Harihar Saran, another victim, was elected Assistant Secretary. The Union put forth the demands within 2 weeks and on 15th October 1947 these two persons were discharged along with five others. This, in my opinion, is a case of victimisation of the workers for their active association with the Union. It is well-known that a strong inference can be drawn and is usually drawn by the Tribunals in favour of the workers against the employer, from the fact that an employee has been discharged either immediately or shortly after the affiliation with the Union or to his election to an Union Office. (Herbert H. Lien, Labour Law Relations, p. 132.)

These two workers Kasi Singh and Harihar Saran are therefore to be forthwith reinstated in the same scale of wages. They will be entitled to arrear wages for the period of discharge.

Summary.

(1) The five workers, namely (a) Mukhlal Ram, (b) Garjan Singh, (c) Sree Krishen, (d) Ram Gobin and (e) Lachman are reinstated in the old scale of pay with effect from the date of publication in Calcutta Gazette, if not already reinstated. They will not be entitled to arrear wages.

(2) Kasi Singh and Harihar Saran are to be reinstated forthwith. They will be entitled to arrear wages for the period of discharge.

The award will come into force as already ordered in the award and will be in force from the date of publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of this Order.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. J. B. Norton and Sons, Limited, 28, Middle Road, Entally, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by J. B. Norton Mazdoor Union, 27/1, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. K. SARKAR, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Company—Sri H. N. Sanyal, Bar.-at-Law, Sri S. C. Sen, Solicitor, and Mr. J. A. Law, General Manager.

Present for the Union—Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, Advocate, and Sri Swadesh Gupta.

AWARD.

By Government order No. 880Lab., dated the 22nd March 1948, the above dispute was referred to me as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. I duly gave notice to the parties and the J. B. Norton Mazdoor Union, which will hereafter be referred to as the Union, filed written statement on 5th April 1948. On 1st May 1948 Messrs. Dutt & Sons, Solicitors for J. B. Norton and Sons, Limited, which will hereafter be referred to as the Company, filed written statement on their behalf. Issues were framed on 12th May 1948 and the case was heard on 23rd June 1948 and 25th June 1948. The hearing was delayed because Sri H. N. Sanyal was not available during the summer vacation of the High Court.

The Company is an engineering concern and also carries on business as contractors of sanitary and plumbing works. It has got a factory in which it produces certain things, for use in its sanitary and plumbing works and also for sale. The contractors' business of the Company is carried on both in and outside Bengal and even in distant places like Delhi, Simla, Mussouri, Kanpur, etc.; where it sends its workmen from Calcutta for execution of the contracts and also engages local labour. It employs about 140 men in the factory besides 48 others who are employed by the contractors engaged by the Company and for its contractors' business it employs more than 400 workers. The J. B. Norton Mazdoor Union was formed on 15th May 1946 and was registered in the same year. The Union has been recognised by the Company. After formation of the Union certain demands were submitted by it to the Company and ultimately there was a strike which was settled on 9th August 1946 by an agreement between the Management of the Company and Dr. Suresh Chandra Banerji representing the Union. I shall have occasion to refer to this agreement later on. Then on 20th September 1947 the Union again submitted certain demands to the Company which led to conciliation proceedings and these having failed, the dispute was referred to the Tribunal. The present demands of the Union will appear from the issues framed. The demands also include reinstatement of five workmen of the Company who were discharged after the submission of the demands on 20th September 1947.

DECISION.

The Union has demanded that the minimum basic pay of an unskilled worker should be fixed at Rs. 40 per month. The Company has pleaded inability to pay at such a high rate and has also raised the question of its financial difficulties. At present the minimum wage of unskilled workers is 10 annas 6 pies per day or 11 annas. Such workers are, however, not large in number and the rate at which the largest number of unskilled workers are paid is 1 anna 9 1/16 pies per hour which would be equivalent to about 14 annas per day. There are also certain unskilled workers who are paid at higher rates varying from 2 annas 3¼ pies to 2 annas 4 3/8 pies per hour equivalent to Re. 1-2-2 and Re. 1-2-11 per day. It is not clear how the Company is paying some of its workers at the rate of 10 annas 6 pies and 11 annas per day in view of the agreement between the Company and the Union of the 9th August 1946 already referred to. That agreement provided for an increase of rates for workers, both indoor and outdoor, according to the following scales:—(a) for workers getting from 1 anna 5 pies to 1 anna 8 pies per hour, the increase to be 3 pies per hour; (b) for those getting 1 anna 9 pies to 3 annas per hour, the increase to be 2½ pies per hour; (c) for those above 3 annas per hour the increase to be 2 pies per hour. According to this agreement, therefore, in August 1946 the Company had no worker who was getting less than 1 anna 5 pies per hour which is equivalent to 11 annas 4 pies per day on the basis of eight hours a day. This rate was increased by the agreement to 1 anna 8 pies per hour equivalent to 13 annas 4 pies per day. So the minimum, according to the agreement, cannot be less than 13 annas 4 pies per day and it has not been explained how the Company still continues to pay some of its unskilled workers at the rate of 10 annas 6 pies or 11 annas per day. The large majority of the unskilled workers are, however, paid at the rate of 1 anna 9 1/16 pies per hour or annas 14 per day equivalent to Rs. 22-12 per month, one month being taken to consist of 26 working days. As regards the unskilled workers who are being paid at the rate of 2 annas 3¼ pies or 2 annas 4 3/8 pies per hour, their wages come up to Rs. 29-8 and Rs. 30-12 respectively per month.

The Central Pay Commission has recommended a minimum basic wage of Rs. 30 per month for the unskilled workers. In respect of the engineering industries this minimum has been accepted and fixed by the Tribunal appointed for such industries, the award of which has been published on 3rd July 1948. As already stated, this Company is partly an engineering concern. Mr. Sanyal, representing the Company, stated that there was no objection on the part of the Company to the minimum basic pay for the unskilled workers being fixed at Rs. 30. The Union has, however, demanded that it should be fixed at Rs. 40. There is no reason why the minimum fixed by the Central Pay Commission for the unskilled workers should be further enhanced in this case. It should also be remembered that by the agreement of 9th August 1946, to which the Union was a party, the minimum wage was fixed at 1 anna 8 pies per hour or 13 annas 4 pies per day amounting to Rs. 21-10-8 per month. In consequence of this agreement, the Company's expenses for wages increased from Rs. 3,60,661 in 1946 to Rs. 5,04,208 in 1947, as would appear from the balance sheet and statement of accounts filed. The Company's profits in 1947 are also much less than in 1946. It will not therefore be possible on the part of the Company to bear a greater burden than what it has agreed to accept by agreeing to the minimum being fixed at Rs. 30 per month. I accordingly fix the minimum basic wage for unskilled workers at Rs. 30 per month or Re. 1-2-6 per day.

Issue No. 2.—Fixation of grades.

Rs. 30 being fixed as the minimum basic wage per month, it follows that the unskilled workers who are at present being paid at the rate of 10 annas 6 pies or 11 annas per day or 1 anna 9 1/16 pies per hour should be paid at the rate now fixed with effect from the date on which this award will come into operation. The workers who are being paid at the rate of 2 annas 3¼ pies per hour should also have their wages increased. It has been demanded by the Union that readjustment of pay should be made in respect of all the workers, taking into account their years of service under the Company. Grades were also demanded, and it was mentioned in the written statement that detailed statement about the gradation would be submitted at a subsequent stage. No such statement was, however, submitted and at the time of hearing the Union did not press for grades. Instead of that the Union representative pressed that a minimum should be fixed for the semi-skilled and skilled workers also and that the difference between the present minimum and the minimum which may be fixed by the Tribunal should be granted as a flat rate increment to all workers. I see no justification for the demand that a flat rate increase should be given to all categories of workers according to the difference between the existing minimum of the unskilled workers and the minimum now fixed, and I cannot agree to this. But I think that some minimum should be fixed for the semi-skilled workers as the present position is that some of the semi-skilled workers are getting even less than what the unskilled workers are getting on the wage scale of 2 annas 3¼ pies per hour. The semi-skilled workers are only 53 in number, according to the statement submitted by the Company. Their wages vary from 2 annas 1 pie to 2 annas 8⅞ pies per hour. Some of them are also paid at daily rates varying from 13 annas to 15 annas 6 pies. Since the minimum for the unskilled workers has been fixed at Rs. 30 per month or Re. 1-2-6 per day, it is obvious that the semi-skilled workers should get as the minimum something more than that. The maximum rate at which they are being paid at present amounts to 2 annas 8⅜ pies per hour or Re. 1-5-11 pies per day equivalent to Rs. 35-10 approximately per month. The Central Pay Commission fixed Rs. 35 per month as the minimum for semi-skilled workers and the same rate was accepted for the engineering industries by the Tribunal already mentioned. I think that the minimum pay for the semi-skilled workers should be fixed at Rs. 35 per month or Re. 1-5-6 per day. So all the semi-skilled workers who are now being paid at the rates varying from 2 annas 1 pie to 2 annas 7 pies per hour or from 13 annas to 15 annas 6 pies per day should get this minimum and should be paid at the rate of Re. 1-5-6 per day or Rs. 35 per month.

The Tribunal for Engineering Industries recommended in the award already referred to that between Re. 1-2-6, the minimum daily wage fixed for the unskilled worker, and Re. 1-5-6, the minimum daily wage fixed for the semi-skilled worker, two scales of daily wages at Re. 1-3-6 and Re. 1-4-6 should be introduced and that those scales should be given to more efficient unskilled workers. I think that the same scales should also be introduced by this Company. The unskilled workers of this Company who are now getting 2 annas 3¼ pies or 2 annas 4 pies or 2 annas 4⅜ pies per hour must necessarily be more efficient than those who are getting only 1 anna 9 $\frac{1}{16}$ pies or less per hour. It is only fit and proper that they should get better wages than what the general run of unskilled workers will get in consequence of the minimum being raised to Re. 1-2-6 per day. I direct therefore that those unskilled workers who are now getting 2 annas 3¼ pies per hour be given the scale of Rs. 1-3-6 per day and those who are getting 2 annas 4 pies and 2 annas 4⅜ pies per hour be given the scale of Re. 1-4-6 per day from the date on which this award will come into operation.

The skilled workers are paid at rates varying rom 2 annas 2 $\frac{15}{16}$ pies per hour to 7 annas 2 pies per hour. Since the minimum for the unskilled workers has been fixed at Re. 1-5-6 per day, the skilled workers cannot get less than that. Their present minimum amounts to Re. 1-2 pproximately per day. The minimum should be t least 3 annas per hour or Re. 1-8 per day mounting to Rs. 39 per month. So all the skilled workers who are getting less than 3 annas per hour, according to the statement submitted by the Company, should be paid the minimum of 3 annas per hour. There are various rates above 3 annas at which the skilled workers are being paid by the Company and the maximum is 7 annas 2 pies per hour. I do not see any necessity of granting any ncrease to the skilled workers who are getting more than 3 annas per hour. Since the Company is actually paying the skilled workers at various higher rates, it may be left to the Company to decide at what rate above 3 annas a particular skilled worker should be paid.

The Union complained about the hourly rate of wages and demanded that the workers should be paid at monthly rates. The Company's point of view is that hourly rates operate as a check on absenteeism and as a means of ensuring that the workers will attend in time as non-attendance or late attendance would mean loss in wage. Still I am bound to remark that the wages should be calculated not on hourly basis but on daily basis. The result of fixing rates of wages on hourly basis has been rather grotesque because the Company has had to take the help of fractions of pies, as would appear from their statement and from what has been stated above. I therefore direct that the minimum wages fixed by me should be calculated on daily basis and not on hourly basis and that other wages above the minimum should also be calculated by the Company on daily basis and not on hourly basis, as is done at present. All hourly rates should be converted into daily rates and fractions of pies should be ignored. If any wage has to be deducted for late attendance or non-attendance, that can be done easily by converting the daily rates into hourly rates for that purpose. It has also been complained by the Union that the result of calculation of wages on hourly basis has been that a worker frequently does not get full employment for a day, i.e., for eight hours, and, thereby, loses his full daily wages. It is said that after a few hours' work he is told that he has got no further work to do and in consequence he earns less than a day's wages. The Company has, however, undertaken to provide full day's wages to a worker who is prepared to work full time. No worker should be prevented by the Company from working full time and thereby earning a full day's wages. He should not be turned out after a few hours' work or given insufficient employment. If he attends the factory in time and works or is prepared to work for the whole day, he should not be prevented from earning the day's wages. I think that the fixation of wages on daily basis will prevent what the Union representatives complained about. I see no justification for the claim that the wages should be paid on a monthly basis. Such a claim was rejected by the Tribunal for Engineering Industries. In industrial establishments wages are generally calculated on daily basis and paid weekly. I find no reason to depart from this system.

The minimum wages fixed above should be paid to all workers recruited by the Company, whether for work in its factory or in the town of Calcutta or outside, provided that they are recruited within the province of West Bengal. The minimum wage scales will apply to all workers sent outside from the Company's Head Office for execution of plumbing contracts but will not apply to workers locally recruited outside the province of West Bengal for work to be done outside. The Compan's sweepers and bearers should also get the minimum wages of an unskilled worker. I find from the statement submitted by the Company that an office bearer is paid at the rate of 1 anna 9 $\frac{1}{16}$ pies per hour and that the methods or sweepers are paid at the rate of Rs. 20 per month. The office bearer should be paid the minimum of Rs. 30 on a monthly basis just like durwans and sweepers. Durwans are paid at the rate of Rs. 37 and so there is no need to make any change in their case.

Dearness allowance, as fixed by the agreement of 9th August 1946 between the Company and the Union, is Rs. 22 per month for all workers and the Company is paying at this rate to all its workers, whether outdoor or indoor, excepting the durwans who are paid dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 12 per month. By the same agreement, the Company undertook to supply rations at Government controlled rates to all its workers deducting the prices of rations so supplied from their wages. This is also being done and the statement filed shows the deductions on account of rations supplied. The Union has demanded that dearness allowance should be paid at Rs. 40 per month as the minimum or at 60 per cent. of the basic pay, if that be higher. It is pointed out that the Bengal Chamber of Commerce has recommended payment of dearness allowance at this rate and that in some of the Tribunals this rate has been accepted. But the present Company is not a member of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. As already stated, the Company has pleaded financial difficulties and as will be found from the financial statements filed by the Company, its profits in 1947 has been much less than in 1946. The balance sheet for 1947 has not yet been signed by the Directors, but from the financial statement it is clear that the profits have diminished. Taking into account the financial difficulties of the Company, I do not think that it will be possible to fix the dearness allowance at more than the minimum recommended by the Central Pay Commission, viz., Rs. 25 per month. It is true that there has been a further rise in the cost of living index since the publication of the report of the Central Pay Commission, but the Company's capacity to pay should also be considered and in view of the present financial position of the Company, only the minimum recommended by the Central Pay Commission can be granted to the workers for the present. This minimum has also been fixed for the engineering industries by the Tribunal appointed for those industries. I accordingly fix dearness allowance at Rs. 25 per month for all categories of workers including the durwans, who, I find from the statement, are getting now only Rs. 12 per month. The Company should pay all its workers dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 25 per month from the date from which the award will come into operation.

The Union has demanded a City allowance for the workers at the rate of Rs. 10 per month for the additional expenses that the workers have to incur in consequence of living in the city of Calcutta. I am not, however, prepared to accede to this demand in the present financial position of the Company. The demand is rejected. Special allowance has been claimed at the rate of 25 per cent. for the Foundry workers on the ground that their work is hazardous and dangerous to their health. There is, however, nothing to show that such work is risky or dangerous and I find no justification for any special allowance for such workers. Finally, the Union has demanded that the workers having outdoor work to do should be paid the charges of conveyance, food and tiffin. Actually the outdoor workers, who are sent outside the town of Calcutta for execution of plumbing contracts, get daily allowances at the rate of 4 annas for unskilled workers and 6 annas for skilled workers and the workers who are sent out to work inside the town of Calcutta are paid actual tram or bus fares. The Union demanded a daily allowance of Rs. 2 for workers sent outside Calcutta and a tiffin allowance of 8 annas for outdoor workers working within the town of Calcutta. I do not think that any allowance is necessary for outdoor workers working within the town of Calcutta, and it is sufficient that they are paid actual tram or bus fares for going to their places of work. I find no justification for claiming tiffin allowance for such workers. This claim is therefore rejected. As regards workers who are sent outside Calcutta, the Company not only pays them daily allowances, as mentioned above, but also pays house rent and cost of utensils for cooking their meals there. I think, however, that the rates of daily allowance should be increased somewhat and it should be 6 annas for unskilled workers and 8 annas for skilled workers. I direct accordingly that the workers sent outside Calcutta for execution of plumbing contracts should get daily allowance at the rate of 6 annas for unskilled workers and 8 annas for skilled workers, apart from the amenities they are getting in the shape of house rent and cost o utensils.

Issue No. 5.—Bonus.

The Union has demanded as annual bonus three months' basic pay or 25 per cent. of the gross profit, whichever is higher. The agreement of 9th August 1946 provided that bonus calculated at 15 days' basic pay should be paid to all workers by 30th August 1946 for the year 1946. This was paid. In 1947 also the Company decided to grant a bonus of 15 days' basic pay to all its workers but this did not satisfy them and, according to the Company's statement, the workshop Manager was confined within the workshop by the workers and the Company was thereupon forced to grant a bonus of one month's basic pay to the workers. In the present year the Company pleads inability to pay any bonus on account of reduced profits. It has further been pleaded by the Company that since the wage bill will be increased by the award of this Tribunal, it will not be possible for it to pay bonus in the present year. Though by the agreement of 9th August 1946 the Company undertook to give bonus for that year, it does not mean that the Company undertook to pay bonus every year, irrespective of the question whether it has made a profit or not. The demand made by the Union that the Company should set apart a fixed percentage of its gross profits for distribution as bonus cannot be entertained. As was observed by the Engineering Industries Tribunal in its award already referred to, the question of profit sharing raises a matter of principle which is for the Government to decide in consultation with the representatives of Capital and Labour. The Government of India have recently appointed an Expert Committee for investigating the question In these circumstances, it will be too much for a Tribunal to attempt to lay down any principle of profit-sharing and obviously it is not possible for a Tribunal to consider all aspects of the question and come to a decision on the matter. Taking into account the state of profits of the Company in the present year and the increase in the wage bill in consequence of this award, I cannot force the Company to pay any bonus for the present. In the future, however, I leave it to the Company to decide whether it can pay any bonus according to the profits made.

Issue No. 6.—Retirement benefits.

The claim of the Union for pension for the workers should be rejected at once as unreasonable. This Company, as already stated, is not a purely industrial concern but does contract business and pension is specially inappropriate for such a concern. As regards the claim for Provident Fund, the Company has stated that it is prepared to start a Provident Fund scheme if all the workers join the same. The Company should therefore start a Provident Fund scheme as soon as possible in the course of the present year and allow all its permanent workers to join the same. The Union demands that the Provident Fund contribution should be fixed at 12½ per cent. The Company, however, wants to fix it at 6¼ per cent. In my opinion the contribution both of the workers and of the Company should be fixed at 6¼ per cent. The Union has further demanded that the Company should provide gratuity to the workers on termination of service at the rate of one month's pay for each year of service and that in case of death of a worker the gratuity should be given to his heirs or dependants. The Company has objected to the demand for gratuity on the ground that its main business being execution of plumbing contracts, it has not got such a stable financial position as to be able to pay gratuity. The Engineering Industries Tribunal decided that the workers are entitled to claim only one kind of retiring benefit and left it to the engineering concerns to choose which kind of retiring benefit they will adopt. Since the present Company has agreed to adopt the Provident Fund scheme, it should not be forced to adopt a gratuity scheme also. I, therefore, reject the claim for gratuity.

Issue No. 7.—Leave.

The present position regarding holidays and leave is that the Company grants 13 days' festival holidays in a year and 15 days' leave with pay to workers who have completed one year's service. This is the result of the agreement between the Union and the Company on 9th August 1946. The Union demands privilege leave for a month, casual leave for 15 days and sick leave for one month with full pay and thereafter on half pay. As regards festival holidays, the Union has demanded two more days making a total of 15 days. I think that 13 days' festival holidays are sufficient and that there should not be any addition to the list. These holidays, so far as the factory workers are concerned, include 10 days' holidays allowed under the Factories Act and I understand that the factory is kept closed for a period of 10 days during the Pujas. Fifteen days' privilege leave, which is being granted by the Company to all its workers with one year's service on full pay and allowance, is, in my opinion, sufficient and I do not see any justification for the claim for one month's privilege leave or 15 days' casual leave. The said claims are therefore rejected. As regards sick leave, the Company objected to it in view of the provision made for the sickness of the workers by the Employees' State Insurance Act. The Tribunal for Engineering Industries, however, provided for sick leave on half pay for 15 days in a year and I direct that the same provision be made by the Company for its workers for the present until the above Act comes into operation. Such leave will be granted to a worker who is genuinely sick, on production of medical certificate from the Medical Officer of the Company or any other registered medical practitioner. The leave will be available to both factory workers and outdoor workers of the Company. Both the privilege leave and the sick leave should be allowed to accumulate for two years.

Issue No. 8.—Working hours and overtime.

The Union has demanded that the working hours should be 40 hours a week for all workers excepting the Foundry workers, for whom the working hours should be 30 hours only. There is, however, no justification for reduction of hours of work from what has been fixed by the Factories Act, and I am unable to accede to the demand of the Union. As regards overtime, I understand that the Company is already paying overtime at the double rate as under the Factories Act and that overtime at the same rate is also paid to outdoor workers.

Issue No. 9.—Free uniforms.

The Union has demanded free uniforms for every worker. At present only the durwans get uniforms. I see little justification for the claim for free uniforms for all workers. The claim is therefore rejected.

Issue No. 10.—Quarters or house rent allowance.

The Union has demanded free quarters or in the alternative house rent allowance at 15 per cent. of the pay. The Company does not provide accommodation to any of its workers except durwans. As already stated, it is not wholly an industrial concern but also does contract business. It is not therefore possible for it to provide accommodation to its workers. The Company has contended that the workers are not entitled to claim any house rent allowance since house rent must be deemed to be included in the basic wages fixed and has also pleaded inability to pay any house rent allowance on account of its financial position. In the circumstances I cannot accede to the demand for house rent allowance, and it is rejected. The Union also demanded that the Company should provide family quarters for durwans who, as already stated, are provided with quarters. I see no justification for this claim, which is rejected.

Issue No. 11.—Medical facilities.

The Company has provided a doctor who attends the factory in the morning and examines the sick workers. The Union representatives state that he comes twice a week. The doctor, however, lives very near to the factory and the Company's representatives say that the doctor is available at any time every day on call. If anybody is sick, he has only to inform the Manager who will send for the doctor. Considering the small number of workers in the factory, I think that this arrangement is sufficient. There is no dispensary within the factory and the Union demands that a dispensary should be set up and that free supply of medicines and medical diet should be allowed to the workers. These demands are hardly reasonable. It is not possible to direct the Company to set up a dispensary within the factory in view of the small number of workers employed in the factory, the total being about 188, some of whom are contractors' men. Nor is it possible to saddle the Company with the liability to supply medicines and diet free of cost to the workers. This claim should therefore be rejected.

Issue No. 12.—Recreation facilities and facilities for education of children.

The demand for facilities for education of children of workers is altogether unreasonable and should be rejected. As regards recreation facilities, it is demanded that the Company should provide accommodation to the factory workers for rest and recreation during the tiffin period and before and after working hours and equip the same with radio, library and indoor game arrangements. The Company's representatives state that there is no accommodation within the factory for such a recreation centre. However, the Company has undertaken to investigate the position further and to see if any accommodation can be provided for a rest room and a canteen. In the circumstances the matter may be left to the Company.

Issue No. 13.—Canteen.

The Company has not got any canteen for its factory workers and has pleaded inability to provide a canteen for want of accommodation. However, at the time of hearing the Company's representatives agreed to investigate the position further. I would recommend that the Company should provide a canteen, if possible, but I do not want to make any binding award on the point as the number of workers in the factory is small.

Issue No. 14.—Co-operative society and store.

This issue was not pressed and the Company has stated that it is prepared to consider any scheme for a co-operative store which the workers may choose to put up.

Issue No. 15.—Conditions of service.

(i) Probationary period.

The Company has two classes of workers, namely, permanent and temporary workers. Some of these temporary workers have been temporary for years. The Company has stated that since it carries on business as plumbing contractors, it has got to recruit a temporary labour force as and when necessary. When there is heavy pressure of work the Company recruits extra labour on temporary basis and when the pressure comes down, labourers who are found to be in excess are discharged. The Company has further stated that it recognises that in these circumstances security of service in the strict sense is not possible, and in order to meet the situation the Company has proposed to transfer the temporary workmen to th permanent list after about three years of service The Company has filed extracts from a letter sen to the Labour Commissioner, Bengal, on the 26t July 1945. It is stated in this letter that th labour staff of the Company was then very muc in excess of its normal requirements and that it was impossible to guarantee everybody continuous employment. The Company proposed in this letter to prepare a list of men employed by it in the year 1939 and to transfer them to the category of permanent workers. It also undertook to fill up the vacancies in that list by the temporary workers already in its employment. It has been explained that the year 1939 was chosen because it was a normal year, after which the contract business of the Company increased to a great extent on account of the war and additional temporary staff had to be recruited to cope with the work. Temporary workers had also to be taken in the factory in order to produce materials for plumbing contracts. The situation after 1939 was, according to the Company, abnormal on account of the outbreak of the war. It is stated by the Company that after the conclusion of the war the business is on the downward grade and so the temporary staff recruited after 1939 has little chance of all being made permanent. The list of the permanent workers of the Company, according to the position in 1939, has been filed. But though the total, according to the classified figures submitted by the Company, ought to be 448, the names mentioned in the list do not reach that total. It is also pointed out by the Union representatives that some of the workers in the list are dead.

The Union has demanded that all these temporary workers should be made permanent, if they have put in three months' service. As already stated, the Company proposed in the written statement to transfer the temporary workers who have put in three years' service to the permanent list. At the time of hearing the Company further agreed to transfer to the permanent list about 50 per cent. of the temporary staff who have been longest in the service of the Company. Since the Company has to do contract work and there is no certainty about the volume of such work which the Company may have to undertake in a particular year, it is quite obvious that the Company will have to recruit temporary workers from time to time and it will be too much to ask the Company to make all these temporary workers permanent after they have been in the service of the Company for three months or some such period. The Union also does not claim that every one of these temporary workers should be made permanent after a certain time. The Union, however, suggests that if temporary workers are recruited, they should be recruited for a particular temporary job which is not expected to take more than three months or some such short period to be finished. The Company filed a copy of the draft standing orders which it proposes to adopt according to the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act of 1946. In this draft a permanent workman has been defined as one whose name has been entered as such on the Company's records in the permanent list and who has been duly notified accordingly by the Manager, and a temporary workman has been defined as one whose employment is of an essentially temporary character. Later on an alternative definition of permanent workmen was proposed which is to the effect that all workers who have been in the employment of the Company between January and December 1939 are to be classed as permanent workers. Neither of these definitions is satisfactory. There must be some definite rule and method for making the workers permanent, and it would not do to say merely that the workers who are in the service of the Company from 1939 or are in the permanent list are to be deemed permanent workers. This would give no security of service to the large number of workers whom the Company might have engaged after 1939 and who might be in the service of the Company since then for a period of more than eight years. The exact strength of the temporary workers is not ascertainable, as the list filed by the Company of the permanent workers is defective and the total therein does not agree with the total figure of the permanent workers filed along with the list. Roughly, however, I am told that the number of temporary workers is about 200 and that is certainly a large number. The Company has, as already stated, agreed to transfer to the permanent list 50 per cent. of these workers, according to their length of service, and I direct that this be done immediately. As regards the remaining temporary workers, I think that those who have put in one year's service under the Company should be made permanent in the course of six months from the date of this award, and I direct accordingly. I would also propose a change in the definition of the temporary worker. A temporary worker should be defined one who has been recruited for a work which is essentially of a temporary character and which is not expected to last for more than one year. In view of the nature of the contract business which the Company carries on, I do not think that it will be right to prescribe a period of less than one year for the completion of a job for which a temporary worker may be engaged. I cannot agree to the period of three months suggested by the Union. A temporary worker who has completed one year of service under the Company should be classed as a permanent worker and subject to this the definition of permanent workman in the Draft Standing Orders may be retained.

The Draft Standing Orders of the Company contains another category of workers, viz., apprentice, who is defined as a learner appointed as such by the Manager. It is also provided that he is to be paid a nominal wage during the period of his training. In the subsequently proposed amendment of the Standing Orders this category of workers was described as probationer and it was provided that a worker recruited as a probationer would, on completion of apprenticeship for 12 months to the satisfaction of the Manager, be classed as a permanent worker. Though the word "probationer" has been used in the proposed amendment, the Company really means by "probationer" an apprentice who will have to take training for a period of one year and will thereafter be classed as a permanent worker. It is not therefore possible to accede to the demand of the Union that a probationer should be made permanent after three months' service because these probationers will really be apprentices and a training period of 12 months for an apprentice is quite reasonable.

(ii) Rules for dismissal, discharge and retrenchment.

The Draft Standing Orders provide in rule 18 that the employment of any worker may be terminated on either side by 24 hours' notice or one day's wages in lieu of notice. In the agreement of 9th August 1946 between the Company and the Union, however, it is provided that the Management will avoid retrenchment as far as possible but that if any retrenchment becomes necessary, the newer hands will be retrenched first as far as possible and that one month's notice will be given to the workers on the permanent list and 15 days' notice to the temporary and newly recruited workers. The Company is now prepared to adopt this provision in the Standing Orders. Certainly, the termination of employment of any worker, whether on the ground of retrenchment or otherwise, on 24 hours' notice is most inequitable. I direct, therefore, that in the event of retrenchment or discharge of workers, otherwise than for a major misdemeanour, one month's notice will be given to the workers on the permanent list and 15 days' notice to the temporary and newly recruited workers. I further direct that in the event of retrenchment the newer hands will be retrenched first as far as possible. The Union also demanded that retrenched hands should have the priority of claim in the event of any vacancy happening after retrenchment and that the Union should be consulted in all matters relating to retrenchment and subsequent appointment. While I cannot accede to the Union's demand that it should be consulted in all matters relating to retrenchment, I would recommend that the Company should, as far as possible, inform the Union before any retrenchment is made. The other demand of the Union that retrenched hands should be given preference in cases of fresh appointment after retrenchment is quite reasonable and I would recommend that the Company should give them such preference, other things being equal. As regards dismissal for major misdemeanours, the provision in the Draft Standing Order is quite adequate. The Union demanded that before being dismissed a worker should have sufficient opportunity to defend himself, either personally or through the Union. The Draft Standing Orders provide that no worker should be dismissed without being given an opportunity to explain the circumstances alleged against him. I would only add that this he will be permitted to do either by himself or through any other person or an office bearer of the Union.

(iii) The Union demands that all vacancies should be filled up as far as possible by promotion from the existing staff, unless circumstances warrant otherwise. I would also direct that the Company should, as far as possible, fill up the vacancies by promotion from the existing staff. Of course, such promotion will be on the basis of efficiency and seniority and suitability for the post to be filled up.

(iv) Abolition of contract labour.

According to the statement of the Company, there are about 48 workmen in this factory who are employed by contractors. This contract system is confined to the Moulding Department of the Foundry. The Company generally entrusts the work to one of its workmen and he gets it done through his own men who are paid according to the piece-rate system. The Company has stated that it has got no control over these workmen, but the Company agreed with the Union on 9th August 1946 to increase the wages of the Foundry workers working under contractors on the same scale as was provided in the agreement for regular workers of the Company. The Company also pays dearness allowance to those workers. Thus the Company has some control over the wages and allowances of the workmen engaged by the contractors. The Union demanded that the contract labour system should be wholly abolished. After some discussion the Company's representatives stated that there was no objection to abolition of the contract labour system and undertook to abolish it after the expiry of the existing contracts. I would therefore direct that the Company should abolish the contract labour system in its factory immediately on the expiry of the existing contracts, or as early as possible. The Union demanded a time limit of three months. It is not, however, possible to fix an exact time limit, but I am told by the Company's representatives that it is not likely to take more than three months.

(v) Standing Orders.

I have already indicated some of the changes which should be made in the Draft Standing Orders which the Company has filed and which it proposes to adopt and get certified under the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act of 1946. Some other changes are also necessary in view of the provisions made in this award. The first change is about the definition of a temporary workman who should be defined as one who has been recruited for a work which is essentially of a temporary character and which is not expected to last for more than one year. A temporary workman who has completed one year of service under the Company should be classed as a permanent workman. The next change is about the apprentice. The words "or probationer" should be added after the word "apprentice" and it should be provided after the definition that an apprentice or probationer will, on completion of his period of apprenticeship of twelve months, to the satisfaction of the Manager, be appointed as a permanent workman. In rule 10 of the Draft Standing Orders it is provided that casual leave without pay for sickness, etc., will be granted to a worker.....:..................................subject to a minimum of seven days' absence.

Since sick leave with half pay for a period of 15 days has been provided by this award, the word "sickness" should be removed from this paragraph. In rule 10(a) it is provided that the Company shall have the right to fix the period as to when a worker may be allowed to take his leave. To this an exception should be provided that in case of urgent necessity a worker should be granted leave at the time applied for. In rule 14 at page 7 of the Draft Standing Orders the words "either by himself or any other person or an office bearer of the Union" should be added after the words "alleged against him". Rule 18 should be amended as follows: "Except in the case of a major misdemeanour (vide rule 14), the employment of a permanent workman may be terminated by one month's notice or by payment of one month's wages in lieu of notice and that of a temporary workman by 15 days' notice or by payment of 15 days' wages in lieu of notice. When retrenchment becomes necessary the newer hands will be retrenched first as far as possible". Subject to the above amendments the Company should adopt the Draft Standing Orders and have them certified as early as possible.

Issue No. 16.—Reinstatement of five discharged workers.

The Union demanded reinstatement of five workers, namely, (1) Ratnakar, (2) Damu, (3) Pitambar, (4) Kistoo and (5) Biswanath.

So far as Pitambar, Kistoo and Biswanath are concerned, it appears that they were discharged in March 1948 for want of work, i.e., by way of retrenchment. They belonged to the temporary staff. It is not stated by the Company that they were given any notice or paid any wages in lieu of notice in terms of the agreement with the Union of 9th August 1948. The Company has undertaken to pay them 15 days' wages and has further agreed to re-employ them as soon as work is available for them. I am also told that work is likely to be available for them within one month and that they will be re-employed within that period from the date of the award. The Union has also agreed to this offer of the Company. It is accordingly directed that the three workers Pitambar, Kistoo and Biswanath be paid 15 days' wages and be re-employed as soon as work is available for them within a period of one month from the date of this award. As regards the other two workers Ratnakar and Damu, the Union representatives state that for the sake of industrial peace the Union has decided not to press the demand for their reinstatement but to settle their cases amicably with the Company. In view of this statement, no order is called for in respect of the two workers Ratnakar and Damu. I congratulate both the Company and the Union on the happy agreement they have arrived at regarding the cases of Pitambar, Kistoo and Biswanath and I also congratulate the Union for not pressing the cases of Ratnakar and Damu before the Tribunal and for agreeing to negotiate their cases amicably with the Company. I would only wish that the spirit of goodwill shown on both sides regarding the question of reinstatement would endure and that the Company and the Union will co-operate in all matters for the general welfare of the Company and its workers.

Calcutta, the 21st November 1947.

There are two varieties of cotton grown in this part of the country, viz., the early and the late. The early variety is chiefly grown in the Tripura State and to a small extent in other districts. The late variety is grown in small areas in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the season.—The weather and its effect on the growth and cultivation of the crop have been favourable in Tripura State and in the district of Nadia. The weather was not so favourable in the districts of Bankura and Midnapore where cotton is grown to a small extent. The present condition of the crop may be regarded as fair.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

THE WEST BENGAL CEMENT CONTROL ORDINANCE, 1948.

WHEREAS the Governor of West Bengal is satisfied that it is urgently necessary in the public interest to confer powers to control the production, supply and distribution of, and trade and commerce in, cement in West Bengal and that immediate action should be taken for this purpose;

AND WHEREAS the West Bengal Legislature is not in session;

The Governor of West Bengal is pleased in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) of section 88 of the Government of India Act, 1935, to make and promulgate the following Ordinance, namely:—

26 Geo. V, c. 2.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Ordinance may be called the West Bengal Cement Control Ordinance, 1948.

(2) It extends to the whole of West Bengal.

Definition.

2. In this Ordinance, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "cement" includes portland cement, any other cementitious product manufactured by intergrinding or intermixing portland cement as defined in the British Standard Specifications of 1940, with any active or inert material, white and coloured cements, high aluminia cements, and any product manufactured by direct mixing of some or all oxides constituting normal portland cement.

Power to control production, supply, distribution, etc., of cement.

3. (1) The Provincial Government, so far as it appears to it to be necessary or expedient for maintaining or increasing the supply of cement or for securing its equitable distribution and availability at fair prices, may, by order, in the Official Gazette, provide for regulating or prohibiting the production, supply and distribution thereof and trade and commerce therein within West Bengal.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by sub-section (1), an order made thereunder may provide—

(a) for regulating by licenses, permits or otherwise the production or manufacture of cement;

(b) for regulating or controlling the prices at which cement may be purchased or sold and for prescribing the conditions of sale thereof;

The West Bengal Cement Control Ordinance, 1948.

(Sections 4—8.)

(c) for regulating by licenses, permits or otherwise the storage, transport, movement, possession, distribution, disposal, acquisition, use or consumption of cement;

(d) for prohibiting the withholding from sale of cement ordinarily kept for sale;

(e) for requiring any person holding stock of cement to sell the whole or specified part of the stock at such prices and to such persons or classes of persons or in such circumstances, as may be specified in the order;

(f) for collecting any information or statistics with a view to regulating or prohibiting any of the aforesaid matters;

(g) for requiring persons engaged in the production, supply or distribution of, or trade or commerce in, cement to maintain and produce for inspection such books, accounts and records relating to their business and to furnish such information relating thereto, as may be specified in the order; and

(h) for any incidental and supplementary matters, including in particular the entering and search of premises, vehicles, vessels and aircraft, the seizure by a person authorised to make such search of cement in respect of which such person has reason to believe that a contravention of the order has been, is being or is about to be committed, the grant or issue of licenses, permits or other documents, and the charging of fees therefor.

(3) When any cement is seized under the authority of any order made under sub-section (1), the person seizing the cement shall make a report of such seizure to a Magistrate who may give such directions as to its temporary custody as he thinks fit, so, however, that where no prosecution is instituted for contravention of the order in respect of the cement seized within a period in his opinion reasonable, the Magistrate shall direct its return to the person from whom it was seized; and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, so far as they may be applicable, apply to any search or seizure under any such order as they apply to any search or seizure under Chapter VII of that Code. Act V of 1898.

Delegation of powers. 4. The Provincial Government may, by order, in the Official Gazette, direct that the power to make orders under section 3 shall, in relation to such matters and subject to such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the direction, be exercisable also by such Officer or authority subordinate to the Provincial Government as may be specified in the direction.

Effect of orders inconsistent with other enactments. 5. Any order made under section 3 shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Ordinance or any instrument having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Ordinance.

Penalties. 6. If any person contravenes any order made under section 3, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or with fine or with both, and, if the order so provides, any Court, trying such contravention, may direct that any property in respect of which the Court is satisfied that the order has been contravened shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

Attempts and abetments. 7. Any person who attempts to contravene, or abets a contravention of, any order made under section 3 shall be deemed to have contravened that order.

Offences by Corporation. 8. If the person contravening an order made under section 3 is a company or other body corporate, every director, manager, secretary or other officer or agent thereof shall, unless he proves that the contravention took place

PRESENT: SRI P. K. SARKAR, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the employers—Sri M. N. Singh.

Present for the Workers' Union—Sri Taradas Bhattacharyya, Secretary.

Award.

By Government order No. 1328Lab., dated the 28th April 1948, this industrial dispute was referred to me for adjudication as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. Written statements were filed by the parties and issues were framed on 24th June 1948. The case was fixed for hearing on 6th July 1948 when both the parties filed a statement embodying an agreement between the Sun Engineering Works and Sri Taradas Bhattacharyya, Secretary of the Union, and some of the workers. By this agreement the minimum basic pay for unskilled workers has been fixed at 14 annas per day for male workers and 12 annas per day for female workers. The pay of the Darwans has been fixed at Rs. 26 per month and that of the only clerk at Rs. 55 per month. The unskilled workers' dearness allowance has been fixed at 15 annas per day and the dearness allowance of the monthly rated workers has been fixed at Rs 25 per month. So far as the wages of the semi-skilled and skilled workers are concerned, it has been agreed that they will remain as at present. Seven days' sick leave with pay has been provided in case of illness and four festival holidays in a year have also been provided. It has been agreed that a worker will be confirmed after a probationary period of one year, provided that his work is satisfactory and that in case of retrenchment or dismissal, the monthly rated workers will get one month's notice or compensation in lieu thereof and the daily rated workers will get seven days' notice or compensation in lieu thereof. It has also been agreed that the workers will get 12 days' pay for the period of involuntary unemployment lasting from 10th March 1948 to 19th April 1948. The Company has no objection to recognise the Union if the Union is duly registered and if the majority of the workers support the Union. The Company will also keep a complete first-aid set in the factory for the benefit of the workers. Other questions raised in the issues have been left open for the present, according to the agreement. Finally it has been provided that the agreement will take effect from 12th July 1948.

I congratulate both the Company and the Union on the happy settlement of the dispute between them and I propose to make an award in terms of the agreement, a copy of which is set out as an annexure to this award and it will form part of the award. The award will take effect from 12th July 1948 as provided in the agreement.

In conclusion I hope that the spirit of goodwill shown by the parties in coming to this agreement will endure and that the Company will recognise the Union and both will work in co-operation for their common good.

Dictated and corrected by me.

P. K. SARKAR,

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

The 14th July 1948.

ANNEXURE.

Before Sri P. K. Sarkar, Tribunal, Industrial Disputes Act.

In the matter of industrial dispute between Messrs. Sun Engineering Works, 8/1, Station Road, Lillooah, and their workers.

The above dispute has been settled between the parties concerned and the following terms and conditions are submitted herewith for confirmation.

(1) Minimum basic pay for unskilled workers and clerk.

(a) There are both male and female unskilled workers in the Company and as settled the male workers will get annas 14 per day and female workers will get annas 12 per day as their basic pay.

(b) There is only one clerk named Mr. S. N. Biswas and his pay has been settled at Rs. 55 per month.

(c) Also there are Darwans and one sweeper, a part-time worker. The Darwans will get Rs. 26 per month plus dearness allowance and the sweeper Rs. 5 per month and no dearness allowance.

(2) Dearness allowance.

All the daily unskilled workers will get annas 15 as dearness allowance and all monthly workers will get Rs. 25 per month as dearness allowance above their pay.

(3) Leave.

(a) Sick leave.—In case of illness the worker concerned will get 7 days' leave with pay on production of Doctor's certificate in a year.

(b) Festival leave.—All the workers will get four festival holidays in a year, i.e., one day during Holi, one day during Saraswati Puja, one day during Biswakarma Puja and one day during Kali Puja.

(4) Medical arrangements.

There will be kept a complete first-aid set in the works for the benefit of workers.

(5) Abolition of contract system.

There is various difficulty in abolition of contract system and it will be very difficult to manage work more economically without contract system, so this system will remain as at present and the contractors will receive payment according to their work.

(6) Compensation for involuntary unemployment.

The factory was closed from 10th March 1948 to 19th April 1948 for want of hard coke and though there was no responsibility on part of Company for this, to keep the good feelings as existed between workers and management intact, the Company is ready to pay the workers 12 days' pay as a special case and the workers are agreed to this.

(7) Recognition of Union.

The Company has no objection if majority of the workers support the Union and the Union is duly registered. On receipt of such information and full list of office bearers the Company will consider the same.

(8) The financial condition of the Company is not good and the Company is not getting sufficient quantity of hard coke and pig iron for smooth running of the factory. Also a very large quantity of finished materials have been accumulated at present and there is no sale at all for the present; so other points will be left for the present.

(9) The pay of semi-skilled and skilled workers will remain same as at present.

(10) Length of probationary period.

The worker will be confirmed after a probationary period of one year provided that his work is found to be satisfactory during that period.

(11) Dismissal or retrenchment and compensation.

In case of dismissal or retrenchment, the monthly paid workers will get one month's notice or compensation in lieu thereof and daily rate workers will get seven days' notice or compensation in lieu thereof.

(12) This settlement will take effect from 12th July 1948.

Signed and confirmed for and on behalf of workers—

(1) Sailendra Nath Biswas.

(2) Chandra Shekhar Mandal (in Bengali).

(3) Bikram Chandra Mahiti (in Bengali).

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Halder, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Halder, I.C.S., shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Nandan Bagan Flour Mills, and All Bengal Flour Mills Workers' Union.

PRESENT: SRI S. K. HALDER, I.C.S.

For the Union—Sri Birendra Nath Das.

By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 2199Lab., dated 2nd July 1948, the above dispute was referred to me for adjudication.

Award.

Heard learned Advocate for the Employer Company and also Bhaskar Behara, one of the two discharged employees, the other being absent on call. Bhaskar Behara files a petition praying for withdrawal of this case on the ground that the matter has been amicably settled. This Tribunal is very glad to hear this. Bhaskar Behara is permitted to withdraw that part of the case which relates to him.

So far as Madhu Gayen, the other discharged worker is concerned, I have carefully gone through the records and heard the argument of the learned Advocate for the Employer Company, and I consider for the following reasons that this Tribunal has no jurisdiction to entertain this matter at all. I shall briefly summarise my reasons.

Under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, no employer shall discharge any employee during the pendency of a proceeding before a Tribunal, except for misconduct not connected with the dispute. The written statement filed on behalf of the Employer Company shows (and this is not controverted anywhere by the worker) that the discharge of the two workers including Madhu Gayen was in connection with some other misconduct not connected with the dispute. Hence section 33 is no bar to the discharge.

Even assuming that section 33 does apply in the present case, the remedy of the discharged worker under the law is under section 34 to move the Appropriate Government for making a complaint under that section against the Employer Company. That being so, this Tribunal does not seem to have any jurisdiction in the matter. The question whether this Tribunal has jurisdiction to reinstate a discharged worker, discharged wrongfully, need not be gone into, because no one says that the discharge was wrongful. The worker Madhu Gayen is absent and the statement of the Employer Company that he was rightly discharged for a misconduct unconnected with the dispute is not controverted.

The prayer for reinstatement is rejected.

Mrityunjoy Manna, 10, Ghosh Lane, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri S. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified herein.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of the industrial dispute between Messrs. Siddeswar Sen Deo (Merchants), Limited, 33, Canning Street, Calcutta, and their workmen in connection with the case of Sri Hrishikesh Swain, one of the employees, c/o Sj. Mrityunjoy Manna, 10, Ghosh Lane, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI S. C. CHAKRABORTY, Chairman, Tribunal.

Acting under the provisions of sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, Government of West Bengal, by an order No. 1873Lab., dated the 8th June 1948, constituted a Tribunal with me to adjudicate on the industrial dispute between Messrs. Siddeswar Sen Deo (Merchants), Limited, 33, Canning Street, Calcutta, and their workmen in connection with the case of Sri Hrishikesh Swain.

Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, Pleader, appeared for the workman Sri Hrishikesh Swain, and Sri Paresh Nath Sen, the Managing Director, himself conducted the case for the Company.

Award.

The petitioner is Sri Hrishikesh Swain, a man of 60. His case is that he had been working under the firm for the last 32 years. He states that in the month of October last on account of ill health he went home on leave and on his return on 2nd February 1948, the employer refused to admit him to service. The petitioner claims reinstatement or, in the alternative, for compensation at the rate of one month's salary for each year of service.

The employer's version is that Sri Hrishikesh Swain voluntarily resigned and went home in November last.

Hrishikesh himself says that he does not want reinstatement. The question of compensation will only be considered.

The main question to be considered is whether Sri Hrishikesh Swain went on leave in the middle of November last or he resigned and went home. Though in his petition Hrishikesh stated that he went home in October, practically this has been conceded to be a mistake for November.

There is no dispute about the fact that Hrishikesh was poor in health in November last. He says that he went on leave for an unascertained period. His further story is that the master granted him leave without any prayer or request from his side. The Managing Director says that he resigned and went home. There is no paper to show either way. Contemporaneous events will throw much light in the matter.

The employer says that Hrishikesh resigned in anger. It is an admitted fact that soon before he left there was a quarrel between the employer and Hrishikesh over brushing the tables and the room. Hrishikesh was asked to do these things but he refused. An altercation followed and, according to the employer, he refused to serve in the firm and resigned. He was an ordinary bearer in the firm. His brother is still in service in this firm. Hrishikesh went home escorted by his brother. The brother was granted leave. Hrishikesh's salary for 15 days of November was taken by his brother on 15th November 1947 after signing a receipt. This matter is very significant.

Hrishikesh says that he was poor in health and he was asked to go home on leave by the Managing Director who allowed leave to his brother to accompany him. If the parting had been so cordial, the Managing Director would not have paid the money to his brother and obtained a receipt from him on that day. This clearly indicates, as the Managing Director says, that Hrishikesh was in temper and refused to take his salary. In view of the circumstances the Managing Director, Sri Paresh Sen, deserves to be believed. This is a case of voluntary resignation. It was no doubt very indiscreet on the part of Hrishikesh to resign in this way, but he was in temper and lost all his sense of prudence.

As Hrishikesh resigned of his own accord, he is not, apart from other considerations, entitled to any compensation.

It is unfortunate that his ill luck is hovering round him always. He resigned in temper. During the stage of conciliation the Managing Director agreed to pay him Rs. 150 to purchase peace if no record was made of this payment. Hrishikesh refused this and thus closed the only possible way by which he could get something.

The claim of Sri Hrishikesh Swain be refused. I award accordingly.

Chairman, Tribunal.

The award made by the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of the publication of this order in the Calcutta Gazette.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Hindusthan Commercial Bank, Limited, 11, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by the Secretary, Hindusthan Commercial Bank Employees' Association, 11, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company—Sri H. N. Sanyal, Counsel.

Award.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 962-Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, the above dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Notices were issued both on the Company as also on the Union and both of them submitted their written statements on which the following issues were framed:—

(1) Recognition of the Union.
(2) Scale of pay and dearness allowance if can be given retrospective effect.
(3) Provident Fund.
(4) Bonus.
(5) Leave rules.
(6) Extra allowance for work on closing days on account of Half-yearly Closing of Bank Accounts.
(7) Conditions of service if transferable.
(8) Free tiffin.
(9) Free quarter or house allowance.

Issue No. 1.—Recognition of the Union.

The bank's contention is that it is willing to recognise the Union on condition that no member of the Supervisory staff and the personal assistants or clerks to the officers should be members of the Union. The Union does not accept this condition. In my opinion, this question should be left open to be decided by the Labour Court under the provision of the Indian Trade Union Amendment Act, 1947. The Union also agrees to this proposal.

Issue No. 3.—Provident Fund.

The Company has already a scheme of Provident Fund in force which has been approved by the Commissioner of Income-tax, United Provinces, at Lucknow. The scheme is applicable to all its employees. The contribution is 6¼ per cent. each of the employer and the employees. The demand of the employees that the contribution of the employer should be 9-3/8 per cent. is resisted by the bank on the ground that it will be putting the Calcutta employees on a different footing from the employees in other Provinces. In other words, there will be preferential treatment. .Further, the existing scheme which provides for 6¼ per cent. contribution cannot be varied except by consent of the beneficiaries and trustees who are not parties to these proceedings. In my opinion 6¼ per cent. contribution is a very fair and reasonable one and is followed in almost all the respectable institutions and firms in this country. The existing scheme of Provident Fund is to continue.

Issue No. 4.—Bonus.

The bank has already paid bonus of Rs. 75,000 for the year ending 1947. The working of the year 1948 is not yet over. The bank only once paid a dividend at 4 per cent. since its incorporation. The deposit of the bank has come down from over Rs. 13 crores to about Rs. 10 crores. The bank had also to close 21 of its branches in Pakistan. (A sum of Rs. 15 lacs lies invested in Pakistan; it is doubtful whether any portion of this money can be realised. So the bank should proceed very cautiously to wipe off the loss and the cost of working should not be increased.) I am afraid, I cannot make any order regarding bonus for whether there will be profit or not in future cannot be anticipated now and no direction for bonus can be made on such anticipation.

Issue No. 5.—Leave rules.

Below will be found a summary of the demands of the Union and the offer of the bank:—

	Demand of the Union.	Offer of the Bank.
Clerical Staff.
Privilege leave ..	30 days a year to be accumulated up to 3 months in 3 years.	Privilege leave—30 days. May be accumulated up to 3 months in 3 years.
Casual leave ..	14 days a year ..	Casual leave—15 days a year.
Sick leave ..	3 months' full pay. 3 months' half pay. No member of staff should lose his service before expiry of 2 years on medical grounds.	One month a year on half pay and 12 months in all during the whole service. Managing Director may at his discretion allow Sick Leave on full pay for a period of 6 months.
Menial Staff.
Privilege leave ..	As demanded by clerical staff.	Six weeks in two years which may be accumulated up to 12 weeks in 4 years.
Casual leave ..	Ditto ..	15 days a year.
Sick leave ..	Ditto ..	Same as clerical staff.

Some awards of the Comilla Union Bank and the Central Bank of India were cited but the position of this bank should not be confused with that of bigger banks. The deposit of the Central Bank of India is about Rs. 180 crores whereas the deposit of this bank is about Rs. 10 crores. On comparison of the award in the 30 banks' case by Divatia J. in respect of the smaller banks it will be found that the offer of the bank is extremely generous. I may profitably quote an extract of the award of Mr. Divatia J. reported in Volume 26, Labour Gazette at page 610 "In my opinion, the privilege leave for the staff, both clerical and lower paid in small banks should be three weeks, to be accumulated up to nine weeks for clerical staff, and six weeks for lower paid staff. Sick leave should be for 3 weeks in a year, and the total period in the whole service nine months. Half of that period may be on full pay in cases of special hardship".

The Union, however, has not accepted this offer of leave by the bank. I make the award that the offer of the bank regarding leave is quite generous and goes ahead of J. Divatia's award, and this is therefore the period of leave awarded by this Tribunal. I want only to add that sick leave may not be granted if privilege leave is available.

Issue No. 6.—Extra allowance.

In the award of the Central Bank by Sri S. K. Sen and in the award of 30 banks' case in Bombay by Divatia J. this demand for extra allowance for working on Half-yearly Closing of Bank Accounts has been negatived. I reject this demand for it is a part of the duty of bank clerks to work on these days.

Issue No. 7.—Conditions of service.

In the award of the 30 banks' case by Divatia J. this demand has been rejected. I also endorse the above view and I hold that it must be left to the employers to transfer employees from one branch to another as circumstances may require. The Union demanded that they may be consulted before such order is made. I am afraid, this demand is unreasonable and improper for free hand must be given to the administration in the matter of transfer of its staff. The Union apprehends that this power may be abused and that dynamic workers may be transferred to distant places for no other reason than for their active association with the Union activities. It is not proper nor prudent to anticipate future troubles. I can only record my opinion that the bank will behave in such a way in the matter of transfer as to be always above such suspicion or misgivings by its subordinates. It is of course a great inconvenience and annoyance to an employee when he is sent off on transfer several hundred miles off from the present station. So I direct that the Company should in transferring their employees adopt very cautious policy and transfer only those whose services are essentially necessary elsewhere.

Issue No. 8.—Free tiffin.

Not pressed nor argued.

Issue No. 9.—Free quarter or house allowance.

In the Bombay award by Divatia J. this claim, that is to say, free quarter or house allowance, has been rejected (vide page 608, Volume 26 of the Labour Gazette). According to Divatia J. the basic pay and dearness allowance cover the rent payable by the employees. The bank at present pays to its employees some Calcutta allowance as follows:—

Rs. 5 per month to the menial staff.
Rs. 10 per month to the clerical staff drawing salary up to Rs. 100.
Rs. 15 per month to the clerical staff drawing salary from Rs. 101 to Rs. 200.

As the basic pay is going to be awarded in this case on the basis of the Bombay award by Divatia J. who decided the 30 banks' case terms whereof are quite happy and decent, I see no reason why the bank should be asked to continue payment of house allowance as above any more, for the house allowance was included within the basic pay as awarded by Divatia J. in the 30 banks' case of Bombay. If, however, the bank authorities do not like to discontinue this allowance, they are quite at liberty to do so.

Grade A (Matriculates)—Rs. 50—5—60—6—90—7½—130.
Grade B (Graduates)—Rs. 60—6—90—7½—130.
Menial staff—Rs. 25 + Rs. 1-8.

Dearness allowance—

Clerical staff—10 per cent. with the minimum of Rs. 25.
Menial staff—Rs. 10 and Rs. 5 Calcutta allowance.

Calcutta allowance—

Clerical staff drawing salary up to Rs. 100—10.

Rs. 75—7/2—90 (second year Rs. 8).
Rs. 90—10/4—130.
Rs. 130—15/6—220.
Rs. 220—20/4—300.

According to the Union, persons with banking experience should get a higher starting salary; Graduates would be started on Rs. 85. Typists and stenographers should receive allowance of Rs. 10 and Rs. 30 respectively as allowed by other institutions.

Scales of pay of menial staff as demanded by the Union.

Head Zamadar—Rs. 50—3/10—80—4/10—120.
Sepoys, Bearers and Daftaries—Rs. 35—2/10—55—3/8—80.

The bank suggested at the time of argument that they are quite willing to revise the scale of pay as per Bombay award. The employees on the other hand, wanted also to have the Bombay award regarding the scale of pay as granted by Divatia J. in the 30 banks' case award in Bombay. Divatia J. classified the banks under two categories of big and small. The banks with a working capital of 15 crores of rupees and above were classified as big banks others dealing with lesser amount as working capital were placed in the small category. The basis of the division seems to be that banks who have working funds (which consist of paid up capital, reserves and deposits) of about 15 crores of rupees should be placed in the class of big banks and those having less than 15 crores as working funds should be classified as small banks. Now looking to the balance-sheet submitted by the Company, it appears that the working capital in the years 1945-46 amounted little over 15 crores. I therefore am inclined to place this bank in the category of big banks. It was argued on behalf of the bank that this bank had to close 21 branches in Pakistan and that a sum of 15 lacs lies invested therein and it is doubtful whether any portion of this money can be realised. Even making an allowance for the loss in Pakistan, I cannot place this bank in the category of small banks for this bank has a bright future and is sure to tide over the difficulties. The loss is estimated of the entire sum invested in Pakistan but it is a mere conjecture and that contingency may not happen at all. So the estimated loss in Pakistan is exaggerated and cannot at all affect the fate of the clerks. The bank argued that the Pakistan loss may handicap the working capital and as such the bank should go to the small bank group. I cannot accept the argument as the hypothesis of loss in Pakistan is not tenable and it would be doing grave injustice to the staff and seal their fates on such imagined contingency which may not happen. I therefore place the Bank in the first category of big banks as the working capital for the last years is clearly over 15 crores. Moreover, J. Divatia placed this bank in the category of big banks and I see no reason why it should now be classed small.

It is urged, next that the Tribunal should be reluctant to fix a grade for the clerks for the award will be effective for not more than one year. This argument is not very happy for the Tribunal exists for settling industrial disputes between employers and employees. The scale of pay and dearness allowance is the principal bone of contention and therefore the Tribunals are to fix the scale of pay in spite of the fact that the award has validity for one year. It is desirable that the scale so adjusted is not to be disturbed by the employer on the plea that it has got a life of only one year. As a matter of fact all the Tribunals in Bombay, Bengal and United Provinces have fixed the scale of pay and dearness allowance which are accepted as a settled fact by both the parties and it is not at all desirable that there should be a sudden departure of such scale of pay or dearness allowance as laid down by the Tribunal after the period of one year, until there is a material change in the circumstances. If the scale of pay fixed by the Tribunals are thus disturbed and not continued by the employers at the end of a year, there is likely to be revival of too many of the industrial disputes of a serious nature causing discontent and disruption. This will also create a grave situation in which the future of the industries and other establishments will be at stake. The employers and employees will be always at logger heads and will be fighting like wild cats—a situation which is not desirable by any right thinking man, more on grounds of prudence and social justice than anything else. The very fact that the bank was quite willing to accept the award of Divatia J. shows that they are prepared to implement not for a year but permanently unless a new situation calls for revision. Adopting the Bombay award, therefore, I fix the scale of pay of the clerks in this bank as below:—

Grade 'D'—

1st year—Rs. 65.
2nd year—Rs. 70.
3rd year—Rs. 75.
4th year—Rs. 80.
5th year—Rs. 85.
6th year—Rs. 92-8.
7th year—Rs. 100.
8th year—Rs. 107-8.
9th year—Rs. 115.
10th year—Rs. 122-8.
11th year—Rs. 130 (efficiency bar).

Grade 'C'—

12th year—Rs. 137-8.
13th year—Rs. 145.
14th year—Rs. 152-8.
15th year—Rs. 160.
16th year—Rs. 170.
17th year—Rs. 180.
18th year—Rs. 190 (efficiency bar).

Grade 'B'—

19th year—Rs. 200.
20th year—Rs. 210.

21st year—Rs. 220.

Grade 'A'—

23rd year—Rs. 245.
24th year—Rs. 260.
25th year—Rs. 275.
Graduates to start at Rs. 75.

It will be thus seen that Divatia J. who adjudicated the dispute between the banks and their employees at Bombay was dealing with the case for Greater Bombay. Thus he fixed the minimum basic pay by adding the Bombay and Calcutta allowance of Rs. 10 as prescribed by the Pay Commission to the minimum basic pay of Rs. 55 and thus arrived at the minimum of Rs. 65.

In fixing the upper limit of the clerical grade he went much further than many of the grades recommended by the Pay Commission for employees of class III. The Pay Commission recommended the scale from Rs. 65—130 for lower grade and Rs. 80—220 for upper division clerks. J. Divatia, it is pleasing to find, fixed the maximum at Rs. 275, for the same grade.

Regarding menials, peons, etc., J. Divatia's award is that chokras below 18 should get a start at Rs. 25 and after 18 years of age, they should be given Rs. 30 as peons in the following scale:—

Rs. 30—2—50—1—65.

As the pay of clerks and menials is substantially enhanced, existing house allowance is to be discontinued.

Dearness allowance.—The Union demanded dearness allowance for clerical and cash department staff at the rate of 40 per cent. with a minimum of Rs. 40 and maximum of Rs. 75. For menial staff dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 37 flat as sanctioned by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce has been claimed. Divatia J. in the Bombay award fixed the minimum amount to be 25 per cent. of the salaries in the case of big banks with Rs. 30 as minimum and Rs. 50 as maximum. This is for the clerical staff. Regarding lower staff minimum amount is fixed at Rs. 25 per month at flat rate with the exception of boys or chokras who should be given Rs. 20 and the scavengers should be given Rs. 15 flat.

As to dearness allowance, I am inclined to think that J. Divatia's recommendations fall below the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission and this is likely to cause hardship on the lower end of the cadre. The Pay Commission, however, recommended for the inferior grade, i.e., employees of class IV, dearness allowance of Rs. 25 assessing on the cost of living index of 260 but for employees of other grades drawing pay over Rs. 50, Pay Commission recommended a minimum of Rs. 35 for the scale from Rs. 51—100, Rs. 40 for the scale from Rs. 101—150, Rs. 45 for the scale from Rs. 151—200, Rs. 50 for the scale from Rs. 201—250.

I hold that the minimum should be Rs. 35 for the clerical grade. Subject to this modification dearness allowance prescribed by J. Divatia as Presiding Officer of the Bombay Industrial Court is adopted, i.e., dearness allowance for the clerical staff is 25 per cent. of pay with minimum of Rs. 35 and maximum of Rs. 50. For menials and other subordinates the dearness allowance is fixed at Rs. 25 flat.

This is the scale of dearness allowance adopted in the case of the Central Bank award by Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S. It is urged that the Central Bank award cannot be applicable in this particular case as the former is a much higher and more reputed bank. In my opinion, this question cannot arise for the dearness allowance is to be paid on the basis of living index and the above rate of dearness allowance which has been sanctioned by Mr. Sen in the Central Bank case is much below the rate assessable on the present day living index. Possibly the scale of pay fixed by the award in the Central Bank case was quite lavish and as such the dearness allowance was granted on the basis of lesser living index. In this case also the scale of pay fixed in the award is liberal and in some cases higher than that recommended by the Report of the Central Pay Commission. I am inclined to think, therefore, that the dearness allowance granted as above as per the award in Central Bank case will sufficiently meet the ends of justice. Needless to add that dearness allowance allowed in this case is on living index of 280, i.e., much below present day living index which is over 320.

Retrospective effect.—Regarding retrospective effect of the dearness allowance being paid the bank urges that the Tribunal has got no jurisdiction. As against this I may say that in the award of J. Divatia who is a leading Industrial Judge of considerable repute and experience, retrospective effect had been given to the award in the 30 banks' case. The validity of the order regarding retrospective payment of pay and dearness allowance was considered in this case and he held that there is no legal bar. It was urged in Bombay award that according to the provisions contained in Regulation 107 in Table A in the First Schedule of the Indian Companies Act which provides that in the profit and loss account of a particular year, every item of expenditure fairly chargeable against the year's income shall be brought into account and it is contended that the Profit and Loss Account having been made and passed. It cannot be reopened, and that section 10 of the Income-tax Act does not allow payment out of the profit of a past year. In my opinion, these provisions do not operate as a legal bar against the payment of any amount which is payable by a decision or order of a competent Court. It is for the banks to see how the appropriations are to be made. In this case I am willing to grant dearness allowance and revised scale of pay with effect from April 1948 and as such no such difficulties as urged in the Bombay case can arise for in the Bombay award J. Divatia awarded increased pay and dearness allowance with retrospective effect for over a period of one year back and for period anterior to reference. I am inclined, however, to make the retrospective payment of the revised pay and dearness allowance with effect only from 1st April 1948 when the dispute was already within the seisin of the Tribunal and as such the Tribunal has full jurisdiction to adjudicate the matter.

Summary of the main recommendations.

Bonus—No order for future bonus can be made.

ORDER.

No. 2761Lab.—10th August 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 1895-Lab., dated the 8th June 1948, industrial dispute between the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills as represented by the Indian Jute Mills Association, Royal Exchange, Calcutta, and their Sangra Coolies as represented by the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills Employees' Union, Kankinarah, 24-Parganas, was referred for adjudication to Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one month with effect from the date of publication of the award of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal constituted in this department order No. 343Lab., dated the 15th August 1947, but not exceeding one year from the date of this order.

ANNEXURE.

Award.

This industrial dispute between the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills as represented by the Indian Jute Mills Association, Royal Exchange, Calcutta, and their Sangra Coolies as represented by the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills Employees' Union, Kankinarah, 24-Parganas, has been referred, by Government order No. 1895Lab., dated the 8th June 1948, to me as the Tribunal for adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

2. Sri B. P. Ginwala, Counsel, Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, Mr. J. J. Lee, Labour Adviser to the Indian Jute Mills Association, appeared for the Mills. Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, and Sri Phani Ghosh, Secretary, Bengal Provincial National Trade Union Congress, appeared for the employees.

3. The rates of wages in 1946 for the Sangra Coolies in some of the jute mills situated within a circumscribed area were different. The rate per week was Rs. 13-6 (inclusive of dearness allowance of Rs. 4-8 per week) in the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills. It was Rs. 13-6 in both the Kankinarah Jute Mills and the Bhatpara Reliance Jute Mills. In the Alliance Jute Mills the rate was Rs. 15-2 while in Megna Jute Mills and Auckland Jute Mills it was Rs. 17-7 per week. In 1946 the Sangra Coolies of the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills demanded increment of the rates. The management is said to have assured an increment as would be allowed in the Kankinarah and Reliance Jute Mills. On the 19th April 1948 the rates for the Sangra Coolies in the Kankinarah and Reliance Jute Mills was raised to Rs. 21 per week. The Sangra Coolies of the Anglo-Indian Jute Mills thereafter demanded an increment of their rate to Rs. 21 per week. The management offered only Rs. 17-7 per week. This led to the present dispute. Conciliation proceedings having failed, the dispute has been referred to me for adjudication.

Khimjee Hunsraj, 165, Lower Chitpore Road, Calcutta, and its workmen in connection with the case of Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee, 8A, Shib Sankar Mullick Lane, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. C. Chakravarty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri S. C. Chakravarty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to direct that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of industrial dispute between Messrs. Khimjee Hunsraj of 165, Lower Chitpore Road, Calcutta, and their workmen in connection with the case of Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee, 8A, Shib Sankar Mullick Lane, Calcutta.

AWARD.

Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee of 8A, Shib Sankar Mullick Lane, Calcutta, had been serving under Messrs. Khimjee Hunsraj of 165, Lower Chitpore Road, as a clerk. His services were terminated on 2nd January 1948 and he raised an industrial dispute claiming salary for a month as no notice terminating his services was given.

Acting under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, Government of West Bengal by an order, dated 5th June, No. 1846Lab., constituted a tribunal with me to adjudicate on this dispute. Notice under rule 11 of the rules framed under the Industrial Disputes Act in Form "F" was served on Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee fixing 18th June for appearance. He did not appear. The case was adjourned to 21st June 1948 awaiting his appearance. On this day Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee did not appear and a fresh notice was issued to him to appear on 29th June 1948 for his statement. On this date Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee appeared and prayed for adjournment as his father was dead. He wanted a date in the middle of July and this was allowed and the case was fixed for 15th July 1948 for submission of his statement. 15th was suddenly declared a holiday and the case was taken up on the 16th and since then the record has been kept awaiting his appearance. He has not yet turned up.

Sri M. K. Bhattacharjee has been given sufficient and reasonable time to submit his statement of the dispute and as he has failed to do this, the case must go by default. I therefore award that at present there is no dispute for adjudication.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the management of Messrs. Mather and Platt Company, Limited, 5, Dent Mission Road, Kidderpore, Calcutta, and its workmen in the factory represented by the Mather and Platt Workers' Union, 47, Chowringhee Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company—Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

Award.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 1506Lab., dated the 13th May 1948, I was appointed a Tribunal for adjudication of the above dispute. Messrs. Mather and Platt Company, Limited (to be hereinafter styled as Company), is running its business for about 50 years and is under the European management, that the Company deals in engineering works and its head office is in Calcutta and the factory is situated at Kidderpore. This Company has its branches almost at all important places of India and that the number of workmen attached to the Kidderpore factory is about 150 men and many of them have got outdoor works to do.

The Company is incorporated in England and has its Head Office at Manchester.

The workmen formed a Union in January 1947 and the Union was subsequently registered under the Trade Unions Act, 1926. The Union submitted a demand to the Company but got no reply when the matter was placed before the Labour Commissioner in which amongst the demands was included the case of some discharged workers of the Company. The Union demands increment of pay, dearness allowance, introduction of grades and employment in terms of leave and holidays and also reinstatement of the discharged workers.

The Company opposes the claim on various grounds. Details of objection will be considered in the body of the finding.

Issues.

1. Recognition of Union.
2. Security of service.
3. Minimum basic pay.
4. Dearness allowance and scale.
5. Scale of wages.
6. Working hours.
7. Leave and holidays.
8. Provident Fund.
9. Gratuity.
10. Ration and cheap canteen.
11. If retrospective effect of award can be given.
12. Refund of fines.
13. Reinstatement of discharged persons.
14. Bonus.
15. Discriminating labour treatment.

Issue No. 1—Recognition of Union.

Issue No. 2—Security of service.

According to the Union, there is no security of service in this Company and there is no such thing as the permanency of job. The Company alleges that they cannot offer security of service as the employment of the workers is dependant on general conditions of trade and the ability of the Company's factory in England to give delivery of goods under present conditions of shortages of necessary materials. In my opinion, this system cannot be allowed to go on no less in the interest of the Company than in the case of the workers too. All the workers of the Company should be made permanent when they have put in 6 months' service as claimed by the Union. Sense of security makes a workman contented and happy and this adds to his putting greater zeal and enthusiasm in increasing production. Regarding other conditions of service, I would invite the attention to the main recommendations of the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal. The Advocate of the Company also wanted to abide by the main recommendations of the above award. I hereby make the award that the Company should follow the directions given in the award in the Major Engineering Tribunal.

The Workers' Union demanded minimum basic pay fixed at Rs. 45 per month. According to the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal to which I had the privilege of being a member, the minimum wage of an unskilled worker had been fixed at Rs. 30 per month (for 26 working days). I, however, find that this Company is already paying the minimum salary of Re. 1-8 per diem. Converted into monthly pay, it will be Rs. 39 per mensem for unskilled workers. Regarding skilled workers, the Company is paying at a rate varying from Rs. 2 to Rs. 2-10 per diem. So the Company is already paying much higher grade of pay than fixed by us in the Major Engineering Tribunal. This calls for no revision.

It is, however, urged that this Company pays on hourly basis and the pay is adjusted at the end of the month and the basic wage per day is calculated on 8 hours a day. I also find that the Company pays full wages for Saturday though they work for 4 hours. I do not think that there is any reasonable cause of dissatisfaction at this scale of calculation. The Union, however, argued that they want to abolish this payment on hourly basis. The Company urges that even if a worker come one or two hours' late, he is allowed to work and he gets proportionate pay for the day for the hours of work. In other factories, the hour of attendance is fixed and no worker is allowed to enter if he be late by half an hour. Consequently the worker loses his entire daily wages. The existing rule of the Company is in favour of the workers and I see no reason why this should be revised, especially when this argument was trotted out only at the time of hearing. There was no reasonable ground of complaint on this score in the four corners of the written statement filed by the Union. The existing arrangement therefore will continue.

Issue No. 4—Dearness allowance and scale.

Regarding dearness allowance, the Union claims 60 per cent. of the pay, minimum being Rs. 40 per month. The Company is already paying minimum dearness allowance at the rate of 65 per cent. on the first 100 rupees of a workman's month's basic pay subject to a minimum of Re. 1-8-9 per day. The workman, if he attends on all working days in the month for full time, receives dearness allowance for any enforced holidays in that month and also for Saturdays which are only half days but are accounted as full working days for the purpose of calculating dearness allowance. The Company brought to my notice that a man who worked on all working days during the month of April and whose basic pay is Re. 1-8 per day received Rs. 40-4 dearness allowance although there were two enforced holidays and four Saturdays (i.e., half days) in the month.

It is thus seen that the minimum dearness allowance also amounts to Rs. 40-4. This is much above the scale of dearness allowance which is fixed by the Major Engineering Tribunal (dearness allowance as per the Major Engineering Tribunal Award is Rs. 25 minimum). So the basic pay and dearness allowance need no revision. I only want to impress on the Company that inasmuch as they are continuing to pay at this rate, they should not minimise the wages and dearness allowance simply because there is Major Tribunal Award at a much lesser rate. In the Engineering Tribunal nevertheless there is such a reservation clause: those paying higher wages should continue to maintain the scale.

Grade.—In Engineering Industry it is difficult to fix any grade. Introduction of grade is left to the discretion of the Company.

Issue No. 6—Working hours.

The hours of work call for no revision as the total working hour is 48 in a week which is prescribed by the Factory Rules, whereas the present Company has allotted only 44 hours per week.

Issue No. 7—Leave and holidays.

Regarding leave, both the Union and the Company agreed to the recommendations laid down by the Major Engineering Tribunal. Dr. Radha Kamal Mukherjee in his book "Indian Working Class" recommends at page 60 of his book that the Engineering Industries in India should give 22 days' holidays with pay including festival days and 10 statutory holidays under the Factories Act. This may be divided as follows:—

Ten days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act, which is equivalent to eight or nine paid holidays according as there is one Sunday or two within the period of ten days.

Eight festival days.

Five or six days' other leave with pay which may be taken in continuation of the ten days under the Factories Act or separately at the option of the workmen. This other leave for five or six days will accumulate for two years, as provided for the ten days' leave under the Factories Act.

According to the Employees' State Insurance Act enough provisions have been made and therefore it is not necessary that the Tribunal should provide any sick leave.

Issue Nos. 8 and 9—Provident Fund and gratuity.

It was urged on behalf of the Union that it is the duty of the employer to provide some retiring benefits for the maintenance of the workers in old age. Demand was made that retiring benefits should take the form of both a Contributory Provident Fund and a gratuity. This question was well considered in the Major Tribunal for engineering firms. I am of opinion that the principle embodied in that award should be a guiding factor for all the engineering firms in this Province as far as practicable. It was settled that it is the duty of the employer to provide some sort of retiring benefit for their workers, particularly to such workers as have worked under them for a number of years. In the opinion of the Major Tribunal, the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme is the best scheme of retiring benefit, because while imposing a burden on the employers it also makes it compulsory for the employees to make a contribution; this is desirable because not only it teaches the employee the habit of saving but also is a guarantee against reckless spending of the retiring benefit money when obtained, for if the employees feel that they have contributed to build up the fund money they would be careful about the money they receive on retiring.

In the Major Engineering Tribunal it was therefore decided that the Contributory Provident Fund should be adopted by the Engineering Companies; but small Companies employing less than 100 men would have the option of adopting the Gratuity Scheme instead. This Company has neither a Gratuity Scheme nor a Provident Fund Scheme. The Company is quite solvent and flourishing and it is desirable that some kind of retiring benefit should be introduced. This firm employs more than 100 men but in my opinion it would be rather much better to adopt a Gratuity Scheme in this case. As the Company had not as yet any Provident Fund Scheme, the matter should be rectified by adopting a scheme of gratuity. The scale of payment should be half a month's pay for each completed year of service. Though for any particular year half a month's pay is less than 6¼ per cent. of pay, still gratuity is to be calculated on the basis of the substantive pay during the last year of an employee's service; thus gratuity payable for an employee who has served a full term and obtained some increments of pay will not be less than the employer's contribution into the Provident Fund at 6¼ per cent. throughout the period of the employee's service. The following rule should be adopted:—

(a) On retirement after not less than 25 years' continuous service.—Half a month's basic pay for each completed year of service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic pay.

(b) On death of the employee while in service.—Half a month's pay for each completed year of service, irrespective of the length of service but subject to the maximum of 15 months' basic pay, to be paid to the employees' heirs.

(c) On resignation or retirement at any time before the completion of 25 years' service with written consent of the employer, owing to illness, old age, or any other sufficient cause.—Half a month's pay for each year of completed service.

(d) On termination of service by the employer, either as the result of reduction of his establishment or in any other circumstances not justifying dismissal.—Half a month's pay for each completed year of service, irrespective of the length of service.

(e) No gratuity shall be payable when the emplyee is dismissed for misconduct.

(f) Gratuity is to be calculated on the basis of average substantive pay during the last 12 months of service.

Issue No. 10—Ration and cheap canteen.

In view of the suitable pay and dearness allowance that is being paid by the Company, the claim must be rejected.

Issue No. 12—Refund of fines.

It is urged that 3 workers (a) Sher Bahadur, Fitter, (b) Dal Bahadur, Fitter, and (c) Jibon Krishna Ghose, Turner, were fined by the Company and it is urged that these are cases of unfair labour practice. The Company urges, however, that the deductions made from the pay of the workmen Sher Bahadur and Dal Bahadur (Apprentice and not a Fitter) were not in the nature of fines. These deductions were made for the recovery of cost of tools issued to the men for work and these workers failed to return the tools so supplied when called upon to do so. In the case of Jibon K. Ghose, the Company denies that any deduction has been made. Jibon K. Ghose does not take any oath and the Union fails to substantiate the allegation regarding Sher Bahadur and Dal Bahadur. The Company has amply satisfied me that deductions were made from their pay on their failure to return the tools supplied. Moreover, this is a matter on which the Registrar under the Payment of Wages Act is the best person to whom remedy could have been easily obtained. The prayer is rejected.

Issue No. 13—Reinstatement of discharged persons.

The Union urges that the following persons were illegally discharged:—

(1) Jamserali, Carpenter— 26 years' service.
(2) Bhawani, Welder—4 years' service.
(3) Danu, Packer—5 years' service.
(4) Nidhi (No. 2), Cooly—5 years' service.
(5) Naren, Cooly—14 years' service.
(6) Krishna, Cooly—4 years' service.
(7) Bansi, Cooly—4 years' service.
(8) Pali, Cooly—5 years' service.
(9) Nabina, Cooly—5 years' service.

According to the Union, discharge of these workmen are instances of unfair labour practice and that the workmen are entitled to be reinstated with retrospective effect.

The Company submits that the workmen in question were discharged on account of shortage of work.

The Company argued that the Tribunal has got no jurisdiction to order reinstatement of men discharged nor the Tribunal can order any compensation for such discharge.

This is no doubt a very debatable point and of considerable importance. In almost all the Calcutta Tribunals the Judges have decided—I myself being one of them—that the Tribunal has got ample jurisdiction to order reinstatement in the case of workers illegally discharged. I am not going to repeat the argument over again here as the matter is shortly going to be finally adjudicated on appeal by the Hon'ble High Court. The decision of the Tribunal ordering restoration is awaiting consideration of the Hon'ble Judges of the Calcutta High Court. Pending the final decision, I hold concurrently with all my learned colleagues that the Tribunal has got ample jurisdiction to order reinstatement of discharged workers if illegally done on grounds of establishing industrial peace and that the Tribunal has further jurisdiction to order compensation in case of such discharged workers.

Now to examine the merits of the discharge, the Company has produced a letter, dated 3rd October 1947, from their London Office in which this Calcutta Branch was directed to reduce staff, expenditure and activities in connection with the godown. It was urged by the Company that the men in question were discharged in pursuance of economic policy and that the work in the Company's godown can now be easily carried out by a small labour force with the occasional assistance of outside casual hands when it is necessary to load and unload railway wagons placed in the godown siding. Hence the Company decided in order to effect necessary economy (called for by the Head Office at London) to reduce the labour force in godown and employ casual hands as and when occasion would demand.

The Union urges discharge of 9 men. The Company urges that of all these persons, Pali and Nabina failed to come to work and did not at all join since after October 1947. Regarding Krishna, the Company says he was a continued absentee. So these three workers, Pali, Nabina and Krishna, were properly and rightly discharged. The claim for reinstatement or compensation cannot arise in the case of these three persons. Regarding other workers, the Company alleges that they were inefficient hands and their outturn of work was short. Now to examine the merit of this contention.

I find, however, that the Company did not follow any hard and fast sound policy in discharging these men, for it will be evident that one Jamserali, Carpenter, was dismissed after 26 years of service as inefficient. The Company, however, urges regarding Jamserali that he was one of the 3 Carpenters and as he was slow so he had to be first discharged on the gallows of retrenchment. Similarly it was urged that Bhawani, who was a Welder of 4 years' service, had to be discharged as he was the only Welder and that the Company wanted no more Welder in their services. Whatever that may be, Jamserali who had put in 26 years of service, ought not to have been discharged after such a long period and with a stigma of "inefficiency".

Summarising the contention of the Company along with the statement of the Union, I am of opinion that the Union has failed to prove that these persons were discharged on grounds of their Union activities for there is no evidence to show that any or all of them were dynamic or active workers of the Union. I am satisfied that these workers had to be discharged for shortage of work, though unfortunately the Company did not follow a well cut policy in selecting the personnel. These persons, of course, had to go away inasmuch as the Company had to reduce the staff. So it was a case of forced unemployment, for which the workers are entitled to compensation both on law and as on principle of social justice. I find, however, that the Labour Commissioner had also recommended some gratuity. I accordingly allow these workers, Jamserali, Bhawani, Danu, Naren, Bansi, Nidhi, gratuity by way of compensation of one month's pay for each year of service on the somewhat modified scale laid down in the item "Gratuity" subject to the maximum of 15 months' pay and wages (including, of course, dearness allowance). In calculating gratuity, the scale laid down under item of gratuity should be strictly adopted (see ante).

Issue No. 14—Bonus.

The Company is paying bonus and the scale of bonus is total basic pay earned in the previous 12 months divided by 240 and the result multiplied by the number of whole years of service. This amount of bonus is of course meagre and scanty, for in my experience, I find that the payment of one month's wages is the minimum bonus granted by many engineering firms. There is, however, no balance sheet produced by the Company before me and I am as such not in a position to say the margin of profit left to the Company. I am, therefore, unable to make out any hard and fast rule. But I may only point out to the Company that it will be to their advantage if they can afford to pay some higher bonus to their workmen, financial position permitting. The Company should remember that a satisfied worker is always the best asset and in their own interest the Company would do well to be more charitable in future.

Issue No. 15—Discriminating labour treatment.

No case was made out before me

Summary of the recommendations.

Security of service.—Workers putting in 6 months' service or more should be made permanent.

Recommendations of the Major Tribunal be followed regarding other provisions for security of service.

Grade.—No hard and fast rule can be made in the award.

Working hours.—Existing working hours not disturbed.

Leave and holidays.—Same as in Major award of Engineering Tribunals.

Provident Fund and Gratuity.—Gratuity to be introduced.

Ration and cheap canteen.—Claim rejected.

Refund of fines.—Claim rejected.

Reinstatement of discharged workers.—No reinstatement—6 only out of 9 should get gratuity as per scale laid down in the body of the award.

Bonus.—Left to the discretion of the Company. The Company is requested to see if one month's wages can be paid to each worker.

As there is no revision of pay and dearness allowance, no question of granting retrospective effect of the award can properly arise in the present case.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL.

Character of the season.—Sowing of Rabi crops was delayed in the districts of Murshidabad and Jalpaiguri due to excessive rains during September and early October. Untimely rainfall during February caused some damage to Rabi crops in the districts of 24-Parganas, Nadia, Midnapore, Hooghly and Howrah. In the districts of Darjeeling, Malda and West Dinajpur weather and its effect on the crops have been favourable. The weather conditions have, on the whole, been fair.

Area and yield.—The areas sown with different Rabi (i) food crops and (ii) non-food crops shown in this forecast are estimated at (i) 1,061,800 acres and (ii) 192,800 acres this year as against (i) 1,010,400 acres and (ii) 196,400 acres respectively of last year. The outturn of different Rabi crops is estimated at 72 per cent. of the normal this year as against 76 per cent. of the normal last year.

Summer rice.—25,300 acres are estimated to be under Summer rice this year compared to 46,100 acres last year, the average yield per acre being estimated at 74 per cent. of the normal this year as against 72 per cent. of the normal last year. Calculated on the basis of the normal yield equal to 13·6 maunds of clean rice per acre, the total outturn works out to 9,400 tons this year as against 16,600 tons last year.

Barley.—42,000 acres are estimated to be under barley this year as compared to 59,100 acres last year, the average yield per acre being estimated at 71 per cent. of the normal this year as against 76 per cent. of the normal last year. Calculated on the basis of the normal yield equal to 10·75 maunds per acre, the gross yield of the Province works out to 11,800 tons this year as against 17,700 tons last year.

Gram.—233,400 acres are estimated to be under gram this year compared to 240,900 acres last year, the average yield per acre being estimated at 63 per cent. of the normal this year as against 65 per cent. of the normal last year. Calculated on the basis of the normal yield equal to 9·75 maunds per acre the gross yield of the crop works out to 52,700 tons this year as against 56,100 tons last year.

Tobacco crop.—26,100 acres are estimated to be under tobacco crop this year compared to 30,600 acres last year, the average yield per acre being estimated at 70 per cent. of the normal this year as against 69 per cent. of the normal last year. Calculated on the basis of the normal yield equal to 14 maunds per acre the gross yield of the crop for the Province works out to 9,400 tons this year as against 10,900 tons last year.

(5) If any officer or servant of the Sheriff is permanently re-employed in the service of the Provincial Government, his employment under the Sheriff shall, for the purposes of the rules relating to pay and pensions, be deemed to have been service under the Provincial Government:

The Calcutta Sheriff's Bill, 1948.

(Clause 11.)

Provided that,—

(a) if any such officer or servant desires to elect to refund any gratuity or cease to draw any pension, as the case may be, and to count for future pension his employment under the Sheriff, he shall so elect immediately on being permanently re-employed; and

(b) if he so elects, any period of temporary service under the Provincial Government intervening between the date of the commencement of this Act and the date of such permanent re-employment shall not be considered as a break in service, but shall not count as service for the purposes of pension.

Explanation.—Where such election is made, the whole of the pension, both for employment under the Sheriff prior to the commencement of this Act and for service in such permanent re-employment under the Provincial Government, shall be calculated at the rates provided in the rules relating to the pensions of servants of the Provincial Government, and not at the rates provided in the rules of the Fund.

Power to make rules.

11. (1) The Provincial Government may make rules for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act in regard to those functions of the Sheriff which are discharged under the administrative control of the Provincial Government.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for,—

(a) the distribution of work between the Sheriff and the Deputy Sheriff;

(b) the authority referred to in sections 8 and 9 and the manner in which and the time at which the fees and balances referred to in these sections shall be transferred and paid;

(c) the safe custody and deposit of all monies, securities and other moveables which come into the hands of the Sheriff; and

(d) the accounts to be maintained by the Sheriff, and the audit and inspection thereof.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The question of reorganisation of the office of the Sheriff of Calcutta has been under the consideration of the Provincial Government for a long time. After protracted discussions with the Hon'ble High Court and the Sheriff of Calcutta the views which have been accepted by the Provincial Government with regard to this matter are as follows:—

(1) The posts of the Deputy Sheriff of Calcutta and all other officers and servants as may be employed for the proper performance of the duties of the Sheriff shall be civil posts under the Crown in India, and by rules to be made under the proposed Act these functions of the Sheriff which are discharged under the administrative control of the Provincial Government may be transferred to the Deputy Sheriff.

(2) The Sheriff, the Deputy Sheriff and their subordinates shall be exempted from liability in respect of all their acts of defaults, done or committed while exercising their functions under the proposed Act, and the revenues of the Province shall be liable to make good all sums required to discharge the said liability. This will not prevent the Provincial Government from realising any sums which it might have paid, from the Sheriff, the Deputy Sheriff, or their subordinates, liable personally to pay such sums.

(3) With effect from the date of provincialisation, the income of the Sheriff by way of fees shall be carried to the account and credit of the Provincial Government, the Provincial Government prescribing by rules the method of realising such fees. (The method will no doubt be in court-fee stamps.) The fund, known as the Sheriff's Pension Fund, maintained for the provision of pensions for the officers and servants employed by the Sheriff prior to provincialisation shall also be transferred to the revenues of the Province.

(4) All officers and servants of the Sheriff who are in receipt of pensions or are entitled to gratuities will be paid, on provincialisation, pension or gratuities out of the provincial revenues in accordance with the rules of the Pension Fund. Those officers whose services may be dispensed with on provincialisation will be paid such compensation as the Provincial Government may fix. Any disputes arising in connection with the payment of pension, gratuity or compensation will be referred to the Public Service Commission and the decision of the Commission will be final.

(5) The accounts of the Sheriff's office are to be kept in such form as may be prescribed by the Provincial Government.

(6) The audit of these accounts is to be carried out in the manner and by the agency to be prescribed by the Provincial Government.

2. The present Bill has been prepared for giving effect to the above proposals.

NIHARENDU DUTT-MAZUMDAR,
Member-in-charge.

CALCUTTA:

(d) the form in which returns under section 10 shall be submitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

With a view to eliminating the possibility of tamarind seed or tamarind seed powder being used as a food adulterant, the trade in tamarind seed and tamarind seed powder should be controlled by the introduction of a licensing system. The manufacturers and wholesale dealers of tamarind seed powder should submit periodical returns showing the acquisition and disposal of tamarind seed by them.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1429L.—21st August, 1948.—The Governor having been pleased to order, under rule 47 of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly Procedure Rules, the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Calcutta Gazette, the Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information:—

A

further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866, for the purpose and in the manner hereinafter appearing;

Ben. Act IV of 1866.
Ben. Act II of 1866.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Act, 1948.

Insertion of new section 61A in Bengal Act IV of 1866.

2. After section 61 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Power of Commissioner to prohibit the use or the driving of certain types of vehicles in streets or public places.

"61A. (1) With the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, the Commissioner of Police may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, prescribe the types of vehicles which shall not be driven or used in streets or public places.

(2) Whoever uses or drives in a street or public place a vehicle of a type the use or driving of which has been prohibited under sub-section (1) shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and the vehicle in respect of which the offence has been committed shall be forfeited to the Crown."

Insertion of new section 38A in Bengal Act II of 1866.

3. After section 38 of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Power of Commissioner to prohibit the use or the driving of certain types of vehicles in streets or public places.

"38A. (1) With the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, the Commissioner of Police may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, prescribe the types of vehicles which shall not be driven or used in streets or public places within such limits as may be specified in this behalf by the Commissioner of Police in the said notification.

(Clause 3.)

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Both the Calcutta Police Act 1866 (Bengal Act IV of 1866) and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act 1866 (Bengal Act II of 1866) contain provisions to regulate traffic, but there is no provision in either of these Acts to prohibit the use of any unsuitable type of vehicle on the roads. In order to prevent vehicles (for example, cycle-rickshaws) which might be a danger to other traffic from coming on to the roads of Calcutta and its suburbs, the present Bill has been drafted which aims at making provision for the banning of such vehicles.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1430L.—21st August, 1948.—The Governor having been pleased to order, under rule 47 of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly Procedure Rules, the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Calcutta Gazette, the Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information:—

THE CALCUTTA HACKNEY-CARRIAGE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1948.

BILL

further to amend the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919, for the purpose and in the manner hereinafter appearing; Ben. Act I of 1919.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Calcutta Hackney-carriage (Amendment) Act, 1948.

Amendment of section 1 of Bengal Act I of 1919. 2. To sub-section (3) of section 1 of the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following proviso shall be added, namely:— Ben. Act I of 1919.

"Provided that nothing in this Act shall apply in Calcutta to any type of vehicle the driving or use of which has been prohibited with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government by the Commissioner of Police under section 61A of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and section 38A of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866. Ben Act IV of 1866. Ben. Act II of 1866.

Explanation.—In this proviso,—

(1) 'Calcutta' means the town of Calcutta as defined in section 3 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, together with the suburbs of Calcutta as defined by notification under section 1 of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866;

(2) 'streets' and 'public places' have the same meanings as in the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866."

Amendment of section 4. 3. In section 4 of the said Act,—

(a) to clause (1) the following words shall be added, namely:—

The Calcutta Hackney-carriage (Amendment) Bill, 1948.

(Clause 4.)

(b) in clause (2) after the word "means", the words "subject to the provisions of the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 1 and" shall be inserted; and

(c) in clause (8) after the word "men" the following words shall be inserted, namely:—

"and includes a three-wheeled vehicle for the conveyance of passengers, ordinarily known as a cycle-rickshaw, which is actuated by a man by means of a pedal-cycle mechanism"

Amendment of section 70. 4. To section 70 of the said Act, the following provisos shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that the Registering Officer may cancel, or suspend for such period as he thinks fit, the registration of a rickshaw if in his opinion the type of the rickshaw has been so altered as to render it different from that in respect of which registration was made:

Provided further that in any area included in Calcutta under clause (b) of section 2, the functions of the Registering Officer shall be performed by an Officer appointed by the Commissioners of the Municipality comprising such area and the said officer shall forward to the Deputy Commissioner of Police referred to in sub-section (1) of section 6 all papers relating to registration for record after they have been duly dealt with."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

At present there is no control over cycle-rickshaws, which are appearing in increasing numbers in the suburbs of Calcutta and in mufassal towns, because cycle-rickshaws do not come within the definition of "rickshaw" in the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919, which has been extended to other municipal areas. In order that some control may be exercised over the use of cycle-rickshaws (and also to enable municipal authorities to levy a tax on them) it is necessary to amend the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919 (Bengal Act I of 1919). This Bill has been drafted which aims at making the necessary provision.

(2) No landlord shall be entitled to recover as the price of any furniture in any premises on sale of such furniture to the tenant of such premises or to any person to whom the premises are afterwards let, any sum in excess of the market-value of such furniture; and the Controller may, on application made to him by any person interested and on payment of the prescribed fee, determine the market-value of such furniture recoverable under this sub-section.

Cases in which standard rent shall be fixed by the Controller.

9. In any of the following cases, the Controller shall, on application made to him by any landlord or tenant, fix the standard rent of the premises at such amount as, having regard to the provisions of this Act and the circumstances of the case including the municipal rates, taxes or cesses payable in respect of the premises, he deems just—

(a) where any premises have been or are erected after the first day of October, 1946;

(b) where by reason of any premises having been let at one time as a whole, and at another time in parts, or where for any other reason, any difficulty arises in giving effect to this Act;

(c) where any premises have been or are let rent-free, or at a nominal rent, or for some consideration in addition to rent;

(d) where some addition, improvement or alteration not included in necessary repairs or repairs which are usually made to premises in the locality, has been made at any time after the first day of October, 1946, to any premises at the landlord's expense;

(e) where any furniture has been supplied on or after the first day of October, 1946, by the landlord for use in any premises or where any premises which were let without any furniture on or after the said date are subsequently let furnished;

Making of repairs and taking of measures for the maintenance of essential services by the tenant on the failure or neglect of the landlord to do so.

38. (1) The Controller shall, on application made to him in this behalf by any tenant in possession of any premises, cause a notice to be served in the prescribed manner on the landlord thereof requiring him to make any repairs which such landlord is bound to make to the premises or to take any measures for the due maintenance of any essential supply or service, such as, the maintenance of the supply of water or electricity, the maintenance of conservancy or sanitary service and the maintenance of any lift, which such landlord is bound to maintain in the premises under the conditions of the tenancy or according to local usage.

(2) If after the service of such notice the landlord fails to show proper cause or neglects to make within reasonable time such repairs or to take within reasonable time such measures, as the case may be, the tenant may submit to the Controller an estimate of the cost of such repairs or measures, and may apply to him for permission to make such repairs or to take such measures himself and, thereupon, the Controller may, after giving the landlord an opportunity of being heard and after considering such estimate of cost and making such enquiries as he may consider necessary, by an order in writing, permit the tenant to make such repairs or to take such measures, as the case may be, at a cost not exceeding such amount as may be specified in the order and it shall thereafter be lawful for the tenant to make such repairs or to take such measures himself and to deduct the cost thereof, which shall in no case exceed the amount so specified, from the rent or otherwise recover it from the landlord:

Provided that the amount so deducted or recoverable in any year shall not exceed one-twelfth of the rent payable by the tenant for that year.

Taking of measures by the tenant in case of emergency.

39. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 38 if the necessity for making any repairs or for taking any measures referred to in that section, is so urgent that any delay involved in the procedure referred to therein is likely to subject the tenant to personal loss, damage or serious inconvenience, the tenant may himself cause the notice referred to in section 38 to be served in the prescribed manner on the landlord requiring him to make such repairs or to take such measures within seventy-two hours of the service of such notice and shall in every such case submit, at the same time, a copy of such notice to the Controller together with an estimate of the cost of such repairs or measures to enable the Controller to make such enquiries as he may consider necessary about the necessity of such repairs or measures and the correctness of the estimate so submitted and if, after the service of such notice, the landlord fails to make such repairs or to take such measures within the time mentioned in the notice, the tenant may himself make such repairs or take such measures, as the case may be, and after completion of such repair or measures, submit to the Controller a statement of the costs thereof and thereafter the Controller, after considering such statement and making such further enquiries as he may consider necessary, may by an order in writing, determine the amount of the cost which the tenant is entitled to recover from the landlord and the tenant may thereupon deduct the amount so determined from the rent or otherwise recover it from the landlord:

Provided that the amount so deducted or recoverable in any year shall not exceed one-twelfth of the rent payable by the tenant for that year.

Criminal liability and refund of the consideration paid in addition to the standard rent.

40. (1) Whoever knowingly accepts or obtains or attempts to accept or obtain, whether directly or indirectly, any sum or valuable thing or any pecuniary advantage on account of any premium, salami or fine in addition to the standard rent, except as provided in section 5, shall also, on conviction in a Criminal Court, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or with fine or with both and, without prejudice to any other method of recovery, the Court may order the amount paid or the value of the consideration given to be repaid to the person by whom the payment was made or the consideration given.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, an offence punishable under sub-section (1) shall be cognizable and non-bailable. Act V of 1898.

Cutting off or withholding essential supply or service.

41. (1) No landlord either himself or through any person purporting to act on his behalf shall without just or sufficient cause cut off or withhold any essential supply or service enjoyed by the tenant in respect of the premises let to him.

(2) Any landlord who contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1) shall, on conviction in a criminal court, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months or with fine or with both.

Explanation.—In this section essential supply or service includes supply of water, electricity, lights in passages and on stair-cases, lifts and conservancy or sanitary service.

Tenant may get supply of electricity to the premises without the permission of the landlord.

42. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, a tenant may get from a licensee the supply of electricity in the premises occupied by him without the permission of the landlord.

Controller to be a public servant.

(2) Any rules, orders and appointments made or deemed to have been made or anything done or any action taken or any proceedings commenced or deemed to have been done, taken or commenced under any of the provisions of the said Ordinance shall continue in force in so far as they are consistent with the provisions of this Act and shall be deemed to have been made, done, taken or commenced under the corresponding provision of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Bill, 1947, as reported by the Select Committee, which was taken up for consideration in the last Budget Session of the Assembly, could not be passed into law for want of time. As, however, the measure was very urgent, it was proposed to promulgate an Ordinance embodying all the provisions of the Bill as reported by the Select Committee with some minor amendments and His Excellency the Governor-General's approval thereto was sought under the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 88 of the Government of India Act, 1935. The Government of India, however, suggested that as the contents of the Bill had already been before the legislature, it would be preferable instead of promulgating an Ordinance, to place the same before the legislature.

Accordingly the present Bill has been framed embodying, with slight alterations, all the provisions of the Bill which was considered by the Select Committee in the last Session.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bengal Non-agricultural Tenancy (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1940, which provided for stay of proceedings for eviction of non-agricultural tenants in certain cases pending further legislation on the subject, expired on the 29th May, 1948. As the Assembly was not in session at that time and as the more comprehensive measure, namely, the West Bengal Non-agricultural Tenancy Bill, 1948, could not be passed into law, the period of operation of the Act of 1940 was further extended for another year by the promulgation of an Ordinance. This Ordinance also included the provisions of the Bengal Non-agricultural Tenancy (Temporary Provisions) Amendment Act, 1945, which was made by the Governor in exercise of the powers assumed to himself under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, extending the protection of the Act of 1940 to agricultural holdings in municipal areas. It is now proposed to implement the provisions of the said Ordinance by the passing of this Bill.

West Ben. Ord. III of 1948.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The District Board of 24-Parganas was reconstituted in 1938-39 with twenty elected and ten appointed members. Since then there has been no election, as the Local Boards in the district which elected the members of the District Board were abolished with effect from the 10th April, 1943 and no delimitation of constituencies for the purpose of direct election could be made. By West Bengal Act IX of 1947 the ten seats of appointed members of the District Board were abolished. During this period, of the twenty elected members five died and six were continuously absent, thereby reducing the number of active members to nine which brought a deadlock in the working of the said District Board. Moreover, the two thanas of Bongaon and Gaighata, formerly in the district of Jessore and now added to the district of 24-Parganas as a result of the award of the Boundary Commission, had to be represented in the District Board. In order to carry on the administration of the Board with a sufficient number of members representing all parts of the district, the Provincial Government took powers under the 24-Parganas District Board (Dissolution) Ordinance, 1948, to constitute the said District Board by the appointment of such number of members as it thought necessary, for a period not exceeding two years, pending reconstitution of the District Board through the usual process of election after delimitation of constituencies. The Bill purports to validate the provisions of the said Ordinance which will become inoperative on the expiry of six weeks from the date when the ensuing session of the Legislative Assembly begins.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of the industrial disputes between Messrs. M. B. Sarkar and Sons, 124, 124/1, Bow Bazar Street, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Secretary, Calcutta Jewellery Workers' Union, 26, Sashi Bhusan De Street, Room No. 14, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI S. C. CHAKRABORTY, Chairman, Tribunal.

Pursuant to the provisions contained in sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, Government of West Bengal, by an Order No. 1384Lab., dated the 3rd May 1948, constituted a Tribunal with me to adjudicate upon the industrial disputes between Messrs. M. B. Sarkar & Sons of 124, 124/1, Bow Bazar Street, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Secretary, Calcutta Jewellery Workers' Union, 26, Sashi Bhusan De Street, Room No. 14, Calcutta.

The Union was represented by Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, pleader, and Messrs. B. N. Basu & Co., Solicitors, appeared for the firm.

Award.

The points for adjudication are—

(1) Lock-out pay.
(2) Reinstatement of four discharged workmen.
(3) Security of service.
(4) Conditions of service.
(5) Pay.
(6) Dearness allowance.
(7) Bonus.
(8) Provident Fund.
(9) Working hours.
(10) Weekly leave.
(11) Leave and holidays.
(12) Involuntary unemployment.
(13) Medical aid.
(14) Recognition of the Union.

Point No. 1—Lock-out pay.

This is an Union of artisans not confined to the employees of this firm only. On 1st April 1948 the Union placed the Charter of Demands to the Company with a strike notice. As usual, a copy of this was sent to the Labour Commissioner who started conciliation proceedings on 12th April 1948.

To appreciate the events that followed it is necessary to know the system of appointment in this firm. The Company's version is that there is a committee of old workers and one or other of them remains guarantor for the other employees. This system was denied by the Union, but its third witness clearly stated that there was this system. Men were recruited according to needs and one or other certified to his character and remained something like a guarantor for the new employee. This system was not, however, very rigid because I found that after a man worked for some time and proved himself satisfactory, no fresh guarantor was demanded on the death of the original person. When workmen have to handle precious metals and stones the system of there being guarantors is nothing unreasonable.

Jewellers have at times to rush through work and at times there is dull season. When there is rush of work, usually the workers have to keep up long hours doing overtime work for execution of orders. The usual working hour is from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. On 12th April 1948 all the workers in a body went to the counter of the firm to return the gold entrusted to them, indicating thereby that all of them in a body refused to do overtime work. The Union's statement was that some workers were assaulted necessitating medical attention, but at the time of evidence it was said that Bara Babu (Gostha Babu) grappled the hands of one of the workers for leaving work. It is not very important to find exactly what took place there, but what is important for my purpose is the events that followed. On the morning of the following day the following notice appeared at the gate of the workshop, the door of which was locked and guarded:—

চক্রান্তকারীদিগকে এতদ্দ্বারা এক মাসের নোটীশ দেওয়া যাইতেছে যে তাহারা ৩১শে বৈশাখ হইতে কার্য্যে বরখাস্ত হইল; ঐ তারিখে বৈকালে ৩৪/এ/বি, শশীভূষণ দে ষ্ট্রীট হইতে তাহাদিগের প্রাপ্য হিসাব করিয়া লইয়া যাইবে।"

There is nothing improbable in the complaint of the Company that the workmen picketed the customers from coming to the shop. Such retaliation is nothing unknown or strange.

The Company reorganised the guarantee system and divided the workmen and assigned each lot to a member of the committee. Those who could be guaranteed have already been taken in, and I am told that about 40 persons have not yet been absorbed. Gold and precious stones have got to be entrusted to the workmen and it is difficult for the Tribunal to refuse to the employer to start a guarantee system. This must be allowed though I have the feeling that this is capable of doing much mischief. Despite this infirmity this must be allowed. This Tribunal is unable to ask the firm to take in those men who cannot fulfil the guarantee demanded by the Management.

The question is what compensation should be paid to them. The notice reproduced above cannot be regarded as terminating the services of the workers. The demand for security has been too vague. It is thus clear that there has been an illegal lock-out and all workers are entitled to pay and other emoluments as from that day.

Now the question is up to which period they should get wages and other emoluments. The notice referred to above cannot be regarded as a notice terminating services of any particular or all workmen. It cannot be regarded as a notice demanding security. For this purpose it is vague. The notice, dated 3rd June 1948, is a notice demanding guarantee by definite persons. The men were asked to have guarantee by a definite person furnished by 23rd Jaistha. This is substantially a notice terminating services in case of failure to furnish guarantee. Those who fail will get wages for a month from 23rd Jaistha, i.e., 6th June. They will get salary and other emoluments till 6th July 1948. They shall also get back their contribution to Provident Fund as also the employers' contribution to the Provident Fund. This, however, does not apply to Uttam Chandra Pal whose case has got to be differently treated. Those who entered the firm on furnishing guarantee will also get wages and dearness allowance for the period of non-work.

The Union seeks for reinstatement of four persons, viz., Radharaman Pandit, Jatin Roy, Priya Ballav Roy and Uttam Chandra Pal. Radharaman and Priya Ballav have furnished guarantee and are in service now. Jatin Roy refused to be reinstated. Only the case of Uttam Pal requires adjudication.

He appeared to me a simple man, not at all intelligent. He was not a prominent member of the Union. There were other prominent men.

Uttam says that he was reprimanded for going to the Union office and on 22nd Falgun was asked to go away. The Company's version is that he was often reprimanded for bad work and was a frequent absentee. The Company's version is that he did not turn up for work after 23rd Falgun and was, therefore, discharged.

Uttam says that he usually absented for 4 or 5 days in a month. The conduct of Uttam during the period of his absence may throw some light. He says that after his discharge he went home and remained there for a week and from 1st Chaitra was at Tarakeswar following the brota of a Sunnyashi for a month. He says that after this was over, he came to the firm in Baisakh to work and found the gate locked. If he was discharged against his will, with an anxiety on his part to continue working, he would have turned up for work on the following day. The conduct of the man shows that he absented himself to avail of the brota at Tarakeswar and lost his job for unauthorised absence. There is no justification for his reinstatement or giving him wages for the lock-out period.

Point No. 3—Security of service.

(a) The Union demands that the security of service be assured and permanency of service be recognised after completion of service for six months. The Company is agreeable to this suggestion with this provision that six months shall count from the date of this award. It is, therefore, decided that a workman shall be confirmed after six months' probation. If he is found fit he will be confirmed, otherwise he will be discharged. For the probationers now in employ six months shall count from the date of this award. This rule will not apply to apprentices but to expert artisans.

(b) The demand of the Union is that no employee should be discharged without one month's previous notice. This be allowed subject to this that this will not affect dismissal for misconduct or absence without leave.

(c) The Union demands maintenance of service book. This be done.

(d) The Union demands that no retrenchment be made. The Tribunal cannot guarantee the volume of work and therefore this demand cannot be allowed.

Point No. 4—Conditions of service.

(a) The Union demands payment of wages within the first week of the month. This be done.

(b) The demand of the Union is that if the last day of wages falls on a Sunday or holiday, the payment be made on the previous day, i.e., on the 6th. This be done.

(c) The demand of the Union is that the place of work be improved. There is no evidence that the place of work is bad. The demand is refused.

(d) The demand of the Union is that no ill-treatment be meted out to any worker. There is no evidence that the workers are ill-treated. The demand does not require determination.

(e) The Union demands that registers be kept according to law. The attendance register be maintained.

Points Nos. 5 and 6—Pay and dearness allowance.

The demand of the Union is for a flat increment of Rs. 25 per month on account of salary and the increase of dearness allowance from Rs. 10 to Rs. 30 a month.

In determining pay the Tribunal has got to consider the total earnings of the workmen without being exploited by overwork.

This is a factory within the meaning of the Factories Act on account of the existence of electric polishing machines where perhaps half a dozen out of more than 100 men work. According to registration, the firm is a factory and hours of work must be regulated under the Factories Act. For the work which the goldsmiths normally do they have very little bodily exertions, and over and above daylight work one would see in the lanes goldsmith shops and the people working there till late hours of the night. The work to some extent is seasonal and overwork at times is a necessity. The workmen can do this because the bodily exertion is not too much.

In this firm there are more than 100 men. These people would assemble at 10 a.m. and the proprietors, one or two, would assign work for each. The pattern is entrusted to each and explained, the gold would be weighed and then made over to him. This would be done with regard to every individual. Work for considerable time is lost. The workers would then go to their rooms and begin work. They have to work overtime very frequently. This brings them some income which cannot be ruled out altogether because by overtime work they do not wear themselves out and during the fixed period a portion is spent without work.

Either soon before the trouble or after the trouble arose the proprietors increased the wages to an extent which requires very little improvement. Pay and dearness allowance have not been placed on any scientific basis. They give a small amount as dearness allowance and a major portion is maintained as salary. This has been to the advantage of the workers. It would be unfair to keep the wages as they are and increase the dearness allowance because the amount is small. It would also be unfair to the workmen if I divide the total emoluments and treat a part of the substantive salary as dearness allowance. This would be prejudicial to the workmen. What I propose to do is this. I want to fix the total emoluments without disturbing the amount of salary paid to each. The amount that falls short of the total emoluments should be treated as dearness allowance. In view of the opportunities for easy overtime work I have fixed the minimum basic emoluments at Rs. 50 for a workman. The apprentice shall, however, get Rs. 45 for the first three years. If he cannot learn work to be taken as a workman after three years then he need not be retained in service. After three years his total emoluments must not be less than Rs. 50. The total emoluments of no person should be reduced by this award. Salary shall be on daily basis of 26 working days making a month.

Point No. 7—Bonus.

The Union demands a month's wages as bonus on the occasion of Durga Pujah or Id festivals. The employers say that they have this practice and agree to follow it. They say that the payment should be according to the proportion of attendance. This is quite reasonable and should be allowed.

Point No. 8—Provident Fund.

The Company says that there is a Provident Fund which has not been registered and the rules have not been framed. It is directed that the Company shall get the fund registered and frame rules on the lines of Government of India Model Rules.

Point No. 9—Working hours.

The demands of the Union are as follows:—

(a) That the working hours should not exceed 8 hours per day.

(b) Overtime payment at double the normal rate.

Points Nos. 10 and 11—Weekly leave and leave and holidays.

Point No. 12—Involuntary unemployment.

The parties have failed to come to any agreement on this point and as there is no statute in India in case of involuntary unemployment, the employers may retain the services of the artisans in which case they shall have to pay them in full or they may discharge them in the usual way after giving proper notice.

Point No. 13—Medical aid.

The demand was given up at the time of hearing. The Company will follow what is being done now.

Point No. 14—Recognition of the Union.

In view of the change of law, Labour Courts will be soon established which will consider the matters about recognition.

Award.

By Government Order No. 1349Lab., dated the 29th April 1948, this dispute was referred to me for adjudication as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. The history of the dispute is as follows:—

Messrs. Sri Krishna, Limited, is an engineering concern and a member of the Engineering Association of India. Originally, the workers of this Company were affiliated to the Iron Factory Workers' Union of Howrah. By Government Order No. 716Lab., dated the 31st October 1947, industrial disputes between certain engineering concerns constituting members of the Engineering Association of India and the Indian Engineering Association and their workmen as represented by various Unions, including the Iron Factory Workers' Union of Howrah, were referred for adjudication to a Tribunal of three members. The firm of Messrs. Sri Krishna, Ltd., was made a party to that reference as a member of the Engineering Association of India. While that Tribunal was considering the industrial disputes referred to it, the workmen of this Company organised themselves into a new Union known as the Howrah Loha Karigar Union and on 7th January 1948 this Union submitted certain demands to the Company. The Company, however, took no cognisance of the formation of this Union and naturally they took no notice of the demands submitted by the Union on 7th January 1948 because the General Tribunal had been already considering the disputes between the Company and its workmen. Feelings between the Company and its workmen organised under the Loha Karigar Union appear to have been strained and according to the Company, the workmen on the 10th March 1948 demanded a festival holiday on the 11th March 1948 which was the date of the Sivaratri festival. The Company did not comply with this demand. According to the Company, only 20 workers out of a total strength of 56 presented themselves on the 11th and the 12th March. On the 13th March the workers of the General Casting Shop and Pan Moulding Section, after having charged the furnace with the molten material, suddenly struck work at 12 noon with the result that the whole material got damaged causing loss to the Company. The Union's case, however, is that on the 11th and the 12th March 1948 the workmen of the Moulding Section did all the preliminary work of the moulding but the Company did not allow them to mould. The workmen of the Moulding Section are paid on the piece-rate basis and the general rule is that if there is no moulding the workmen should not get any payment. According to the Union, what happened on the 13th March was that some workmen of the Moulding Section approached an officer of the Company demanding payment for the work done on the 11th and the 12th March. This was refused and finally, according to the Union, the said officer, with the help of the Darwans, pushed the workmen of the Moulding Section out of the factory. On the next working day (15th March 1948) the Company put up a notice that the Management took a serious view of the behaviour of the workmen of the Moulding Section and demanded written assurance from such workmen that they would not in future act in the manner they did. According to the Union, the workmen of the Moulding Section were not actually allowed to enter the factory on that date and on the following days, but, according to the Company, the workmen picketed at the gates of the factory and did not allow even the willing workmen to enter the factory. The Company also alleged that some violence had taken place and that the police were informed. Eventually on the 19th March the Company declared a formal lock-out. The lock-out continued until the reference of this dispute to the Tribunal and for some days thereafter. On the 13th May 1948 the Company put up a notice declaring the factory open and calling upon the workmen to resume work by the 15th of May. The period was extended subsequently up to the 22nd May and some workers joined.

In the Government Order No. 1349, dated 29th April 1948, the dispute referred to me was described as a dispute concerning the incidents which took place in the factory between the 13th and the 16th March 1948. As would appear from the above history of the dispute, there was a good deal of difference between the Company and its workmen as to the nature of the said incidents. The Company alleged that the workmen of the Moulding Section suddenly and without any notice struck work on the 13th March and thereafter prevented other workmen from entering the factory by picketing. According to the Company, the incidents amounted to an illegal strike, while, according to the workmen, what took place on the 13th March was that the workmen of the Moulding Section were turned out of the factory and thereafter prevented from entering into the factory by the Company. The workmen, therefore, maintained that the incidents amounted to an illegal lock-out. Whether it was a strike or a lock-out was the point to be decided by the Tribunal and the next point for decision was whether the strike or the lock-out was illegal. The issue was framed accordingly. There was a further issue as to whether the workmen of the Moulding Section were entitled to wages for the 11th and 12th March and for the subsequent period.

Happily the Company and the workmen have arrived at an agreement and it is not necessary for me to decide and pronounce upon the nature of the incidents which took place in the factory between 13th and 16th March 1948. An agreement has been filed, signed by Sri S. K. Asthana, Labour and Welfare Officer of the Engineering Association of India, who represented the Company before me and by Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, Pleader, who represented the Loha Karigar Union. This agreement contains four clauses which are set out below:—

(1) Fourteen days' wages should be paid by the Company to the workers who have lost their wages for a period of over two months since the 13th of March 1948 and who had joined work on or before the 25th May 1948 and are still in the service of the Company, as a gesture of goodwill for restoration of friendly and happy relations between the Company and its workers.

(2) The Company will take in its employment the following workers provided they turn up to join their duties by the 30th July 1948, namely, (1) Jamini and (2) Kanai, if it is confirmed that they were actually in the service of the Company in the second week of March 1948 and had stopped work on the 13th of that month. Jadu Pandey, another worker, shall also be taken back without payment of any wages for the abovementioned fourteen days.

(3) The whole period of suspension of work should be treated as leave without pay without involving break in the service of the employees who had been staying out.

(4) It is further agreed that the above conditions will resolve all the existing differences between the parties on the day of signing of this agreement. The date of signature is 28th July 1948.

I congratulate both the Company and the Union on this happy settlement of all their differences concerning the incidents which took place between 13th and 16th of March and subsequently until the workmen joined work, and I propose to make an award in terms of the agreement as set out above in full. I shall only add that since the workmen of the Moulding Section are not paid at daily rates but at piece-rates, their wages should be calculated on the basis of the average of their daily earnings during the period of four weeks before the 13th of March 1948. I give this direction to clear up the position since the first clause of the agreement mentions only 14 days' wages without mentioning any method of calculation of the daily wages of the piece-rate workers. My award, accordingly, is that the dispute be settled in terms of the agreement already mentioned, subject to the directions given above regarding calculation of wages of the piece-rate workers.

In conclusion, I hope that the gesture made by the Company will be appreciated by the workers and that it will restore good feelings between the Company and its workmen leading to the progress of the industry and of all concerned.

ANNEXURE.

BEFORE SRI S. C. DUTTA GUPTA, Chairman, Tribunal.

In the matter of a dispute between K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Lines, 27, Dalhousie Square, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Airways Workers' Union, 92, Cornwallis Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

Sri K. N. Choudhury, Petitioner—for himself.

Sri S. K. Mallik, Solicitor—for the Company.

By Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department (Labour), Order No. 1874Lab., dated the 8th June 1948, the dispute between K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Lines, 27, Dalhousie Square, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Airways Workers' Union, 92, Cornwallis Street, Calcutta, in connection with the case of Sri Khagendra Nath Choudhury was referred to me under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, for adjudication.

Written statements by Sri Khagendra Nath Choudhury and K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Lines were filed. The adjudication of the dispute under the terms of reference was limited to the question of reinstatement of Sri Khagendra Nath Choudhury in service and his pay for the period after his discharge.

The issue framed is whether Khagendra Nath Choudhury is entitled to reinstatement and/or any other relief.

The petitioner Choudhury was appointed in Messrs. K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Lines as a mechanic on the 15th June 1947 on a monthly salary or allowance of Rs. 150-8, which was reduced to Rs. 130 per month from 1st July 1947 but again raised to Rs. 152-4 per month in September 1947. His first appointment was as a probationer, the period of probation being according to him two months but according to the Company three months. The petitioner's case is that at the time of his appointment he was assured that he would be allowed an increment of 50 per cent. on the pay on confirmation. The Company denies having given any such assurance to him. The complaint of the petitioner is that at the Dum Dum Air Port he had to work mostly from 12 to 14 hours continually, even on holidays and Sundays, without any day off in the week and that he was neither allowed any overtime allowance nor any traffic facility for taking meal at home. Because of these grievances he, as he alleges, was inspired to form a Union amongst the workers of the Company under the name and title of K. L. M. Workers' Union and after its formation on the 1st of December 1947 made it affiliated to the Airways Workers' Union in the 1st week of December 1947 and became its Secretary. It is his case that having the smell of the existence of the Union the employers called the workers in the name of Workers' Welfare Meeting and asked them to put their grievances before them on the 11th of December 1947. The petitioner Choudhury in that meeting on behalf of the workers alleges having asked for food allowance in the scale which the Anglo-Indian staffs were getting. The employers, however, did not agree to the proposal and the meeting was dissolved. His complaint against the Company is that at its instance the police came to arrest him in the afternoon on the 11th December 1947 on a charge of having in his possession fire-arms, which however on investigation was found to be without any foundation. On the 12th December 1947, the petitioner alleges having been told when he was out for work that he had been served with a notice by post about the termination of his service. This notice was received by him on the 14th of December 1947. Thereafter he approached the Dutch Consul General and started some negotiations and approached the Labour Commissioner also, but having failed to get any relief at the hands of the Company brought the matter to the Tribunal.

The Company denied having had any knowledge of the existence of the K. L. M. Workers' Union and of the names of its members and Secretary. According to the Company, a weekly meeting of all K. L. M. employees at Calcutta Air Port used to be held every Thursday morning with a view to discuss inter alia the difficulties and grievances, if any, of the employees. It was on one of such meetings held on the 11th of December 1947 that the petitioner Choudhury asked for an increase in salary, dearness allowance and food allowance of the mechanics, to which the Company could not agree, and as the petitioner refused to work until the increase asked for was given the Company was compelled to terminate his services on that very day. So the Company claims that it is not liable for any compensation to the petitioner. The jurisdiction of the Tribunal to go into the question of reinstatement has also been assailed on behalf of the Company. The gist of the grievance of Sri Khagendra Nath Choudhury is that he has been victimised on account of his Union activities and that the Company has been guilty of having taken recourse to unfair labour practice.

As regards the question of jurisdiction of the Tribunal, it has been contended by Mr. Mallik, the Solicitor for the Company, that the Industrial Disputes Act does not empower the Tribunal to direct reinstatement as, according to him, reinstatement does not come within the definition of industrial dispute. He further maintained that the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, does not supersede any other enactment and the parties to a contract have the unfettered right to enter into it under the common law save as modified by the Contract Act. Thus he maintained that in the absence of anything in the Industrial Disputes Act conferring specific jurisdiction to the Tribunal to grant reinstatement, that jurisdiction cannot be assumed.

Section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, defines "industrial dispute" as any dispute which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment of any person. The question of reinstatement arises when the employment of a worker has been terminated for whatever cause it may be. This implies that the question is connected with the question of employment or non-employment of a person. In this view it appears that the question of reinstatement is an industrial dispute. Section 15 of the Act lays down that where an industrial dispute has been referred to a Tribunal for adjudication, it shall hold its proceedings and submit its award to the Government and on receipt of such award the Government shall declare the award to be binding. Section 17 provides that the award of a Tribunal shall, within a period of one month from the date of its receipt by the Government, be published in such manner as it thinks fit. Under section 18 of the Act an award which is declared by the Government to be binding under section 15 shall be binding on all parties to the industrial dispute, and under section 19(3) of the Act an award declared by the Government to be binding shall remain in operation for such period not exceeding one year as may be fixed by the Government. The scheme of the Act thus makes it clear that the Tribunal has jurisdiction over all matters coming within the definition of industrial dispute. In this connection Mr. Mallik relied on the case of R. vs. National Arbitration Tribunal, Ex-parte Horatio Crowther & Co., Ltd., reported in All-England Law Reports, 1947, Vol. II, Part 18. The case was decided by Lord Goddard C. J., Humphreys and Croom-Johnson J. J. of the King's Bench Division. The question raised in that case was whether the National Arbitration Order vested the National Arbitration Tribunal with jurisdiction to direct reinstatement in the case of a discharge. The decision was that the Tribunal had not that jurisdiction. This decision was based on the ground that there are no express words either in the Regulations, 1939, Regulation 58AA or in the conditions of Employment and National Arbitration Order, 1940, which in terms give the Tribunal any power to reinstate, and that there is no provision in the Order imposing a penalty on the employer if he refuses after the award to re-employ the men. It is to be noticed that by the Order and the Regulation express powers to add to or alter the terms or conditions of the contract of service are given to the Tribunal. While powers of the Tribunal were defined under the Order with regard to certain matters, the absence of specific provision therein regarding the powers of the Tribunal to direct reinstatement must be construed to have excluded its jurisdiction in that behalf to grant reinstatement. As nowhere in the Industrial Disputes Act the powers of the Tribunal had been defined though mandatory provision has been made therein that it has to submit its award in relation to a dispute referred to it, it cannot but be taken that the Tribunal has jurisdiction on all matters in an industrial dispute unless such jurisdiction has been taken away by any specific provision with regard to any particular question. According to the preamble to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the intention of the Legislature is to provide for the investigation and settlement of industrial disputes. So when an industrial dispute arises on the question of reinstatement of an employee because of his non-employment, the Act in view of its preamble cannot be interpreted to have excluded such a dispute from the Tribunal's jurisdiction. While in England there is no provision for enforcing an award for reinstatement, there is provision under section 29 of the Industrial Disputes Act for penalty for breach of any term of an award of the Tribunal. The decision in the case under reference does not seem to have application on the question of reinstatement in an industrial dispute here. The absence of a method of compelling obedience of the award appears to have been the principal reason for Lord Goddard C. J. to lay down that the Tribunal had no jurisdiction to direct reinstatement as he himself expressed that if there was and could be no reason of enforcing the award it was a cogent, if not a compelling, reason for saying that the Tribunal had no power to award it. As I have already pointed out, there is no such difficulty with regard to the Industrial Disputes Act which provides for penalty in case of breach of an award.

Mr. Mallik further argued that assuming that the Tribunal has jurisdiction to direct reinstatement, no power has been vested in it for implementation of its award. He went on to say that even after the award of reinstatement the employer may put in the name of the worker in the roll and without giving him any work immediately discharge him again after giving him one month's salary. On principle, Mr. Mallik maintained, an employer cannot be asked to retain an employee for any period, say for one year or six months, as during such a period the employee may go slow, be guilty of misconduct or even the business concern may be wound up. When an employer, according to Mr. Mallik, gives proper notice of one month he is protected, whereas the award under section 19(3) of the Industrial Disputes Act is to be binding between the parties and is to remain in operation for such period not exceeding one year as may be fixed by the Government. Such a position, according to Mr. Mallik, would lead to anomalies. To my mind the simple reply to this argument is that a Tribunal should not omit to remove an existing injustice as far as possible merely because it may be repeated in future. The arguments put forth therefore do not induce me to hold that the Tribunal having jurisdiction in this particular matter should not exercise it because of the difficulties pointed out. I must, however, observe that it is well recognised that in any organisation the employer must have the inherent right to discharge unsuitable workmen and an outside authority will never interfere unless it is clearly shown that the employer has abused his powers. When the employer has taken recourse to unfair labour practice and the employee has been victimised, the latter may successfully invoke the aid of the Tribunal for his reinstatement. Unfair labour practice has been defined in the Indian Trade Union's Act, 1926. In section 28K of the Act it has been laid down that to discharge or otherwise discriminate against any officer of a recognised trade union because of his being such officer, shall be deemed to be an unfair practice on the part of an employer. Victimisation implies the case of an employee who has been dismissed because of the part taken by him in union activities. The Tribunal has jurisdiction to direct reinstatement, but such jurisdiction should not be exercised in favour of the employee until and unless it has been shown that the employee has been victimised and the employer has been guilty of unfair labour practice. It is obvious that the onus is upon the employee to show that the action taken against him was unjust and due to some ulterior motive because of the part taken by him in trade union matters.

From what has been observed above it is clear that it is for the petitioner to prove that the order of his discharge is unjust and was due to the ulterior motive of the employers to put down trade union activities. In this connection I must say that he has failed to establish any of these factors. There is no evidence on record to corroborate his statement that he has been victimised. His case is that a union of the name and title of K. L. M. Workers' Union was formed on the 1st of December 1947 with him as Secretary and that it was affiliated with the Airways Workers' Union in the first week of December 1947. His further case is that somehow or other the employers came to know of it and that as a result he was discharged with a notice received by him through post on the 14th of December 1947. Captain Bukers, who was the Operational Manager of the K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Lines and under whom the petitioner was an aircraft mechanic, is positive that he came to know of the K. L. M. Workers' Union for the first time about the end of December 1947. He testifies that even now he does not know who the members of the Union are. Captain Bukers can have no personal grudge against the petitioner. The charge that the dismissal of the petitioner was an act of victimisation must in the circumstances of the case have to be ruled out. On the other hand, the positive evidence on record afforded by Captain Bukers is that in the welfare meeting on the 11th of December 1947 the petitioner brought the matter of increase of salary and food allowance to discussion. The petitioner put forth some reasons for his claim in that meeting but this could not be accepted by the Management. On the other hand Captain Bukers on behalf of the Management offered two alternatives to the aircraft mechanics, viz., (a) they were to continue on the then existing rate of pay; or (b) they were to get themselves trained as licensed mechanics and after they had got license they might be allowed higher pay after a fresh probationary period. Neither of these alternatives was, however, acceptable to the mechanics and as the petitioner refused to work until the increase asked for was given, the Company was compelled to terminate his service on that day. The explanation of the petitioner that if he had refused to work he would have done that in writing and would not have brought this case for reinstatement does not appeal to me. There is yet dearth of aircraft mechanics here and it was probably the fond hope of the petitioner that his qualification and experience might entitle him to dictate terms and bring the Company to agree to them. He was apparently in error about his estimate of the future and had to face his discharge. The discharge cannot be attributed to any unfair labour practice on the part of the Management. In the circumstances I see no way to give any award for reinstatement of the petitioner though I feel how hard it is for a technician to remain out of employment, particularly in these difficult days. But as a Tribunal cannot take action merely on grounds of sentiment divorced from merits in the case, I am unable to give any award of reinstatement in favour of the petitioner.

It appears that in the letter, dated the 11th December 1947, which the Company addressed to the petitioner, it was admitted that he would be entitled to salary up to the 11th January 1948 and food allowance up to the 11th December 1947. The petitioner is free to take payment of these dues in time from the Company.

At the time of hearing the petitioner alleged that he worked as a Ground Engineer for some time in the Company and in support of his contention produced three slips which he had signed in October and November 1947 before the aircrafts were allowed to fly. The slips show that these are to be signed by the Ground Engineer, but the petitioner signed them for the Ground Engineer in his absence. These slips therefore are not enough for proving that he was a Ground Engineer. Whatever that may be that does not affect the merit of the case and is not relevant to the issue. Besides the payment which the petitioner is free to receive as observed above, no other relief can be accorded to him under this award.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Management of Victoria Steam Rope Works, 88, College Road, Howrah, and their workmen as represented by the Victoria Steam Rope Works Mazdoor Union, 164, Andul Road, post office Botanical Garden, Howrah.

PRESENT: SRI P. K. SARKAR, Judge, Industrial Disputes Tribunal.

Present for the Company—Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri M. N. Mallik and Sri P. Mallik.

AWARD.

By Government Order No. 1695Lab., dated the 26th May 1948, the above industrial dispute was referred to me for adjudication as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. I gave notice to the parties and the Victoria Steam Rope Works Mazdoor Union, which will hereafter be referred to as the Union, filed written statement on 5th June 1948. Messrs. S. C. Mallick & Co., proprietors of the Victoria Steam Rope Works, filed written statement on 15th June 1948. Issues were framed on 24th June 1948 and the case was heard on two days, namely, 12th July 1948 and 20th July 1948.

The Victoria Steam Rope Works is a private Company making ropes. The proprietors also constitute a private Company known as S. C. Mallick & Co. It is a family business confined to the members of the Mallick family. It is a small concern employing only 54 workers. It employs certain machineries which, I am told, are somewhat antiquated and require overhauling and renovation. The Union is a registered body constituted in 1946. It appears from a statement filed by the Company that the Union submitted certain demands on 21st November 1946 and in consequence there was some increase in the wages by agreement on 23rd December 1946. On 17th June 1947 the Union submitted further demands which were also settled by an agreement on 15th July 1947 and the basic wage was fixed at Rs. 25 and dearness allowance at Rs. 15 per month. There was a further demand on 12th November 1947 which has given rise to the present dispute. As the Labour

Commissioner failed to settle the dispute by conciliation the dispute was referred to the Tribunal. The Company has, however, stated that on 7th April 1948 there was an agreement with the Secretary of the Union regarding the question of wages, which formed one of the demands, and a copy of that agreement has been filed. The present demands of the Union will be found from the following issues:—

Issues.

(1) Fixation of basic wages and grades for (i) unskilled worker, (ii) skilled worker, (iii) clerks, (iv) menials.

(2) Dearness allowance.

(3) Gratuity; provident fund; family pension.

(4) Leave—(i) privilege leave, (ii) casual leave, (iii) sick leave, (iv) festival holidays.

(5) Abolition or revision of the piece-rate system.

(7) Conditions of service—(i) permanency after three months' service, (ii) compensation for involuntary unemployment, (iii) late attendance and period of grace, (iv) dismissal and retrenchment, (v) suspension, (vi) service card, (vii) standing orders.

(8) Free quarters for workers.

(9) Cheap canteen.

(10) Maternity benefit for women workers.

(11) Bonus—(i) profit sharing, (ii) attendance, (iii) production.

(12) Recognition of the Union.

I shall now proceed to consider the issues one by one and give my award upon them.

Issues Nos. 1 and 2.—Fixation of basic wages and grades and dearness allowance.

The demand of the Union is that the basic pay of an unskilled worker should be fixed at Rs. 40 per month and the grade should be Rs. 40—2—60. As regards the skilled workers, the demand is for a grade of Rs. 60—3—90. For the mistri a higher salary of Rs. 70 and a grade of Rs. 70—3—100 has been demanded. Grades were also demanded for senior and junior clerks, darwans, peons, bearers and sweepers, but I find that the Company employs only one clerk and has no separate categories of darwans, peons, bearers and sweepers. At the time of hearing the demand for fixation of pay for such categories of staff was not pressed. From the statement filed by the Company containing the names of all its 54 workers and the wages and dearness allowance paid to them, as calculated per month, it appears that the Company employs 47 permanent workers and 7 temporary workers. The workers have been divided into two categories, namely, skilled and unskilled. The minimum wage paid to an unskilled worker is Rs. 28-0-6 per month and the maximum is Rs. 33-5. The minimum of a skilled worker is Rs. 35-12 and the maximum is Rs. 59-5 which is paid to the mechanic. The wages are of course paid weekly and calculated on daily rates, but in the statement they have been shown at monthly rates, one month being taken to be equivalent to 26 working days. The dearness allowance is paid at a flat rate of Rs. 20 per month to all kinds of workers.

I have already referred to the agreement between the Company and the Union, dated 7th April 1948. The copy of this agreement which has been produced shows that after discussing the demands submitted by the Union on 12th November 1947, the Secretary of the Union and the Management of the Company agreed that with effect from the 1st of March 1948 the basic wages of all categories of workers should be increased at the rate of 2 annas daily and that the minimum basic wage should be fixed at Rs. 28-4. They further agreed that the dearness allowance should be increased by Rs. 5 and fixed at Rs. 20. The agreement was signed by Sri Radha Kanta Mallick for the Company and by Janab S. R. Ali, Secretary, for the Union. The Union has been represented before me by Janab S. R. Ali and he has not denied the agreement. His position is that he had subscribed to this agreement on behalf of the workers as an interim measure in order to pacify the workers, and that he did not intend it to be a final settlement. No doubt, this agreement related only to the question of wages and dearness allowance and there was no settlement regarding other demands submitted by the Union on 12th November 1947. The Company raised no objection to the other demands being considered by the Tribunal, but Mr. Sen, appearing for the Company, has strongly objected to the questions of wages and dearness allowance being considered by the Tribunal in view of the agreement and has also contended that the Union cannot be permitted to resile from the agreement. As I have already stated, the agreement specifically recites that the increase in wages and dearness allowance would take effect from March 1948 and there is no question that the Company has implemented the agreement and raised the wages and the dearness allowance of all workers in terms thereof with effect from 1st March 1948. As already stated, the minimum wage which is being paid to the workers is Rs. 28 and the dearness allowance paid to all workers is Rs. 20 per month. There is nothing in the agreement to show that it was an interim measure or that the wages would be open to further revision by the Tribunal that might be set up. Nor is there any indication in the agreement that it was not a final settlement of the dispute regarding the wages and the dearness allowance. This agreement had been concluded long before the reference of the dispute to the Tribunal. The date of the agreement is 7th April 1948 and the date of the Government order referring the dispute to the Tribunal is 26th May 1948. The agreement is therefore binding on the Union and I agree with the contention of Mr. Sen that the agreement cannot be reopened by the Tribunal and the questions of wages and dearness allowance considered afresh.

As regards dearness allowance, however, the Union has contended before me that since the dearness allowance should be fixed on the basis of the cost of living index, the Tribunal should consider the question afresh in spite of the agreement and fix the dearness allowance on the basis of the present cost of living index. I cannot, however, agree to this contention. It is a binding agreement which has been implemented by the Company with effect from March 1948 and the Tribunal should also give effect to it. I may mention also that the Company's present financial position is not such that it can bear the burden of payment of dearness allowance based on the cost of living index and it is most likely that the dearness allowance was fixed at Rs. 20 per month in consideration of its financial position. The Company has not filed any balance sheet, and I am told that not being a limited Company it does not get its accounts audited. It has, however, filed statements of accounts from 1351 to 1354 B.S. and also produced its account books. The statement of accounts for 1354 B.S. shows a loss amounting to Rs. 1,539-3. Thus, in view of the present financial position, I do not think that any further increase is possible or desirable over the rates fixed in the agreement freely entered into by the Secretary of the Union only three months ago. My award, therefore, is that the minimum basic wage for the unskilled workers should be fixed at Rs. 28-4 per month as in the agreement and that the dearness allowance of all categories of workers should be fixed at Rs. 20 per month. The minimum wage at present paid is Rs. 28-0-6 per month. It should be Rs. 28-4 as in the agreement and daily rates should be calculated on this basis.

The Union next pleaded that there should be a grade for each category of workers, namely, the skilled and the unskilled, and that since there is nothing in the agreement barring the fixation of such grades, the Tribunal should fix them and provide for annual increments. Mr. Sen stated that the Company had no objection to grades being fixed on the basis of the minimum wage fixed by the agreement. As I have already stated, the unskilled workers get the minimum wage of Rs. 28 and odd and the maximum wage of Rs. 33-5. The difference between the minimum and the maximum is Rs. 5 and odd. I think, therefore, that it will be sufficient if the grade of the unskilled workers be fixed at Rs. 28-4 rising by annual increments of 8 annas to Rs. 33-4. The Central Pay Commission provided for annual increments of 8 annas in the case of unskilled workers. The grade is accordingly fixed as follows:—Rs. 28¼—½—33¼. As regards the skilled workers, the minimum is Rs. 35-12 and the maximum is Rs. 59-5. The maximum is paid to the mechanic or mistri for whom, as already stated, the Union demanded a separate grade. I fix the grade for the skilled workers at Rs. 35 rising by annual increments of Re. 1 to Rs. 55, i.e., Rs. 35—1—55. For the mechanic the grade is fixed at Rs. 55—1—65.

In order to give effect to these grades the annas in the wage-rates of the skilled workers, as mentioned in the statement of the Company, should be raised to the nearest rupee. Thus Rs. 35-12 should be raised to Rs. 36, Rs. 36-9 to Rs. 37, Rs. 39-13 to Rs. 40, Rs. 41-7 to Rs. 42, Rs. 42-4 to Rs. 43, Rs. 43-1 to Rs. 44, Rs. 45-1-6 to Rs. 46, Rs. 49-9 to Rs. 50 and Rs. 54-7 to Rs. 55. Similarly the existing rates of wages of the unskilled workers calculated in annas should be slightly revised so as to fit in with the grade fixed for the unskilled workers. Thus, the wage-rate of Rs. 28-0-6 should be raised to Rs. 28-4 as already directed, Rs. 28-7 to Rs. 28-12, Rs. 30-14 to Rs. 31-4, Rs. 31-11 to Rs. 31-12, Rs. 32-8 to Rs. 32-12. These existing rates have been taken from the statement of the Company. As regards the maximum rate of Rs. 33-5, those who are getting this wage should continue to get it but the maximum for those who are getting less than this rate should be fixed at Rs 33-4 according to the grade. The present pay of the mechanic which is Rs. 59-5 should be fixed at Rs. 60 in order to fit in with the grade of Rs. 55—1—65. It appears from the statement that some of the workers who have put in long years of service are not getting similar or uniform wages or are getting the wages of new entrants. In order to do away with these anomalies, special increments at the rate of one increment in the scale fixed for every three completed years of service should be given to all permanent workers. This will not, however, affect the pay of those who are already getting more than what they would have got in consequence of this special increment. Some of the unskilled workers are already getting the maximum of the grade. It is, however, expected that they will get opportunities to be promoted to the category of skilled workers, according to the skill acquired by them. The matter of promotion is, however, left to the discretion of the Company. Of the 7 temporary workers 6 are unskilled and are getting Rs. 28-0-6. They will get Rs. 28-4 and after being made permanent will get the benefit of the proposed grade. The seventh temporary worker is a skilled one getting Rs. 35-12. His wage will be raised to Rs. 36 and he will get the benefit of the grade of the skilled workers on being made permanent.

There is only one clerk, Sri Binode Samanta, who is getting a pay of Rs. 43-12 per month with Rs. 20 as dearness allowance. His grade is fixed at Rs. 45—2—65 and his present pay should be raised to Rs. 45. The proposed grades for the different categories of workers will take effect from 1st August 1948 or any other date that the Government may appoint. Directions given for the fitting of the existing workers in the proposed grades will also be operative from that date.

As I have already stated, this is a very small concern employing only 54 workers and the Company is not even a private limited Company. It is difficult for a Company like this to start any Provident Fund scheme and to operate it. The Union also does not press for a Provident Fund scheme. So far as the question of pension is concerned, that is also not feasible in a concern like this. The Union pressed that a gratuity scheme should be introduced for the benefit of the retiring workers. Mr. Sen, on behalf of the Company, pleaded inability to introduce any gratuity scheme in the near future in view of the financial difficulties. The Company has no reserve fund. Its machineries are badly in need of overhauling and renovation and I am told that this is not being done for want of fund. It has sustained loss in the past year amounting to Rs. 1,539-3. Taking all these facts into consideration I do not think that the Company is able at present to start any gratuity scheme. There does not also seem any prospect of any worker of the Company retiring in course of the year during which the award will be in operation. I have, however, been assured by the Management that if there be any case of premature retirement of any worker on account of ill health or otherwise, the Management will consider favourably any claim for gratuity or compensation that may be advanced. Under the circumstances, the claim for a gratuity scheme is rejected for the present. The demands for pension and Provident Fund are also rejected

Issue No. 4.—Leave—(i) privilege leave, (ii) casual leave, (iii) sick leave and (iv) festival holidays.

The Company allows four festival holidays in a year, namely, two days during Durga Puja, one day for Holi and one day for Bisvakarma Puja. The Union has not demanded any more festival holidays. As regards leave, the Union demanded one month's privilege leave, 15 days' casual leave and 30 days' sick leave—15 days with full pay and 15 days with half pay every year. The Company allows 10 days' holidays according to the Factories Act. There was, however, no objection to the granting of privilege leave with full pay for 15 days including 10 days' holidays under the Factories Act, according to the award of the Tribunal appointed to decide disputes relating to certain engineering concerns which has been published in the Calcutta Gazette (extraordinary), dated the 3rd July 1948. I think that 15 days' privilege leave with pay including 10 days' holidays under the Factories Act is quite sufficient and I see no justification for the demand for one month's privilege leave. The demand for casual leave was rejected by the Tribunal for Engineering Industries and I think that the same demand should also be rejected in this case. As regards sick leave the Company objected to the demand. For reasons mentioned in the award of the Engineering Industries Tribunal already referred to, I think that 15 days' sick leave on half pay should be allowed until the Employees' State Insurance Act comes into operation. My award, accordingly, is that the workers should get 15 days' privilege leave with full pay in a year including 10 days' holidays under the Factories Act and 15 days' sick leave with half pay until the Employees' State Insurance Act comes into operation. Sick leave will be granted on production of medical certificate from a registered medical practitioner. Sick leave and privilege leave will be allowed to accumulate for two years.

Issue No. 5.—Abolition or revision of the piece-rate system.

I understand that there are six women who do splicing work for the factory on piece-rates which vary from 3 annas 6 pies to 12 annas for different bundles of coirs. No objection was taken at the time of hearing to the rates but it was urged that this system of getting the work done on contract system should be abolished. These women are not regular workers of the factory. The husbands of most of these women are employed in the factory and four of them are housed therein. The representatives of the Company stated that these women cannot be treated as regular and permanent workers of the factory and that if abolition of the system is demanded they can get the splicing done in the Madras Presidency from where they import coirs. I do not see any urgent necessity for abolition of the present system of getting these works done through the wives of the workers of the Company. This is a kind of work for which women are specially fitted and they can add to the family budget by working in this manner. It does not appear that their condition will improve if they are taken into the factory as regular and permanent workers. In that case they will have to work as whole-time workers for the entire period. This will certainly be inconvenient to them. They are not asked to work in the factory nor is there any time fixed for such work. They are not required to attend at any fixed hour in the factory, according to the representatives of the Company. The Union representatives stated that the women generally attend at 7 a.m. when the factory opens and go at 4 p.m. but it is also admitted that they go earlier if the work is finished. If any of them works till 4 p.m. the reason may be that she wants to earn more than others. In any case, there is no obligation upon any of them to work full time. The present system is more to their benefit and I find no reason to abolish it. There is also nothing to show that the rates given to these women are unfair. This demand is therefore rejected.

Issue No. 6.—Medical arrangements.

The Company has made arrangements with the Medical Officer of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway charitable dispensary at Shalimar, which is situated by the side of the factory, for treating the employees in cases of accident and illness. In view of the very small number of workers engaged in the factory, this arrangement seems to be sufficient.

Issue No. 7.—Conditions of service.

(i) Permanency.—The Union demanded that employees should be made permanent after completion of three months' service. The Company has no objection to that. As I have already stated, there are only seven temporary workers in the factory. The Company has agreed to make permanent those amongst these temporary workers who have put in three months' service before the reference to the Tribunal These temporary workers should automatically be considered permanent as soon as this award comes into force. For the future, those who have put in three months' service to the satisfaction of the Management should be made permanent.

(ii) Compensation for involuntary unemployment.—The Union demanded that compensation should be paid to every worker who is forced by the Company to take leave. It is also demanded that a worker who has attended the factory in time and is prepared to work full day should not be deprived by the Company of the full days' pay on the ground of insufficiency of work. Mr. Sen, on behalf of the Company, intimated that the Company was prepared to abide by the award of the Engineering Industries Tribunal, already referred to, in the matter of involuntary unemployment. I accordingly direct in terms of that award that when a worker attends in time and is prepared to work full factory hours, the Company should provide full work for him and should give him full day's wages. He should on no account be deprived of full day's wages on the ground of insufficiency of work or sent away after a few hours' work. In the event of involuntary unemployment on account of breakdown of machinery or such other cause which prevents work being given to the workers, compensation should be paid to them at the rate of half the total remuneration including pay and dearness allowance payable to such workers, for a period of 30 days in each half year from January to June and July to December. To qualify for the unemployment benefit, the worker must answer to a muster roll once a day at his usual place of employment, and a worker must be prepared to do work even of a different sort in his factory or in any other establishment under the same employers and, if he refuses to do so, he will be ineligible for the benefit. If the period of stoppage of work extends beyond 30 days in any half year, no further compensation will be payable to the workmen. But unless they quit by giving necessary notice, they will be entitled to resume their posts as soon as the work of the Company starts again. This will not, however, affect the right of the employer to discharge the workers at any time, if he is satisfied that the period of stoppage of work is likely to be long.

(iii) Late attendance and the period of grace.—The Union demanded that 15 minutes' grace should be given to all workers for late attendance. This is an unreasonable demand. The Company actually allows 5 minutes' grace twice a week. Mr. Sen intimated that the Company was agreeable to adopt on the point the award of the Engineering Industries Tribunal. I direct according to that award that a grace period of 5 minutes on two separate days or 10 minutes on a single day in a week should be allowed to a worker who is late in attendance and that if he is late by half an hour, he should be permitted to enter the factory, but that the pay for half an hour should be deducted from his wages, subject to the grace period already mentioned. A worker who is more than half an hour late shall not be permitted to enter the factory except with the permission of the Management.

(iv), (v), (vi), (vii) Dismissal and retrenchment, suspension, service card and standing orders.—The Company has not adopted any standing orders regarding retrenchment, dismissal, suspension and service card. As the Company employs less than 100 workers, the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act of 1946 does not apply to it. It is, however, necessary that there should be some rules on these matters which should be adopted by the Company. In the event of retrenchment or dismissal on grounds other than misconduct, a month's notice or a month's pay in lieu of notice should be given to a monthly paid worker and a week's notice or a week's pay in lieu thereof to a weekly paid worker. In a case of misconduct entailing dismissal or suspension, a written charge sheet should be drawn up and a copy of it should be given to the employee concerned and he should be given an opportunity of showing cause against the charge before being dismissed or suspended. Suspension by way of punishment should be limited to 4 days in a wage period and the maximum fine which may be imposed in a wage period should be according to section 8, sub-section (4) of the Payment of Wages Act. The Union demanded that it should be consulted in all cases of retrenchment, dismissal and suspension. Such a direction cannot be given as the Union has not been recognised. It may be to the advantage of the employers to inform the Union beforehand of any proposal for retrenchment which may be justified by the condition of the factory at any time and if the Union is recognised, this can easily be done. I do not, however, want to give any binding direction on the point but leave it to the discretion of the Company. As regards service cards, it is stated by the Union that there are anomalies therein which should be corrected and it has been demanded that the full length of service of a worker should be correctly recorded therein. If there are any such anomalies, the Company should have the service cards revised and brought up to date. As regards the length of service of the workers, the Company has mentioned the date of commencement of service of every worker in its employment along with the period of break in service, if any, in the statement filed before the Tribunal and this should satisfy the workers.

Issue No. 8.—Free quarters.

According to the representatives of the Company, out of 54 workers employed in the factory 33 live in quarters inside the factory. These quarters are mud-walled thatched houses which have been constructed and provided by the Company. Four of such workers live with their families and their wives do spliciing work, already referred to, on contract basis. The workers who live in the factory are not local men but mostly Biharis and Orias. They have not to pay anything for the occupation of these quarters. The rest of the workers live in their own houses near the factory excepting about five men who come from a distance. The Union has demanded free family quarters for all workers and in lieu thereof quarter or house rent allowance at the rates of Rs. 10 to Rs. 20 per month. The demand for free family quarters to be provided by the Company is certainly unreasonable and housing of workers is not the obligation of the employer but of the State. What the Company has done for its workers by providing free accommodation for about 60 per cent. of its workers is certainly laudable and ought to be considered sufficient. The workers who have not been so provided are generally local men who live in their own houses in the villages near about the factory. They cannot, therefore, be said to be in need of housing accommodation at all. Those who are in such need, namely, the Biharis and the Orias, have been provided with accommodation. Such workers, it is well known, generally leave their families at their homes and live alone in their places of employment. In these circumstances, the demand of the Union is most unreasonable. The Company's representatives are agreeable to provide free accommodation inside the factory for other deserving workers who have not got accommodation elsewhere. This is also a commendable offer and the workers who are in genuine need of accommodation may take advantage of it. The quarters are, however, said to be in bad condition and to need repairs. The Company's representatives have undertaken to carry out all necessary repairs. I accordingly direct that such repairs should be carried out within two months from the date of enforcement of the award. The Company pleads inability to pay any house rent to the workers for whom accommodation has not been provided on the ground of financial difficulties. As I have already stated, I consider the demand of the Union for such allowance as unreasonable. The demand is accordingly rejected.

Issue No. 9.—Cheap canteen.

As I have already stated in connection with the previous issue, the workers mostly live inside the factory or in their own houses near about the factory. The hours of work in the factory are from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. with one hour's break for meal between 11 a.m. and 12 noon. The Company's representatives state that during this hour the workers go to their homes inside the factory or near about the factory and take their meals there. Hence, it is pointed out, there is no need for cheap canteen in the factory. It is further stated by the Company's representatives that the Union never demanded a canteen in its previous demands including the demands submitted on 12th November 1947. In view of the conditions in this factory and the small number of workers, I find no necessity for a cheap canteen and the demand is accordingly rejected.

Issue No. 10.—Maternity benefit.

Maternity benefit has been demanded for the six women who work on piece-rate basis, as already stated. They are not, however, regular and permanent workers of the factory and their names are not on the factory rolls. In view of what I have stated in connection with the issue No. 5, these women cannot be treated as regular workers of the factory and, therefore, there cannot be any demand for maternity benefit for them. This demand is rejected.

Issue No. 11.—Bonus—(i) profit-sharing, (ii) attendance and (iii) production.

The Union has demanded bonus of three kinds, namely, attendance bonus, production bonus and profit-sharing bonus. The Company was not agreeable to introduce any kind of attendance or production bonus. The Company never paid any such bonus. As regards profit-sharing bonus, the Company did not make any profit last year, as stated, but sustained loss. Therefore, there can be no demand for profit-sharing bonus. In view of the financial position of the Company and the fact that it is a very small concern, employing only 54 workers, I am not sure that any attendance or production bonus scheme will be successful and I cannot blame the Company for not adopting either. If, however, the condition of the Company improves, I recommend that the Company should consider the question of adoption of any of these bonus schemes. I leave the matter to the discretion of the Company.

Issue No. 12.—Recognition of the Union.

The Union is registered but the Company is not willing to recognise the Union. Mr. Sen stated that the question of recognition was not an industrial dispute and that the Union could get itself recognised, according to the procedure laid down in the amended Trade Unions Act, through Labour Courts which will soon be set up. I agree with the view of Mr. Sen and recommend that the Union should get itself recognised according to the procedure laid down in the amended Trade Unions Act.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 963-Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, I was appointed a Tribunal to adjudicate the above dispute under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Notices were issued on both the parties. Kadamtola Bus Association, Ltd., appeared and filed their written statement urging that the sole function of the association was to see the smooth working of buses in the line by the appointment of Starters, Secretary and office staff and by printing tickets, way bills and starters' sheets, and that they were not the employer of the bus workers (drivers and conductors) and that as such they were not responsible for employment or discharge of the workers nor they had any authority to fix the wages and conditions of service. In other words, the sole defence was that they were merely managers of the proprietors and that they were responsible only for the maintenance of proper service in the line. According to their contention, it is the proprietors who are responsible for employment or discharge of the bus workers. In pursuance of this contention, the individual proprietors of the buses of Kadamtola Line were added as parties to the present dispute under section 18 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Later on, these proprietors individually appeared and filed separate written statements. This award will be also binding on the proprietors whose names will be found in the schedule annexed to this award.

The sole contention of the Bus Workers' Union was that some of the conductors and drivers of the buses had been victimised and improperly and summarily dismissed for no fault of the discharged workers save that they were members of the Union.

The Bus Workers' Union had demanded reinstatement of 14 workers who had been victimised as aforesaid.

In the written statement the names of all the discharged workers were not specifically mentioned and therefore it was suggested that the union might later on come with the case of those whose names are not specifically mentioned. I, however, called the record from the Labour Commissioner's Office and found that the union complained of the discharge of all the 14 workers and that the Labour Commissioner investigated the cases in respect of all the 14 workers and from the written statement of the employers, I do not find that there has been any objection by them that they would be prejudiced if the case of all the 14 workers are considered by the Tribunal. Rather, the employers met the case of the union with regard to all the workers and they cannot be taken to have been taken by surprise. I, therefore, take up the case of all the 14 discharged workers. To shut out the case of some of these workers would be denying justice to them.

History of the dispute.

(As disclosed in the written statement.)

The Kadamtola Bus Workers' Union was established five years back and that in 1946 they went on strike for about one month for their legitimate grievances. Owners did not forget this attitude of the Union and since November 1947, the owners were preparing themselves to give a rude shock to the Union by breaking the strength, unity and solidarity of the union and with this object in view, the owners started a rival union named Bus Sramik Saugha, Howrah, with one Prankrishna Bodak as its Secretary who was once a leading member of the Workers' Union and later on driven from the union.

It is alleged that on 5th January 1948, there was a rumour that there would be a general strike all over the country. So on the previous night, the owners and the Secretary of the Bus Association advised the workers not to drive the buses early in the morning as usual as they were apprehending a general strike and the consequent disturbances. They apprehended that there might be some attack on buses or on drivers and conductors and advised the workers to watch the general situation next day for some time and then to go on with their daily work.

Accordingly, on the 5th morning, all the workers of the union were awaiting by the bus stand, just by the side of the Bus Association Office, to watch the general atmosphere and waited for further instructions from the owners and the Secretary of the Bus Association. Suddenly, they were thunder-struck to see that 3 buses BLW 343, 346 and 348 of Bengal Motor Transport came out from the garage with 3 new drivers and 3 new conductors with Sri Prankrishna Bodak, Secretary of the newly formed Bus Sramik Sangha. It is alleged that this rival union "Bus Sramik Sangha" came into existence with full co-operation of the owners and began to grow out of the ashes of the discharged workers. It was their determination to ruin the union anyhow and reappoint new workers through "Bus Sramik Sangha". The workers, however, did not lose a minute to take their places in respective buses save and except 6 men, namely, Haripada Dutta and Bijoli Jha of bus No. BLW 348, Dhruba Manna and Kishori of BLW 346 and Nilmoni Ghose and Pasupati of BLW 343, as the aforesaid buses already left with new recruits. The workers understood that the owners had outwitted them and had played a nasty trick with them to destroy their union. The owners wanted to proclaim that the workers went on strike and also put several hand-bills to prove that they were Communists and engaged in unsocial activities. It is further alleged that on the very day, 6 workers of the union were not allowed to work in the morning and in the evening shift 3 other men were not allowed to join. To the surprise of the Bus Workers' Union, they found a notice on the 6th morning discharging 14 members of the union without giving any reason nor asking any of the workers to explain their conduct and as such neither the union nor the individual worker knew what the charges were against them. It is also alleged that 5 of the workers who joined duty on the 5th January in buses Nos. BLW 348, 346, 99 and signed way-bills for receiving wages, were also discharged on the 6th morning by the abrupt notice already mentioned. It is also stated that Kishori, Bijoli Jha and Haripada Dutta joined the duty up to 8th January but they were also discharged. One of the drivers, Phani Bhusan Ghose, was sick from 4th January and was on leave for four days. He was also discharged on the 6th.

Then from the 8th January to the 22nd January 5 more conductors were discharged without any notice as they did not agree to be the members of the rival union, Bus Sramik Sangha, Howrah. The matter was referred to the President, Bengal Provincial National Trade Union Congress, and the Labour Commissioner. The Labour Officer enquired into the matter and was convinced that it was illegal retrenchment out of some underhand motive behind and he requested the owners to reappoint the workers but in vain. It is also alleged that one of the conductors, Budhuram Bari discharged on 22nd January 1948, has been reappointed on his signing the membership form of the rival union. Similarly Sk. Moktar, Abdul Rejak and Sk. Latif Miah, who had also been discharged, were reappointed on their signing membership form of the rival union.

The proprietors appeared and filed separate written statements and the case of the proprietors in short is that the Tribunal has got no jurisdiction to order reinstatement of the discharged workers. It is further alleged that the Kadamtola Bus Workers' Union is a Communist organisation and that the union had been engaged in nefarious anti-social and anti-Government activities all through and that during the period of one year, 1947, they staged 4 strikes for paralysing Government work and created complete deadlock in the line. It is also alleged that on the morning of the 5th January 1948, the owners to their utter surprise found that the workers did not turn up for work and that they were lying in ambush here and there for stopping work by show of force and the owners had to inform the District Magistrate and the Police to give them proper protection if they ran buses with new hands as they apprehended trouble from the strikers. Accordingly, with the full co-operation of the authorities they anyhow kept the line working in spite of the active resistance by the strikers. And while the buses were working, some of the strikers forcibly took possession of the buses from the new hands and began to work and forcibly signed way-bills.

It is also alleged that the dismissal subsequent to the 5th of January was for misappropriation of cash and other corrupt practices. In substance the main defence is that some of these workers did not turn up and joined the strike on the 5th January 1948 and some of them had been discharged for mis-appropriation of cash and corrupt practices.

Issues.

(1) Has the Tribunal jurisdiction to order restoration?

(2) Is the order of discharge legal and proper?

(3) Were the workers discharged for anti-social and anti-Government activities?

(4) Are the workers liable to be reinstated?

Issue No. 1.—Has the Tribunal jurisdiction to order restoration?

Discharge or dismissal of workers is certainly a point of industrial dispute and an Industrial Court as a Court of Peace has got ample jurisdiction to order restoration. Under the ordinary law of contract, the master can discharge the servant and he has got a statutory right to discharge a worker. This right of the master to discharge a worker is not disputed but it is a question whether an Industrial Tribunal can order restoration of a worker whose service has been illegally terminated. The Industrial Disputes Act clearly lays down no restriction on the authority of the Tribunal and so long as the Tribunal as a Peace Court does not act contrary to law, its jurisdiction cannot be questioned. There is a statutory right on the part of an employer to discharge an employee but at the same time the employee has got a specific right too. He can claim compensation and reinstatement under general law. Now the question is in which forum this dispute is to be adjudicated. Industrial Tribunal has been vested with unlimited power to grant relief in cases of industrial disputes. I do not make any further observation or enter into legal aspect of the matter inasmuch as on this very point a decision is awaiting in the Hon'ble High Court. Almost all the Tribunals of Bombay, United Provinces and Calcutta have asserted that they have jurisdiction to reinstate in cases of illegal discharge. I myself also in several awards entertained similar views. I hold therefore that the Tribunal has got ample jurisdiction to order reinstatement of the workers.

Issue No. 2.—Is the order of discharge legal and proper?

Issue No. 3.—Were the workers discharged for anti-social and anti-Government activities?

Issue No. 4.—Are the workers liable to be reinstated?

This Tribunal is concerned only with the case of 14 discharged workers. Before I proceed to discuss individually the merits of each and every order, it is necessary to mention at the outset some salient facts. It is pointed out to me from a report in the Statesman, dated 4th January 1948, that on the 5th January, there was an apprehension of a general strike and that Sardar Patel, Deputy Prime Minister of Indian Union, who was at Calcutta at that time, addressed a huge gathering at Calcutta Maidan and advised the people to avoid the bitter experience of a general strike. Everybody accordingly anticipated that on the 5th January there would be a general strike. Fortunately the strike was averted. It is clear from the statement of the workers as also from the statement of the proprietors that on the 4th January, the workers were advised not to join in the general strike. The workers' case is that they were asked to take their stand near the Bus Association's Office to watch the situation and to take out their buses only when there was no response to the call of the general strike. Accordingly, they took their stand near the Bus Association but curiously enough three buses came out with new sets of drivers and conductors. The workers were apparently outwitted for they saw that the owners had played a nasty trick on them. On reading and looking to the statements of both the parties, I am clearly of opinion that the version of the workers is quite true for when a general strike was apprehended on the 5th January 1948, how was it possible for the Bus Association to get new hands forthwith in the early morning unless they had negotiated already with new men and appointed them beforehand surreptitiously and without the knowledge of the old workers? The Bus Association and the proprietors have examined the Circle Inspector of Police and the Officer-in-charge of Bantra police-station but none of these officers could say anything about the complicity of any of the workers in the strike. It is also significant that the Officer-in-charge, Sri N. K. Santra, deposed to the effect that the names of workers who obstructed plying of buses and persuaded the workers not to work were sent to him by the owners on the 7th, i.e., after 2 days of the apprehended strike. But this list does not include the name of any of the discharged workers. This clearly shows that had these workers indulged in anti-social or anti-Government activities and if they were creating deadlock by resorting to violence against the owners and local workers, surely the owners would not have lost the opportunity to send their names to the authority.

The workers asserted that they were present on that day and that the way-bills would show that they had been working later on on that day. The owners did not produce the way-bills and other documents to show that any of these workers was absent. It must be presumed therefore, that they thereby withheld the best evidence. The owners set out the story that some of these workers forcibly took possession of the way-bill books and entered their names. It is a hard pill to swallow and in my opinion a veritable cock and bull story which no court can believe. These owners were apparently taking help of the Police and as a matter of fact the Circle Inspector of Police and Officer-in-charge, Bantra, had been present but no such complaint had been made to them and in fact none of the Police Officers deposed that there was interference with the work in the line or in the office. In my opinion, the union has well succeeded in making out a case that they were discharged by way of victimisation for their association with the union which was apparently not in the good books of the association. The owners wanted to impress that some of these workers are Communists. A man may advocate any ideology. It is no crime for one to be a Communist or a Socialist. So long as a man keeps within his ideology and does not indulge in anti-social and anti-Government activities to paralyse the smooth running of administration or cause obstruction to public tranquillity and peace, nobody can condemn him.

The question of proof in the matter of discharge is of some importance. In the first place, it is the workers who are to show that they have not been discharged for anti-social and anti-Government activities as alleged. They have given a denial and have adduced evidence to show that they were present on the day in question. Evidence thus adduced on behalf of the union is quite sufficient and it must be held that they have prima facie established a case. They denied that they were members of anti-social institutions and further denied that they were engaged in anti-social activities. The burden is then shifted to owners to show that these workers were implicated in anti-social and anti-Government activities. Owners must satisfy the Tribunal that they were discharged for proper reasons as it is a fact within the special knowledge of the owners. But the owners' evidence is quite insufficient and on the point of anti-social and anti-Government activities of any of the workers, the evidence is almost nil.

What strikes me first is that these workers were summarily discharged without any sense of propriety or justice. None of them was asked to show cause why they should not be discharged nor any of them knew for what they had been dismissed from service. It is proved beyond doubt that all these workers took their stand and attempted to do their duty as usual, nevertheless they were discharged. Some of the workers discharged worked on that day and some on the next day too. But those workers also could not escape. The owners had added insult to the injury by discharging some of the workers with stigma of corruption and bribery. No definite charge of corruption and bribery has been made out. This charge has been brought against some of the drivers and conductors without any justification. The owners knew that they could not be able to substantiate the case of anti-social and anti-Government activities of these workers and as such the general charge of corruption and bribery was levelled apparently as a triumph card to victimise these workers and perhaps the object was to prejudice the Tribunal against these workers.

From the nature of the discharge, it appears to me that this was the result of some premeditated action and that the Management took the fullest advantage of the general strike called on 5th January 1948 by the Communist Party and the Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress to eliminate those who were in their opinion undesirables. I find from the Labour Commissioner's report that during enquiry such fact was virtually admitted by the owners.

Majority of the drivers and one of the conductors discharged, appeared to have worked on 5th January 1948 either in the morning shift or in the afternoon shift. Drivers Pachu Gopal and Dhanmani and conductor Jibon worked in the morning shift in 2 out of the 3 buses that came out successively after the first three buses. Drivers Tarapada, Dhruba Charan and Kasinath appeared to have worked in the afternoon shift on that day. As regards the other drivers, Phani Bhusan was reported to be sick from 4th January 1948 and Haripada sick on 5th January 1948. Sk. Badru and Rup Narayan were not allowed to work on the plea that their bus was not in order. I find from the Labour Commissioner's report that this bus was driven on 5th January 1948 by a new driver. From 6th January 1948, for about 10 days this was in the garage for repair. Another factor strikes me; no principle was followed by owners in the matter of discharge and I have reason to believe that there was a strong element of retaliation or vengeance in the attitude of the owners for the past activities of the union workers.

Another objection that has been raised by the learned counsel of the owners is that these workers are daily paid and as such can be discharged any moment, and that there is no obligation on the part of the owner to employ them on the next day as they got daily wages. In my opinion this argument cannot stand for in majority of the engineering associations, the workers are paid daily but by continued work from day to day, month to month, they acquire a status of permanency. By custom and practice, if not strictly by contract, these workers though daily paid are to file their attendance daily and they are treated for all purposes as permanent workers. It is also significant that the orders of discharge were passed on these workers and thereby the owners admitted that they had to be discharged on grounds of alleged anti-social and anti-Government activities and for their absence on the day in question. If the workers can be dismissed any day, and if their continuance of service depended on the pleasure of the owners, as has been urged, there was no meaning in bringing in a charge of anti-social and anti-Government activities or corruption against these workers. The fact that the workers are paid daily is a mere accident or mutual arrangement for the sake of convenience of both the employees and the employer. So the plea that they can have no lien does not stand. From what I have already said, it is not any more necessary to deal individually with the case of each and every worker. I however examine the following cases:—

	Names.	Date of discharge.	Union's case.	Owner's case.	My comment.
(1)	Haripada Dutta	6-1-48	Not allowed to work on 5th but worked on 6th. Ref.—Waybill.	Did not join on 5th in spite of warning.	Sick on 5th.
(2)	Tarapada Hazra	6-1-48	Worked in the evening as usual, signed garage book. Ref.—Waybill.	Ditto	Worked on 5th evening.
(3)	Dhrubacharan Manna	6-1-48	Not allowed in the morning but worked in the evening. Ref.—Waybill.	Ditto	Ditto
(4)	Bijoh Jha	6-1-48	Not allowed on 5th but worked on 6th and 8th.	Ditto	Nil.

(6)	Kishori	6-1-48	Not allowed on 5th morning but worked on 6th and 7th.	Ditto	Nil.
(7)	Rupnarayan Singh	6-1-48	Not allowed on 5th evening	Did not join on 5th in spite of warning. Gross disobedience.	Not allowed to join on 5th on the plea that car was not in order but from the waybill found that the car ran with new driver and conductor and from 6th January 1948 for about 10 days the car was in the garage for repair.
(8)	Sk. Badru	6-1-48	Not allowed on 5th	Ditto	....
(9)	Madhukanta Jha	6-1-48	Not allowed to join in evening on 5th.	Ditto	Nil.
(10)	Kashi Haldor	6-1-48	Ditto	Ditto	Worked on 5th evening.

(14)	Pachugopal Banerjee	6-1-48	As usual in the morning duty on 5th. Signed garage book. Ref.—Waybill.	Did not join in spite of warning on 5th. He has not been served with any notice.	Ditto.

I have already observed that these drivers and conductors were discharged for no fault of their own. I further find that they had duly turned up on the date in question and some of them had worked but the Management took the fullest advantage of the general strike called on 5th January 1948 by the Communist Party and the Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress and readily got an opportunity to eliminate those who were in their opinion undesirable. It was apparently giving the dogs a bad name and then to hang them. In my opinion, a very strong case has been made out by the union and I am of opinion that it is clearly a case of victimisation of the worst type and it is also regrettable that after the Labour Commissioner had directed the proprietors to reinstate these poor workers, no step was taken to implement his decision.

It is apparent that the Bus Association has passed the order of discharge as per instructions of the proprietors and I hereby, therefore, direct that all these workers should be reinstated in service and that the order should be passed by the proprietors themselves or through Bus Association or by both. In other words, I want to make it clear that the award of this Tribunal may not be nullified on a plea that the proprietors do not pass direct orders on the drivers and conductors. Regarding compensation for the period of discharge, considering the circumstances I allow only 50 per cent. of the wages for the period of discharge and for the sake of convenience, the proprietors are directed to make this payment in 3 monthly instalments beginning from this September. All the workers should get their own scale of wages and dearness allowance, if any. The said reinstatements must be effected within 2 months from the date of publication of the award.

Summary of the recommendations.

(1) Workers named in the body of the award are to be reinstated as above.

(2) They are to get 50 per cent. of the wages for the period of discharge on their old scale of earnings—the proprietors to make the payment in 3 monthly instalments.

(3) The workers on restoration should get their own scale of wages and dearness allowance.

(4) The union is also given an option to set out other demands regarding wages and prospects of service, etc., later on if the dispute is not otherwise settled in the meantime.

Memorandum of agreement made this 19th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight, between The Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation Limited, a Company incorporated under the English Companies Acts and having its registered office at Victoria House, Vernon Place, Bloomsbury Square in London, and having an India Branch Office at Victoria House, Chowringhee Square in the town of Calcutta (hereinafter called "the Company") of the one part and The Governor of the Province of West Bengal (hereinafter called "the Governor") of the other part:

Whereas for the purpose of construction of one of the Company's standard distributing stations in connection with the Company's scheme for the general supply of electrical energy in Calcutta and in the adjoining licensed areas the Company has applied to the Government of West Bengal for the acquisition under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, of the piece or parcel of land containing an area of 1 bigha 12 cottahs 5 chittacks and 12 sq. ft. or thereabout at Gurulia Municipal Road in mauza Noapara, thana Noapara, in the district of 24-Parganas and more particularly described in the schedule hereto and delineated in the plan* hereunto annexed.

And whereas the said Government of West Bengal, being satisfied by an enquiry held under section 40 of the said Act that the proposed acquisition is needed for the aforesaid purpose and that the said work is likely to prove useful to the public, has consented to acquire on behalf of the Company the piece or parcel of land hereinbefore described.

And whereas the said Government of West Bengal has required the Company under the provisions of section 41 of the abovementioned Act to enter into the Agreement with the Governor hereinafter contained.

Now this indenture witnesseth that it is hereby agreed and declared as follows:—

1. On demand, the Company shall and will pay to the said Government of West Bengal all and every compensation in respect of the said land tendered, paid or awarded or to be tendered, paid or awarded by the Collector under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or by the Court to which a reference under Part III of the said Act may be made, or by the Court or Courts to which an appeal from the award of the said Court may be preferred and all costs, charges and expenses of the proceedings in the aforesaid Courts, or otherwise incidental to the proposed acquisition or payable in respect thereof under the provisions of the said Act.

On demand made by the said Collector, the obligations of the Company under the last preceding clause not being thereby limited, the Company shall and will deposit with the said Collector such sum or sums of money as in his discretion the said Collector may in anticipation estimate to be necessary for the purpose mentioned in the last preceding clause.

3. On payment by the Company of all demands under the foregoing first clause, or, in the discretion of the said Government of West Bengal (on deposit by the Company of all estimated amounts as provided in the second clause), but not before possession shall have been taken under the provisions of the abovementioned Act, the Governor shall make over possession of the said land to the Company and shall execute and do all such acts and deeds as may be necessary and proper for effectually vesting the same in the Company.

(i) Should the said Government sell the land with the buildings the said Government after deducting the expenses incurred in connection with the said taking of possession and with such sale shall pay the proceeds to the Company.

(iii) Should the said Government decide to sell the buildings only, upon such sale the Governor shall, after deducting the expense of taking possession and selling, pay the balance of the proceeds of sale to the Company, together with the sum received from the Company in respect of the compensation for the land (less the statutory allowance of 15 per cent. and less any amount received from the Company on account of trees and buildings which are not in existence at the time of resumption), but will not repay any sum paid and received on account of costs, charges and expenses.

8. 9. Should any dispute or difference arise touching or concerning the subject matter of this agreement or any convenant clause or thing herein contained the same shall be preferred to the said Government of West Bengal and the opinion and decision of the said Government upon such dispute or difference shall be final and conclusive and binding on the parties hereto.

AWARD.

Cotton Textile Mills in West Bengal.

The Textile Industry in this Province consists of 36 Mills, the names of which have been set out above. Of these, Sree Radha Krishna Cotton Mills, Ltd. (1), Sree Hanuman Cotton Mills Co. and Victoria Cotton Mills Co. are Spinning Mills. Keshoram Cotton Mills, Ltd., Bengal Luxmi Cotton Mills, Ltd., Rampuria Cotton Mills, Ltd., Sree Radha Krishna Cotton Mills, Ltd. (2), Mohini Mills, Ltd. (2), Bangasri Cotton Mills, Ltd., Maha Luxmi Cotton Mills, Ltd., Sree Radhesyam Cotton Mills, Ltd., Basanti Cotton Mills, Ltd., Bangeswari Cotton Mills, Ltd., Dunbar Cotton Mills (1 to 4) and the Bowreah Cotton Mills, Ltd. are composite mills doing both spinning and weaving. The rest of the Mills are all weaving. Some seven of these as for instance, Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., 2, Dalhousie Square, East, Calcutta, and Belur Engineering and Brading Workshop of 79, Grand Trunk Road, Belur, are not substantially Cotton Mills, though there are some loomsheds there. It is probably because of this that figures regarding these Mills are not always available in official reports and statistics.

The financial side of the demands of the workers is likely to involve a heavy burden on the Mills. In considering how far these demands can be allowed, the Tribunal has to take into account—

(1) capacity of the industry,

(2) interest and position of the industry as a whole, especially its future in open competition with similar industries, both inside and outside the country,

(3) interest of the consumer public,

(4) productive value of the services rendered by the workers,

(5) condition of plant and machineries,

(6) needs of the workers having regard to—

(i) the price of essential commodities in the locality,

(ii) educational facilities,

(iii) medical facilities, and

(iv) place of recruitment.

In giving reliefs to the workers, resources of the different Mills deserve the first consideration. If unbearable burdens are cast upon the Mills, closing down of the Mills leading to unemployment is inevitable.

It has been urged that the Cotton Textile Mills in India earned huge profits, especially during the war years. As an answer to this, we can do no better than quote the following lines from page lx of the Cotton Textile Digest, 1947 edition:—

"Though the Cotton Mill Industry was able to earn profits in the earlier phases of the War, it needs to be borne in mind that it provided a sort of partial compensation for the continued stagnation from which the industry suffered till about the eve of the Second World War. The industry had also to bear a heavy burden of taxation during the War period. Again, if the industry benefited in a large measure, it had, at the same time, to bear a heavier burden on account of increased cost of production. It has also to be taken into account that whatever improvement in financial resources was secured by the Mills was at the cost of a heavy strain on their machinery and equipment. The industry will, in consequence, have to bear a colossal burden in respect of replacement, the cost of which has to be taken into account."

Another feature that cannot be lost sight of in this connection is that the rising prices of cotton goods, which proved to be a source of considerable profit, were gradually brought under check by the introduction of controls in respect of production and distribution of cloth. There is a complaint, probably not without justification, that the Mill owners are making huge profits after the recent decontrol of textiles. This is an abnormality, which should and will be checked by appropriate authorities. This Tribunal will not be justified in basing any of its findings on such abnormalities which cannot but be temporary.

According to the Report of the Bengal Industrial Survey Committee, 1948, a Mill to be of an economic size and to operate efficiently, must start with a capital of at least Rs. 20,00,000. From the Statistical Abstracts, West Bengal, 1948, we find that only the following eight Mills satisfy this requirement, although most of these Mills not having the minimum number of spindles and looms of an economic unit, are not classed as economic units.

(Figures on 31st August 1946.)

Names of Mills.	Capital paid up. Rs.
1. Bangasri Cotton Mills, Ltd ...	21,40,100
2. Basanti Cotton Mills, Ltd. ...	20,00,000
3. Keshoram Cotton Mills, Ltd. ...	40,00,000
4. Rampuria Cotton Mills, Ltd. ...	24,47,750
5 & 6. Radha Krishna Cotton Mills, Ltd. (1 and 2) ...	35,00,000
7. Sri Radheshyam Cotton Mills, Ltd. ...	20,00,000
8. Sri Durga Spinning and Weaving, Ltd. ...	22,17,000

The Dunbar Mills Nos. 1 to 4 taken together and the Bowreah Mills having a paid-up capital of Rs. 19,00,000 and Rs. 18,00,000 respectively approach this standard, but the other Mills fall much below it.

It will not be proper to attribute this dearth of capital to the shyness of the people of Bengal to invest in industries, for industries of other Provinces find little difficulty in tapping the liquid capital of Bengal. The inadequate financial position of the Cotton Textile Industry in Bengal is due probably to lack of confidence in the Industry for which both the management and labour are responsible and it is high time that the management and the labour, instead of laying the blame at each other's doors, should do a little bit of introspection which would show their respective defects. They must not think only in terms of their rights.

This lack of capital is a stumbling block to the Textile Mills of this Province in various ways because—

(i) the smaller the capital, the greater the expenditure in production,

(ii) a good market is hardly available to smaller mills without the assistance of selling agents who dictate terms and prices. Inadequacy of funds precludes the small mills from carrying on their business directly with the dealers for they cannot afford to accord long-term credit and other favourable terms for the purpose and bank assistance in this Province is not organised on such lines as may ease the situation. As the Mills in Bengal stand today, they cannot do without the services of selling agents, but they should consider whether they can free themselves from the hold of the agents by instituting a marketing organisation of their own with their small resources pooled together.

The following tables will show at a glance the financial position of the 16 Mills mentioned below, taken as a whole:—

(2) Bengal Luxmi Cotton Mill.
(3) Rampuria Cotton Mill.

The demands of the Unions for basic wages of an unskilled worker are higher than those awarded by Sir H. V. Divatia in the industrial disputes between the Cotton Textile Mills in Bombay city and island and their Respective employees, published in the Bombay Gazette—Extraordinary—of the 2nd June 1947. As regards the number of Mills, Bengal occupies the third position, and in respect of capital outlay and in respect of the number of spindles and looms and workers employed, Bengal occupies the fourth position in the Cotton Textile Industry in India. (Vide the Table on page 35 of the Report of the Bengal Industrial Survey Committee, 1948.)

The following figures will show the position of Textile Industry in Bengal in relation to the industry in Bombay and the whole of India:—

According to Statistical Abstract, West Bengal, 1947, the total amount of capital paid up for 28 Mills in West Bengal was Rs. 3,01,15,738 and total number of hands employed was 22,293 up to 31st August 1946.

The Presidency of Bombay occupies the foremost position in the Cotton Textile Industry in India and in its turn it gets the highest contribution from Bombay city and island and Ahmedabad, so much so that any Province as a whole, including the Province of Bombay leaving out Bombay city and island and Ahmedabad, can ill-stand comparison either with Bombay city and island or Ahmedabad in respect of the number of looms, spindles, both installed and operative, average number of workers employed and yarn and cloth produced. This will be clear from the table given below:—

(Report of the Bombay Millowners' Association.)

Bombay city and island is a bigger industrial centre and will considerably influence the market although the wages are higher there. Ahmedabad Mills stand as a class by themselves with improved machinery and scientific planning, etc. Compared to Bombay most of the Bengal Mills are uneconomic units and the proportionate overhead expenses are heavier in Bengal.

Most of the Mills in West Bengal are small uneconomic units. According to National Planning Committee, Mills having 600 looms and 27,000 spindles are economic units. (Vide Textile Journal, May, 1946, page 706). From the Report of the Bengal Industrial Survey Committee, 1948, Government of West Bengal, at page 40, we find that the minimum economic size of a Mill, according to leading Millowners of the Province, is 500 looms and 17,500 spindles. If we accept this as a standard, it would appear that only six of the Mills, viz., Keshoram Cotton Mills, Banga Luxmi Cotton Mills, Rampuria Cotton Mills, Bowreah Cotton Mills, Sri Radha Krishna Cotton Mills and Dunbar Cotton Mills, can claim to be designated as economic units.

Analysing the details regarding the Cotton Mills in Bombay city and island and the Province of West Bengal as given at pages 106 and 121 respectively of the Cotton Textile Digest, 1947, we notice that the percentage of economic units in Bombay is 83 as against 13·8 in the Province of West Bengal. It is a workable formula that 40 spindles are required to feed a loom. If the number be less, yarn must be purchased. The following table will show at a glance the position of the economic Mills in West Bengal in 1946-47:—

(Cotton Textile Digest, 1947, Hindusthan Textile Publication Ltd.)

From a comparative study of the figures of consumption and production by the Mills in Bengal, one might be apt to think that the Mills spin the major portion of their requirements. But this is not the fact. The largest production of the Mills in Bengal is of counts ranging from 11 to 20S. The higher the counts the smaller the production in Bengal. Besides, the higher counts yarn produced by Bengal is fit for handlooms and is used mostly for catering to the needs of handloom weavers. The deficiency is made up from imports. This will be clear from the following table:—

(Report of the Industrial Survey Committee.)

Cotton-producing centres in India are nearer Bombay and Ahmedabad. Nearly 75 per cent. of the total crop in cotton is raised in Bombay, Central Provinces, Berar and Hyderabad. Bengal has to pay more as freight for getting cotton from outside. So far as Egyptian cotton is concerned, Bengal is in no advantageous position. As regards American cotton, Bengal is at a disadvantage on account of absence of fumigation arrangement in Calcutta ports to free the cotton from Ball Weevil Pest. Coal is, however, very close to Calcutta Mills, compared to Mills in other Provinces. But, in our opinion this advantage may neutralise the other disadvantages.

Table H.

	No. of looms. operating.	Quantity of cloth produced in yards.	Quantity of cloth produced per loom in yards.

Production per loom is much less in Bengal compared to Bombay island. This is due to other factors which cannot be eliminated just at present. The figures of yarn production as given in the Report of the Bombay Millowners' Association lead to the same conclusion.

Fixation of wages of a particular industry in a country which is not closed to import from outside, presents difficulties. Difficulties are enhanced when there are competitive industries in the country. India is a market for foreign goods, although at present imports are at the minimum on account of World's shortage of textile. Even if we assume that there will be no import and even if we were to postulate that the imports will be prohibited there still remains the internal competition. There should not be much disparity about labour costs in producing identical goods here and in Bombay.

In case of industries producing articles for every man's needs, as distinguished from luxury goods, the interest of the consumer cannot be overlooked. This Tribunal cannot, on its part, create difficulties by fixing a wage scale on the basis of the abnormal rise in the price of necessary goods, and thereby raise difficulties in the way of lowering the prices for the benefit of the teeming millions whose national income is very low. Millions must be clothed.

In a country like this, fixation of wages in a particular industry on the basis of the needs only of the workers divorced from the value of their services may often lead to destruction of the industry altogether. Apart from increasing unemployment this would involve a disservice to the country itself the national assets of which are its industries.

A question arises as to whether a worker can be paid beyond his producing capacity. It is wrong to underpay a worker or deprive him of his just claim. It is equally a social wrong to pay above the value of his work. Our national income per capita is below Rs. 100. There is a vast body of the unemployed. What ethical claim has one of them to an increase beyond national income simply because he enters into a factory as an unskilled labourer? His right to claim more arises from the fact that he produces something which has got value and he must be paid according to that value. If a different principle is followed, the result would be that he would be paid more than what he produces. If the factory owner has to bear it, the business will be ruined. The result would be that the consumer will be taxed for the overpayment and he will have to curtail his requirements if imported goods are not available at cheaper rates. If imported goods are available at cheaper rates, the inevitable result will be that the industries in the province will collapse. Even if imported goods be not available the demand will decrease, leading to a slump in the industry. In any view unemployment will be the inevitable result. Care, however, must be taken to see that the value of the work is not under-estimated. The minimum occupational wage has a close connection with the industry itself.

It has already been remarked that Bombay will regulate the market and Bombay wages have been fixed by an award. If Bengal's workers can produce more than Bombay they should get credit for that. But they must be paid less when their output is less. Bombay standard is normal and it will rule the market. It should not altogether be impossible for the workers here at least to maintain the Bombay standard for they come from the same origin as the workers in Bombay.

Production depends upon the following factors:

(1) Machine.
(2) Raw materials.
(3) Working condition.
(4) Management.
(5) Efficiency of workers.

It has been argued that Bombay has been able to produce more because of better machines, better factory arrangements, better materials and more competent management. It is no doubt true that air-conditioning system has been introduced in some of the Bombay Mills resulting in 2 per cent. excess production.

The question of materials and machines, however, are not germane to the consideration. We must take a realistic view of the situation. These factors cannot be avoided. We cannot eliminate the deficiencies in Bengal. Bengal mills must exist with all the defects when even with money any immediate change in condition is not possible. Workmen live and prosper with the existence and prosperity of the mills. The value of the services of the workers in West Bengal will have to be determined with these factors existing.

The following Tables may be useful in estimating the value of the services of a worker compared to that of Bombay city and island:—

Even if we take the figures as published in the Statistical Abstract, West Bengal, (1948), for the Mohini Mills No. 2 which is said to have the most up-to-date machineries in India, the ratio of spindles and workers to a loom are found to be about 50 to 1 and 2·6 to 1.

Table J.

Taking 40 spindles for one loom as the standard for a self-contained loom, Bengal Luxmi, Bangeswari, Mahaluxmi, Bangasri, Basanti, Mohini Mill No. 2 and Rampuria are self-contained Mills. In Bombay City and Island 1·9 workers are engaged per loom as against 3 workers in a loom of West Bengal (leaving out those Mills which are not self-contained). If all kinds of Mills are taken into consideration in respect of West Bengal, the average is 2·4 or 2·7 workers for a loom (roughly taken as 2·5). Thus in Bombay City and Island the number of men engaged is much less than in West Bengal.

From the Table I(2) given above the production in Bengal is a little above 2/3rd of that in Bombay City and Island per loom. Spindle production is also less in Bengal. In Bombay it is estimated that about 6·5 oz. of yarn of 20^s count is produced per spindle in 9 hours. This is equivalent to 5·8 oz. for 8 hours. The average production in Bengal is only 3·8 oz. per spindle in 8 hours. Thus in Bengal the production per spindle in each shift of 8 hours is 2 oz. less. In Bengal production per spindle varies considerably. This is also seen in the working of the loom. While in Bombay 32 spindles can feed a loom, it is estimated that in Bengal even 48 spindles cannot get the same result.

About production of cloth, a Bombay worker is said to produce 53½ to 54½ yards of cloth as against 44½ to 45 yards produced by a Bengal worker. The production of yarn and cloth of the worker in Bombay and Bengal may be expressed in terms of efficiency as detailed below:—

(1) Basis 20^s yarn: 9,000 Revolution per minute 100 per cent. efficiency = 6·3 of yarn.

(2) Basis 44" loom: 200 R.P.M.: 40 picks 100 per cent. efficiency = 8·33 yards per hour or 66⅔ yards in 8 hours.

Table K.

	Yarn Production.	Efficiency.	Cloth Production.	Efficiency.
Bombay	5·50 or 5·80 oz.	85% or 90%	53½ to 54½ yards	80% to 82%
Bengal	3·8 to 4 oz.	60% to 65%	44½ to 45 yards	67% to 70%

In Bengal a Millowner has to pay more because an average ring piece worker works up to 200 spindles only. In Bombay majority of the workers work more than 200 spindles. In this connection Bombay award, Appendix A, Schedule I, item Nos. 7(3) and 7(3)(i) may be referred to. In Bombay workers handle 400 spindles each. Deficiency in the production was attributed by the workers to bad management. This contention of the workers cannot be accepted, for unless there be a happy combination of all the factors already enumerated, one cannot aim at maximum production.

The necessity of rehabilitation of machineries in the cotton looms in West Bengal cannot be overemphasised. There was a heavy run on the machineries during the war years. Whatever profits the Millowners got during the war years were at the cost of the machineries, and we understand that the Government of India propose to refund a portion of the excess profit tax for rehabilitation of machineries. The Millowners must provide fund for rehabilitation of machineries and cannot expend the entire profits over wages, remuneration of managing agents, and dividends to shareholders.

The workers claim on the basis of the needs of themselves and their families. There has been much discussion and there are plenty of charts and figures showing the family units, the consumption of a family and the cost of necessaries of life. Mr. P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, referred to a report entitled "A short term enquiry into living conditions of the Bengal middle class Bhadroloks with a view to estimate the minimum wage". (published by the Provincial Statistical Bureau) and the Famine Commission Report and urged that the units of a middle class family in Bengal are 6·9 and in lower class family 5·23. These reports are confidential and do not appear to have been accepted in any published reports. The accepted units in an Indian family are four and the Central Pay Commission Report recommended increase in the salary of Government officers/servants of all classes on the accepted units. This Tribunal has been referred to some charts about the present cost of living index and the requirements of the working class and this Tribunal will have these charts before it when it actually deals with the financial side of the workers' demands. As appears from the Report of the Bengal Industrial Survey Committee, page 39, 58 per cent. of the workers in the Cotton Textile Industry are Bengalees. There are conveyance facilities in all the Mills as practically all of them are on bus routes. They are situated within half to one mile of railway stations. Educational institutions also are within the same distance from these Mills. There are hospitals within half a mile to 2½ miles of the Mills. The workers in West Bengal are mostly peasants and have their houses in villages. Many of them perhaps possess lands whose relations till the soil. This is how some of the workers supplement their earnings. In fixing the wages and in making provision for education facilities and medical facilities in a cotton textile industry, these considerations do not play an insignificant part.

Dr. Gadgil as one of the members of a Committee appointed to enquire into the condition of Textile workers in Bombay remarked that the necessity of complying with a theoretical definition of living wages cannot transcend financial limitations. Financial consideration and general economy of the industry are two of the most important factors which cannot be overlooked in deciding what emoluments are to be paid to the workers. (Central Pay Commission Report, page 32.)

These demands of the workers have been opposed by the Bengal Millowners Association on the following grounds:—

(i) There is no standard unit in West Bengal with reference to which the standard minimum basic pay may be fixed. Some of the units are so small and so uneconomic that any decision in this direction is likely to lead to difficulties rather than to any solution;

(ii) Some of the Mills are exclusively spinning, some are exclusively weaving while others are composite doing both spinning and weaving; and

(iii) Conditions vary from Mill to Mill. It has been urged that fixation of minimum wages can only take place where common factors prevail.

The contentions of the Millowners are not entirely without substance. It cannot be disputed that the Mills in West Bengal are of different types, sizes and economic resources and that there is no standard for the works of the workmen of different types. The machineries are not also in the same condition in all the Mills. One has the most up-to-date machineries and the machineries in at least some of the Mills are very old. Difficulties were felt by Rai Bahadur M. Venkataramaya in adjudicating the industrial disputes in the Cotton Textile Industry in the Presidency of Madras. The learned Adjudicator observes:—

"Standardisation of wages cannot be separated from standardisation of occupations. We must first determine what work should be entrusted to each worker and how many men are required for each type of work of each standard Mill. Moreover, we may even say that this enquiry should be preceded by an enquiry into the standardisation of the mills." (Paragraph 43.) The learned Adjudicator cites an instance:—

In one mill in Rajapalayam, the reeling department is far away from the building department and men and women have to carry loads in the sun over a long distance.

Sir H. V. Divatia observed in the award in Cotton Textile Mills in Bombay City and Island (published in the Bombay Gazette Extraordinary, 2nd June 1947)—

"A scheme of standardisation of wages with or without any increase in basic wages involves highly technical and complex questions about the strain caused, and the skill expected in the numerous processes and working on the machines in the spinning and weaving departments of the industry." Sir H. V. Divatia had to requisition the services of two experts as assessors and Rao Bahadur Venkataramiya recommended a Wage Board or a Standardisation Committee for the purpose. In the present award this Tribunal faces similar difficulties and it is unable to lay down any standard scheme for running a Cotton Textile Mill and paying the labour, in the strict sense of the term. What this Tribunal has attempted to lay down in this award is the minimum wages and other minimum amenities to the workers so as to relieve them of the anxiety that in the absence of any minimum wages and other minimum amenities they are likely to be left entirely to the caprices of the employers who are said to have hitherto taken advantage of the comparative illiteracy and extreme want of the workmen and have exploited them to earn a huge profit. Although the demands of the workmen could not be awarded in full, despite the sincere desire to improve their conditions, whatever has been awarded is believed, having regard to the resources of the mills, competition, both internal and external, and apprehension of unemployment, to be substantial reliefs to the workmen. Provision has been made for improvement of the lot of the workmen by increasing production, so that they may have their full demands in stages. In the present circumstances it is not possible for this Tribunal to award immediately their demands in full. It is for the workmen to exert themselves and improve their efficiency and production and thereby earn better wages and better amenities.

It has been contended that Bengal Millowners spend less money and get worse machines compared to better machines in Bombay. Sj. Rajani Mukherjee, one of the labour leaders, expresses the view, not shared by others, that all the machines were almost alike. The other labour representatives protested to what Sj. Mukherjee said. Mohini Mill No. 2 has got spindles and looms, the best in India. In spite of this the outturn in Mohini Mill does not come up to Bombay standard. It is not disputed that workers in Cotton Mills do not require a very strong physique, operation being such as require a sensitiveness of touch and flexibility of fingers more than physical exertion. The Dhakeswari Cotton Mills found that with Bengalee labourers in course of 8 years India's maximum standard in regard to spinning and weaving efficiency could be reached. There is absolutely no reason why this will not be possible in the Mills in West Bengal and this Tribunal hopes that the workmen in West Bengal will acquire the maximum efficiency without much exertion in no time.

Point No. 2—Minimum basic wages for the workmen of different categories and the allowances of piece-raters of different departments.

The Union demands minimum basic pay of an unskilled worker to be fixed at Rs. 40 per mensem and that of a clerk at Rs. 80. They have also demanded that the wages of all types of operatives should be standardized at 50 per cent. above Bombay rates as awarded by the Industrial Court, Bombay.

The data on which this Tribunal is to proceed and the points it has to consider have been discussed at length in the preamble under the head "Cotton Textile Mills in West Bengal." The financial resources and the keen competition which the Cotton Textile Industries in West Bengal have to pay shall always be borne in mind. It should always be remembered that the Cotton Textile Industry in Bombay City and Island is likely to control the market. To keep alive the Cotton Textile Industry in West Bengal and to avoid unemployment of thousands of workmen in the Cotton Textile Industry, this Tribunal proposes to lay down a scheme so that there may not be much disparity in the costs of production of similar articles in Bombay City and Island and West Bengal. In this connection this Tribunal has to look back into the relevant tables which have been given in the preceding stages. The following details may be necessary:—

	Number of workers per loom. [Table I(1)].	Cotton consumption per spindle in lbs. [Table I(1).]	Yarn produced per spindle per day (8 hours) 22s count.	Efficiency in spinning (a).	Quantity of cloth produced per loom. [Tables I (2) and II.]		Quantity of cloth produced per loom in a day (8 hours) per weaver.	Efficiency in weaving (b).

(c) Figures not available.

It is found from page 161 of Deshpande's Report on an Enquiry into the Conditions of Labour in the Cotton Textile Mill Industry in India that the average minimum daily wages for an unskilled worker in a Mill had been annas 5-3 pies.

1·9 or 2 workers are required to run a loom in Bombay City and Island as against 2·5 in undivided Bengal as also in West Bengal. Then again production of finished goods per loom in Bombay City and Island is 6,704·6 lbs. as against 4,588·8 lbs. in Bengal. Thus the production of a man in Bengal works out to 1,835·5 lbs. as against 3,352·3 lbs. in Bombay City and Island, i.e., roughly 1,850 lbs. as against 3,350 lbs. (taking the nearest multiple of 50). Taking the average production of finished cloth in Bombay City and Island and the minimum wages for an unskilled worker in Bombay City and Island as awarded, as normal standards, the wages for an unskilled worker in West Bengal work out to 185/335 of the Bombay wages, i.e., 185/335 of Rs. 30 at a level of 105 as the cost of living index. Thus the wages for an unskilled worker in Bengal work out to Rs. 16-9-1 pie per month of 26 days or annas 10-2 pies per day, at a cost of living index of 105. For the purpose of calculating wages in future, 1 point may conveniently be taken to represent 1 lb. So the difference in production in pounds may be represented by as many points and we fix a stage or a station after each 50 points. The difference in production in pounds is broken up into points of 50, taking the average production per head in Bengal as 1,850 points and that of Bombay City and Island as 3,350 points. The increment in the wages of an unskilled worker like the initial wages is linked with the production in a graded scale as indicated in Appendix A. The productive value of labour has been fixed on Bombay Scheme and a start for 400 points is given to the unskilled workers of weaving and composite Mills in West Bengal, i.e., in West Bengal the present basic wage of an unskilled worker of weaving and composite Mills is fixed at Rs. 20-2-5 pies at the point of 2,250. This start of 400 points shall always be maintained, for instance, when the production reaches 1,900 points, the workers will get the benefit for 2,300 points in the scale.

We have laid down a scale in terms of production of finished textile goods. This scale is a misfit for exclusively spinning Mills, which are very few in number. We find that cotton consumed per spindle in Bombay is 203 lbs. per year and the average consumption of cotton per spindle per year in Bengal (taking the average of two different figures) is 143 lbs. To bring the figures to the multiple of 5, we can say that the Bombay figure is 205 as against 145 of Bengal. For consumption at 145 lbs. per spindle, we fix the wages at Rs. 20-2-5 pies monthly. For every increase or decrease in cotton consumption by 2½ lbs., there will be increase or decrease in wages by annas 7-2 pies per month. In the case of workers in the exclusively spinning Mills, we do not allow any advance increment as we have done in the case of weaving and composite Mills, because the few spinning Mills produce mostly coarse yarn and in making calculation on the basis of consumption of cotton we have already placed them in an advantageous position. For the sake of avoiding complications in composite Mills, we do not introduce this system in the spinning sections of composite Mills.

These schemes are expected to give incentive to the workers for increasing production. Neither the Millowners nor the consumer public should grudge the proper price of labour, and the workmen, with a sense of justice and equity, cannot demand a higher price of labour.

There will be quarterly examinations in each Mill and if the production increases the wages will correspondingly increase and if the production decreases the wages will likewise decrease but not below Rs. 16-9-1 pies. As such quarterly examinations are bound to involve considerable time and labour for collection of figures and accurate calculations, etc., it is provided to ensure smooth working of the formulæ that production during any quarter will determine the wages for the quarter immediately following the next. For production in between two stages, the guiding principle shall be to take the nearest stage in the scale. The present basic pay of an unskilled worker is fixed at Rs. 20-2-5 pies per month of 26 days, i.e., annas 12-5 pies per day. This shall be the wage at a level of 105 in the cost of living index. This is for the unskilled time-raters.

We have fixed uniform starting wages for unskilled workers of a Cotton Textile Mill in West Bengal after duly considering, among other factors, the position of the industry as a whole in the competition market. But in formulating the schemes for increment of wages which is linked with production, we think it expedient to lay down that the production of each individual Mill will regulate the wages of unskilled workers of that particular Mill. We have not linked the increments in wages with the production of the industry as a whole for the following reasons:—

(1) The workers of each Mill may exert themselves to increase the production of their own Mill. The workers within a limited sphere may more easily and conveniently devise means for improvement. The larger the sphere, the more difficult is the task.

(2) If the increments were to be linked with the production in the industry as a whole, some central body would be required to maintain the records of production. Although a majority of the Mills in West

Bengal are affiliated to the Bengal Millowners' Association, the Association may find difficulties to collect figures of the non-member Mills promptly and regularly.

(3) The workers may get the benefit of their own work and the workers of a particular Mill may not suffer for the laches of workers of other Mills.

On account of differences in fineness and width of cloths, it is not possible to lay down a workable scale in terms of yards. We have, therefore, adopted figures for production in pounds. It may, however, be noted that adoption of figures in yardage would not bring more benefit to the workers.

As regards the skilled and semi-skilled time-raters, they will get an additional sum according to the skill and nature of their jobs over and above the wages fixed for the unskilled workers. This is technically called a "differential". In Bengal the differentials are based on conventions rather than on efficiency. Although the comparative efficiency of the Bombay and Bengal workers has been worked out, this Tribunal proposes to proceed on the existing conventions without reference to the efficiency as laid down in Bombay for the following reasons:—

(i) If the comparative efficiency of the worker in Bombay City and Island and Bengal is taken into account, the differentials in West Bengal for most of the workers will be much below the conventional differentials.

(ii) In West Bengal the conventional differentials are in some cases even higher than those in Bombay.

(iii) Even where the West Bengal differentials are lower than the Bombay differentials, the former are mostly higher than what would have been if the comparative efficiency was taken into account.

(iv) In case of 3 or 4 occupations, such as Front and Back Sizers, Drawers and High Speed Wrappers, Bombay differentials are much higher because of fancy and difficult cloth qualities usually made there.

(v) The estimate of comparative skill of several jobs in Bengal is different from that in Bombay City and Island; for example, the wages of an Oiler in Bengal are usually less than, and in very few cases equal to, that of an one-side ring frame piecer, but according to Bombay differentials, an Oiler gets more than a Piecer. The conventional difference seems to have been accepted in Bengal without demur and this Tribunal does not propose to create any discontent among the Piecers by disturbing this convention and following the Bombay Scheme.

(vi) For running one side (up to 200 spindles) Bombay differential is Rs. 4-2 as against Rs. 3 in Bengal for one side (irrespective of number of spindles). In Bengal Mills the average number of spindles is less than 200. But for running more than 200 spindles, a Piecer in Bombay gets Rs. 1-2 per extra 20 spindles, i.e., the Bombay Piecer gets Rs. 11-4 more for running 200 additional spindles. In Bengal the convention is to pay a Piecer for running two sides 1½ times the basic earnings (i.e., of the basic minimum wages for an unskilled worker plus the differentials). In Bengal he will get ½ (Rs. 20-2-5 pies + Rs. 3), i.e., Rs. 11-9-4½ pies more. Thus, a Piecer in Bengal will get Rs. 11-9-4½ pies extra for running 400 spindles as against Rs. 11-4 in Bombay.

(vii) There is no distinction in Bengal in operation for Wrap or Weft spindle frame. As a matter of fact, it is a common and necessary practice in Bengal to transfer a Piecer from a Wrap frame to a Weft frame and vice versa (and sometimes twice a day).

For the Piece-raters, piece rates should be fixed by individual Mills so that the average basic earnings of a Piece-rater of average ability may be equal to the average earning of a full time employee as given in Appendix B(1). This is for the male workers.

In assessing the basic wages and total emoluments of a female worker, the following points deserve careful consideration:—

(i) the additional burden cast upon the employers on account of maternity benefits and other welfare activities for the female workers;

(ii) comparative low power of endurance of a female workers as against that of a male worker;

(iii) comparative small consumption unit for which the female workers earn as against that for which male workers earn.

Considering these points, this Tribunal directs that a female worker shall got wages and other emoluments at ¾th of those of male worker of the same category.

Clerks.—The clerical work in the Cotton Textile Mills can be easily managed with a matriculate or even an under-matriculate. This Tribunal thinks that higher educational qualification is not necessary for a clerk working in the Cotton Textile Mills. Having considered all the relevant circumstances, this Tribunal fixes the minimum basic wages at Rs. 60 per menesm for an under-matriculate and Rs. 70 for a matriculate clerk.

Point No. 3—Grades and scales of pay and wages.

In view of the fact that in this award the question of increment to the workers has been linked up with and made dependent on production, this Tribunal does not propose to lay down any grade and scale of increment based on length of service without reference to production. Sufficient indication has been given under point 2 and Appendix A as to how the workers will get increments.

When the award comes to be implemented if it be found that any person is getting a pay in excess of what he would otherwise be entitled to under this award, such pay shall not be reduced. The excess in such a case shall be held at personal pay till it is consumed gradually as the basic pay increases with increase in production. In case of decrease in production there would be corresponding decrease in the basic pay leaving the personal pay unaffected.

So far as the clerks are concerned we lay down the following time scale:—

For matriculates—Rs. 70—4—100 (E. B.)—6 —170 (E. B.)—8—210.

The starting salary should be given in all cases and for clerks already in service one increment should be given for each three years of service put in, provided the pay fixed should not be less favourable than the stage in the proposed time scale just above the pay the clerk is now drawing.

Point No. 4—Dearness allowance.

A very substantial increase in the average basic wages of a worker has been allowed under this award. In the present position of the cotton textile industry in West Bengal, if the workers are allowed a dearness allowance calculated on the cost of living index, an additional burden on the individual Mills as also on the industry will be unbearable.

The Full Bench of the Industrial Court in Bombay observed in the award of the Textile Mills at Ahmedabad, "We are also prepared, as at present advised, to accept the principle that the employers owe no duty to the employees to make good to them, to the full extent, the rise in the cost of living merely by reason of the fact that there has been such a rise. It is not every rise in the cost of living unless it could be shown that the industry has benefited to a corresponding extent by the very contingency which has occasioned the rise". This Tribunal believes that the labour will get substantial relief if the total emoluments of an unskilled worker are brought up to Rs. 50. When the average basic wages of an unskilled worker have been raised to Rs. 20-2-5 per month, this Tribunal considers that an additional sum of Rs. 30 as dearness allowance will be a substantial relief to the workers. This Tribunal accordingly fixes the dearness allowance for the male workers of all categories (non-clerical) at a flat rate of Rs. 30 per month and for female workers at Rs. 22-8 and that for the clerks at Rs. 35 per month.

This Tribunal understands that the Millowners' Association had, some time before the order of reference, issued directions for raising the total emoluments of a worker to Rs. 40. The effect of the present award will be to increase the present total emoluments of an unskilled worker by 25 per cent. The total emoluments of an unskilled worker is Rs. 50-2-5 as against Rs. 75 fixed by the Bombay award. On the principle adopted to work out the minimum wages the total emoluments of an unskilled worker in West Bengal, will come up to Rs. 46-9-1. Rupees 50 is accordingly considered substantial relief to an unskilled worker in West Bengal.

Against the rise of 25 per cent. of the total wage bill of the workers, must be considered the exemption from income-tax on account of this additional expenditure. Thus, the total additional burden for the increase in the wages and dearness allowance will be practically 12½ per cent. of the existing wage bill. This should not be grudged by the Millowners.

If any person enjoys dearness allowance in excess of what he would otherwise be entitled to under this award, he will continue to get the excess amount.

The scheme of our award is that pay and dearness allowance have been separately treated.

Point No. 5—Bonus.

The demand of the workers regarding bonus is as follows:—

Four months' wages with a minimum limit of Rs. 150 should be paid out of the profits earned by the Companies during the years 1942-1945 to all workmen employed during the period, on the profit sharing basis. They have also claimed 3 months' wages to all who worked and will have worked for 3 months in a year as annual recurring bonus, for every year subsequent to 1945.

It is claimed that workers whether permanent or Badliwallas, clerical or piece-raters who have worked or will have worked for less than 3 months but more than 26 days shall be paid 50 per cent. of 3 months' total earnings as bonus.

In support of these claims it was alleged on behalf of the Union that during the years 1940-46 the textile mill industry of Bengal made fabulous profits, built up large reserves and paid considerable amounts as excess profit tax which are now being refunded. It was also alleged that in addition to huge profits earned by the Millowners as shown in their balance sheets there have also been enormous secret gains made by the manufacturers and managing agents, their friends and associates in the purchase of materials, stores, etc., and on the sale products and that they have also built up secret reserves in stocks of cotton, cloth and stores kept out of public eye.

The Association contended that in the West Bengal Cotton Mill Industry payment of bonus is an ex-gratia payment, that the conditions vary greatly from unit to unit and the amount paid as bonus similarly varies according to financial position of particular mills. So it was maintained that a general direction for payment of bonus is likely to put a financial burden on the smaller uneconomic units. Regarding past bonuses for the years 1942-1945 it was alleged that profits have in almost all the cases been already distributed and the smaller units which form the majority have not sufficient funds to make any payment in the manner suggested by the workers or otherwise. It was pointed out that any direction for payment of bonus must necessarily depend on the future prospects of the Industry and also on the reserves of the particular mills concerned. It was contended on behalf of the Association that no direction should be given for payment of any bonus for past years and with regard to the present or future periods the matter should be left to the discretion of the management of each unit, which should be deemed to be best judges for dealing with the question.

This Tribunal has first to ascertain what is a bonus, whether in all cases it is an ex-gratia payment. For this purpose we may refer to the definition of "wages" as given in clause (vi) of section 2 of the Payment of Wages Act (IV of 1936), which reads:—

"Wages" means all remuneration capable of being expressed in terms of money, which would, if the terms of the contract of employment, expressed or implied, were fulfilled, be payable whether conditional upon the regular attendance, good work or conduct or other behaviour of the person employed, or otherwise, to a person employed in respect of his employment or of work done in such employment and includes any bonus or other additional remuneration of the nature aforesaid which would be so payable and any sum payable to such person by reason of the termination of his employment but does not include—

(a) the value of any house accommodation, etc.

This definition shows that bonus may not always be an ex-gratia payment but can form part of the wages earned and in that form it is either production bonus or attendance bonus. Besides, these two kinds there are several other forms of bonuses prevalent in the industries. Bonus may be an ex-gratia payment, but when it is demanded for work done out of which the employers make high profits, the demand is not for any payment gratis but price of labour. It is to be remembered that adequate wages and dearness allowance, if any, for the increased cost of living are the first charge on the industry. But the workers may reasonably ask for a bonus when there are enhanced profits, when dividends are paid up after providing for taxation and depreciation, specially when their wages are below the living wage standard. In recent years there has been a growing recognition of the claim of the workers for bonus in industrial concerns. Bonus can be claimed by the employees as a matter of right if the same is an expressed or implied part of contract between the employers and employees. If there is a practice in any industry to pay bonus to the workers, it may safely be presumed that bonus is an implied contract between the employer and the employees. "The term 'bonus' may of course be properly used to describe payments made of grace and not as of right. But it nevertheless may include payments made because legally due, but which the parties contemplate will not continue indefinitely." (Lord Birkenhead L.C.) Even accepting that the primary meaning of the word "bonus" is "gift" or gratuity, if it is not asked as a matter of patronage or bounty and if strike action is threatened if such demand is declined, all the elements of a trade dispute arise, as soon as the demand is declined. The difference between the parties as to whether bonus is an ex-gratia payment or a rightful claim of the workers brings the question within the purview of the Industrial Disputes Act as a dispute between the parties as regards the terms of employment. [Re. Indian Hume Pipe Co., 1947 A.I.R. (Bombay) page 42.] Bonus is due to the worker as a deferred payment for work already done and is conditional on profits. The claim, though not of a legal nature, is an industrial claim and Industrial Courts can order it to be paid to the workers provided they have qualified for the same. The obligation of the employers is enforced as a matter of national policy by way of regulating labour conditions and securing industrial peace and justice. The ancient ex-gratia theory no longer finds favour with the public or the Industrial Courts.

The underlying principle for the payment of bonus is that the employee has contributed by labour for the earning of profits made by the Company. A part of the profits so earned which is determined at the end of the year will go to the employees. Although bonus is dependent on profits and although bonus can be and should be linked with profits, the workers as claimants of bonus do not become shareholders or partners of the business, for they cannot be compelled to share the loss of the business. Festival bonus, Independence, bonus, etc., may be described as ex-gratia bonus but there is a marked difference between such bonuses and bonus in general on which labourers seem to have got some claim, however thin it may be.

In the matter of granting bonus the underlying principle which calls for consideration is that the demand of bonus, though not based on legal right arising out of a contract, expressed or implied, has to be decided on broad principles of equity and justice. The notion that bonus can only be claimed by the right founded on contract, expressed or implied, must be given up. The only just and equitable principle upon which an employer may be called upon to grant a bonus to the employees is to consider the amount of profits made by the employer in any given year and the general financial condition of the concern and its capacity to bear this additional burden of granting bonus without impairing the efficiency or injuring the business in any vital matter. It is clear that bonus, as described above, is obviously dependent on the prosperity of the business concerned inasmuch as certain conditions of prosperity may make the payment of it possible, other conditions of depressions may make it impossible.

Bonus has been claimed under two heads, viz., profit-sharing bonus and annual bonus for the periods 1942-1945 and also for the period posterior to 1942-45.

Regarding the question of profit-sharing bonus there are some difficulties.

This Tribunal might deal with the claim for annual bonus regarding the past years 1942-1945. With regard to the charge on behalf of the employees that the manufacturers and Managing Agents and their friends and associates have made enormous secret gains in the purchase of materials, stores, etc., and on the sale of products in addition to the profits earned by the Mill-owners as shown in their balance sheets, it must be said at the outset that the charge has not been brought home against the persons concerned. Though sufficient opportunities had been given to the workmen for examination of all the accounts of all the Mills, it appears that they took little care to avail themselves of these opportunities. At any rate it has not been shown before us by any internal evidence afforded by the balance sheets or otherwise that the Mill-owners or their agents, friends or associates made any secret profit not shown in the balance sheet. This Tribunal has, therefore, got to proceed on the balance sheets produced before it which must be taken to reflect the correct financial position of the Mills concerned.

Regarding the claim of bonus for the past years, viz., 1942-1945, this Tribunal feels extreme difficulty in conceding to the demands of the Union even in part. If at any point of time in the past any claim for bonus for 1942-1945 had been raised on behalf of the workers, it has not been shown that the demand was kept alive up to the time when the order of reference was made. Even if we are to direct payment of any bonus for the past, there would be insuperable difficulties in the matter of its implementation.

A question arises as to what funds are available to meet this demand of the workers. There may be two alternative suggestions—(i) whether the workers can lay their claim on the reserve funds, or (ii) whether the shareholders may be called upon to refund the dividend paid to them.

The demand of the Unions for bonus for past years is for the present workers. The workers may equitably claim bonus for a year out of the profits of that particular year, on account of their personal contributions to earn the profits. Reserve funds are no doubt built out of the profits. The present body of workers may not identically be the same as those who earned profits in the past years. Some must have retired, some must have been discharged and a few new appointments must have been made. The present body of workers cannot, either in law or in equity, represent the workers who have left the Company's service. Even assuming that the present employees are entitled to a share in the profits of the past years, they are not entitled to any share in appreciation of the Company's capital, because that appreciation of the capital value is influenced by several other economic factors over which labour has no control. Reserves, if any, were set apart every year for meeting contingent future expenditure. Reserves become the property of the Company which along with the capital assets may be distributed among shareholders, at the time of its winding up. This distribution does not amount to payment of dividends but it is payment in lieu of a share in the total property of the Company. It has already been noted that even if bonus is linked with dividends and profits, the workers are not shareholders and are not, therefore, entitled to any share in the property. The only funds available for distribution of dividends for a year are the profits of that particular year and past undisbursed profits. Most of the Mills, as is clear from the balance sheets, have no fund under the head "Undistributed profits". The Mill authorities have paid income-tax, super-tax and excess profit tax for the years concerned. If they are to be directed to pay any bonus for those years, they would be inequitously made loser to the extent of the amounts paid as such taxes in respect of the amounts equivalent to the bonus directed to be paid. It is not a small amount that the workers claimed as bonus. According to the Statistical Abstract, West Bengal, 1947, the total amount of paid up capital in 28 Textile Mills in West Bengal was Rs. 3,01,15,738 and total number of hands employed was 22,293 up to 31st August 1946. The minimum claim of the workers on account of bonus is Rs. 150 per head. This minimum demand works out at Rs. 33,43,900. The total of their claim amounts to something like 33½ lakhs of rupees, i.e., a ninth of the total capital of 3 crores of rupees invested as textile capital in the Province. It has been pointed out for the employees that excess profit taxes paid by the Mill-owners are now being refunded by Government. It has not been shown before this Tribunal how much was paid as excess profit taxes and how much thereof is now being refunded by the Government. It has also not been shown if the refund is not being saddled with any condition. The accounts for the years have been adjusted and dividend paid to the shareholders.

The next question is whether any bonus for the past years are to be paid from the dividend paid. Even if this Tribunal could be persuaded to take the extreme step of directing the shareholders to make a refund of a portion of the dividends they have been granted, that would not obviate the difficulty. In the years concerned as in other years there had been transfers of shares in many cases and so the shareholders have not been identical in all these years. A recent purchaser of share who has paid good money cannot reasonably be asked to make payment towards any fund for payment of bonus, the dividend having been enjoyed by his predecessor-in-interest. To undo adjusted accounts would in short be to bring chaos in settled state of things. We, therefore, feel unable to grant any relief to the workmen in respect of bonus for the years 1942-1945. For the self-same grounds bonus for 1946 cannot be directed to be paid as obviously the account for that year has been settled.

On principle, however, the workmen are entitled to bonus for 1947, which comes within the purview of the dispute referred to us for adjudication. It is obvious that it is time to bring about some uniformity in regard to the distribution of bonus. It has been said that almost all the Mills in the Province except the Basanti Cotton Mill paid some bonuses during the years prior to 1947. Some of the Mills paid bonus equivalent to a month's wage and some for a longer period. We consider that the method adopted in Madras for distribution of bonus is fair and reasonable. In the Buckingham and Carnatic Mills the bonus paid is linked with profits distributed. If the dividend declared to the shareholders is 12½ per cent., the bonus is 12½ ÷ 100 × 12 or 1½ months' wages. When 30 per cent. dividend was declared by the Madras Mills three months' bonus was paid. In the award of the Industrial Tribunal on the conditions of labour in the Textile Industry in the Madras Presidency Rao Bahadur M. Venkataramaiya, the Adjudicator, favoured distribution of bonus in the Textile Industry in that Province on the method adopted by the Buckingham and Carnatic Mills. His observation on the point is that "if the shareholders who have contributed towards capital get a certain percentage of dividend, the same percentage should be made available to the workers whose investment, viz., labour is evaluated at the wages paid to them in the year". We also consider that adoption of that principle for distribution of bonus in this Province would bring about some uniformity in the matter and be fair to both capital and labour and recommend accordingly. The bonus paid shall be linked with the dividend declared.

A question now arises as to which worker should be entitled to bonus and which not. It seems reasonable that all those who worked in the year should participate in the distribution of bonus. This Tribunal, therefore, holds that all those who are in service on the date of declaration of dividend will be entitled to bonus, but no one who was absent for more than 60 days in the year (excluding leave and holidays) shall be entitled to the bonus. Distribution will be pro rata—ratable to the length of service in the year.

Payment of this bonus should not be made dependent on such matters as production, good conduct, regular attendance, etc., because the bonus is paid not on account of regular attendance or good conduct but on account of profits earned by the Mills.

Another controvertial question is whether persons with less than one year's service should also be entitled to the bonus. The earnings of a worker in a year being the standard to determine bonus, every worker who was in service when the bonus accrued, is entitled to participate in it.

Bonus should be distributed on the principles laid down by the Tribunal from 1947 onwards, according to the following formula:—

$$\text{Bonus of a worker in a year.} = \frac{\text{Total wages and dearness allowance earned by the worker in the year} \times \text{dividend declared.}}{100} \times \frac{\text{Total number of days worked } \textit{plus} \text{ authorised holidays and leave on full pay.}}{\text{Number of days in the year.}}$$

Point No. 6—Provident Fund, Gratuity and Pension.

The claims of the Unions are for—

(i) Provident Fund.—The Unions demand that workmen of all categories shall, after 3 months' service, contribute 1 anna 6 pies to 2 annas per rupee out of their wages and that the employers shall contribute an equal amount at the end of each year.

(ii) Gratuity at one month's pay per year.

(iii) Pension at the rate, which the Government employees get. The demand for pension was made only by the Serampore Sutakal Mazdoor Union.

The Millowners' Association is agreeable to accept a scheme of Compulsory Contributory Provident Fund by which all permanent workmen are to subscribe 6¼ per cent. of their basic wages and the employers are to supplement the savings of the workmen at the end of each year by a contribution of an equal amount. This Tribunal also accepts the proposal. There shall be a scheme for compulsory Contributory Provident Fund in the line indicated in Appendix C (so far as it may be made applicable). All permanent workmen which include clerks as well shall subscribe 6¼ per cent. of their basic wages, i.e., 1 anna per rupee to the fund and the savings of each year shall be supplemented at the end of the year by the employers by a contribution of an equal amount. The full contribution of the employers shall be available to the workmen only on retirement, resignation or dismissal except on the ground of misconduct, after full 9 years' service. A workman, retrenched for no fault of his, or, in the event of death, his legal representatives shall also be entitled to the full contribution irrespective of the length of his service. In other cases, the employers will be entitled to make deductions from their contributions as laid down in rule 13 of the Model Rules.

This Tribunal does not consider it expedient, in view of the present financial condition of the individual mills, to institute immediately any scheme for compulsory gratuity or pension in addition to Contributory Provident Fund. For the uncovered period anterior to the introduction of the Provident Fund scheme (either by this award or otherwise), the workmen shall get a gratuity. This shall be, for each year of service of the uncovered period, at the rate of ½ month's basic pay calculated at the rate the workmen would be drawing on the date of this award. This amount will be available to the workmen in full or in part on the same conditions and under the same circumstances as the employers' contribution for the Compulsory Contributory Provident Fund.

Points Nos. 7 and 9—Leave, holidays and working hours.

As arguments overlap we consider it expedient to discuss these two points together.

Demand of the Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress.—(a) Leave and holidays and (b) Reduction of working hours.

Demands of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour.—(a) Leave and holidays and (b) Reduction of working hours.

On behalf of the various Associations it has been argued that sufficient leave and reduction of working hours have the effect of increasing efficiency and production. It has been contended that Labour Associations all round the world are keen on reduction of working hours and increase of holidays.

As regards the general question whether increase of leave and reduction of working hours enhance efficiency, there cannot be any doubt. But there is a limit to the operation of this proposition. We do appreciate that after a certain period energy lapses and production falls compared to what is produced by one working in early hours. The real point in this is to ascertain the stage when production falls. As yet figures are not available to show that production falls on account of decreased efficiency towards the end of the workng day as prescribed. It has been argued that an experiment was held in India and it was found that despite reduction of working hours there was an increase in production. The illustration is not at all helpful because during that period shifts were multiplied and what we get was the result of multiplied shifts. As the data are not available, this Tribunal considers it inexpedient to reduce the working hours by way of laying down a standard for this industry.

Sri P. Sanyal on behalf of Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress argued that in France, Belgium and other few places the workers in industries get 26 days' holidays and 1 to 6 days' leave for family reasons and that in Brussels (I. L. O.) the Textile Committee emphasises the necessity of leave without stating the number of days involved.

We have in Bengal two statutes, viz., the Indian Factories Act prescribing an irreducible period of leave for workers in a factory and the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act prescribing the maximum leave for employees in a commercial establishment not covered by the Factories Act. Jonab Safatullah Khan on behalf of the National Chamber of Labour contended that our statute was borrowed from the western countries and the climatic condition was overlooked. He emphasised on the fact that here the workers have to work in a hot climate and they exhaust themselves after a little work and wear themselves out completely in a shorter time unless opportunities are given for recoupment. The argument was reinforced by another contention that malaria is a local disease in Bengal and the workers are not immune from it. He claims some special consideration.

Considering all the arguments and the present tendency to ameliorate the conditions of the workers we prescribe that the workers in the Mills shall, on completion of 12 months' continuous service, get, as under the Factories Act, 10 days' privilege leave; in addition they will get casual leave for 5 days and sick leave for 15 days. There will be 6 festival holidays. Privilege leave shall accumulate for two years. All these leaves shall be on full pay. It is further decided that sick leave shall be granted on a medical certificate, and the Company shall have always the right to have any applicant for sick leave examined by its own doctor and at its own cost. Whenever an employee is found entitled to pay, full or half, his Dearness Allowance shall be taken into account. For determining whether a workman has completed 12 months' continuous service the Explanation at the end of Section 49B of the Indian Factories Act shall be the guiding principle. The provision regarding sick leave shall not be in operation after Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, comes into force.

So far as the working hours are concerned, we have already said that the illustration put forward does not help us in any way to show that the marginal hours are unproductive. We do not feel justified to reduce the working hours especially as data are not available to show that there are some unproductive hours within the prescribed limit. We decide that so far as working hours are concerned, the provisions of the Factories Act will apply to the workers in the Mills.

The clerical staff and other employees not coming within the Factories Act shall be governed by the Bengal Shops and Establishments Acts as regards leave, holidays and working hours.

Point No. 8—Recognition of Unions.

Point No. 10—Conditions of Service.

(a) Service cards.—This point is conceded on behalf of the employers. Service cards for the workmen shall be maintained in the form indicated in Appendix D. The employers may add other details, if considered material.

(b) Rationalization and retrenchment.—Indian National Trade Union Congress does not dispute the propriety of rationalization but demands that there should be no retrenchment. Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress objects to intensification of work by reducing staff. Sri Sibnath Banerjee objects to increase of work by rationalization. Hitherto Indian labour had been cheap. With such a small amount a man could be obtained that the industrialists considered that it was useless to spend more money on improved machinery or to have economic units or to reduce working hours. The result has been that in Bengal we find machineries and lay out requiring too many men. Practically one weaver manages one loom. A girl in the Far East manages many times more. She can do this because of the improved machinery. It has been possible to go on with the obsolete lay out because labour has been cheap. When there is the demand for putting higher cost for the labour it must necessarily imply rationalization. Unless rationalization be conceded the result will be that the cost of production will increase and, as India is not much advanced in industry, foreign goods will flood in and our industries will be lost. Therefore the Indian industries must be improved to the extent that it can compete with the production in foreign countries in bulk as also in cost. This means rationalization by improved machineries as also by substituted arrangement of work by which man power can be reduced. What is objectionable is the introduction of a harmful practice or to exploit the labour. During the prescribed time the workers must work. A worker must justify his wages by his output. If he is to get more he must produce more. This is only possible by rationalization.

In one of the meetings of the National American Manufacturers, the Prisident remarked:—"We in this country follow this policy small cost to consumers, high wages to workers, and fair return for owners of capital. These are the principles we are guided by. If you follow that, you will reproduce America."—(Proceedings of the Conference during 15th to 18th December, 1947, on Industrial Development in India, Government of India, Ministry of Industry and Supply, New Delhi, page 30.) This is possible only by rationalization.

It has been contended before us that in the name of rationalization the Company may effect retrenchment. We do foresee that rationalization necessarily implies reduction unless the Mills are extended. The Millowners have agreed not to take recourse to retrenchment within one year without exhausting all possible sources of introducing multiple shifts. We think that this will be a safeguard against any arbitrary retrenchment.

The next question is about the mode of retrenchment. From the workers' side it has been said that the principle of "last come first go" should be followed. Sri Sankar Banerjee on behalf of the Millowners generally agreed to this proposition with this reservation that the principle must not be carried too far to affect the persons in key positions. We do appreciate the force of this contention and we decide that in retrenchment of any particular type of workers the principle of "last come first go" in that group shall always apply provided that amongst the workers recruited in the same year the Company will have the discretion in the matter of selection on the ground of inefficiency. We however recommend that at the time of first appointment, the management should consider the claims of the retrenched hands if they seek reemployment.

In all cases of retrenchment, the workmen shall be entitled to one month's notice or, in lieu thereof, one month's pay including Dearness Allowance.

(c) Compensatory allowance for involuntary unemployment.—This Tribunal is inclined to give direction on this point in the line indicated by the Government of India letter No. L. 1891 of 12th June 1944 as modified by letter No. L. 1891 of 20th February 1946. This was agreed to by both parties.

For involuntary unemployment of a workman, 75 per cent. of the average daily rate of pay shall be paid for the first fortnight of unemployment and 50 per cent. of such pay for the second fortnight. This benefit will be available only for one month in a half year, and no benefit will be given in the half-yearly periods of January to June, or July to December, unless the number of days of involuntary unemployment has exceeded 7 in the half year.

To qualify for the benefit, a workman must answer to a muster roll once in a day at the usual place of unemployment or with the permission of the employer at any other place and a workman will be ineligible for the benefit if he unreasonably refuses to work even of different sort in his usual factory or refuses an employment provided in the same locality by transfer from one department to another in the same undertaking.

(d) Confirmation.—Sri Sankar Banerjee, Counsel for the Millowners' Association, assured this Tribunal that the full complement of labour force for the mills would be confirmed men. After this assurance, we think that the Budliwalas who are no more than casual workers (a sort of leave reserve) will be a very small percentage of the permanent staff. Probationers shall be confirmed after four months' service, provided there are vacancies in the total complement of the mills.

(e) Promotion.—Promotion will depend upon, firstly, on efficiency and, secondly, on seniority. No vacancy in higher posts shall be filled up by an outsider so long as a workman already in service is capable of filling up the post.

(f) and (g) Suspension, discharge and dismissal.—It was pointed out for the employees that security of tenure of service is best calculated to promote efficiency and contentment in the workmen. With this objective the demands under the heads "suspension, discharge and dismissal" were formulated on behalf of the employees as follows:—

(a) There shall be no dismissal except in case of misconduct duly established before a joint committee of employers and the union;

(b) No employee shall be liable to be dismissed merely on account of his inability to attend on the day following holiday or periods of leave. The day or days of such absence may be treated as day of leave without pay; and

(c) The practice of suspension from service and of "shut out" in case of late attendance shall be discontinued.

While it is recognised that workmen ought to feel that they are as much a part of the industry as the employers without which a sense of responsibility in them, which alone can ensure maximum contribution to output, is not likely to develop, it must not be lost sight of that discipline is a thing which has got to be strictly adhered to in any organisation and the Tribunal feels unable to recommend that absence on the day following any holiday or period of leave should in all cases be treated as a day of leave without pay only and no further serious view should be taken about it. Such a recommendation would only have the effect of encouraging the workmen to absent themselves after holidays and periods of leave.

We consider that before such extreme steps as discharge and dismissal or even suspension are taken by the management, proceedings in writing embodying the specific charges against a particular workman should be drawn up and such workman should be supplied with a copy of such proceeding in good time to enable him to defend himself. In such a proceeding the workman concerned may defend himself without the assistance of any outsider or he may have himself defended by another workman or even by lawyer. The range of punishment may vary from dismissal to suspension for 4 days on the ground of misconduct. The punishment in all cases is to be given by the Manager.

The following acts or omissions will be treated as misconduct:—

(a) Wilful insubordination or disobedience whether alone or in combination with another or others to any lawful and reasonable order of a superior.

(b) Taking part in any illegal strike or continuing in any strike after it becomes illegal.

(c) Inciting whilst on the premises any operative to take recourse to any illegal strike.

(d) Theft, fraud, or dishonesty in connection with the Company's business or property.

(f) Habitual absence without leave or absence without leave for more than six consecutive days without sufficient cause.

(g) Habitual late attendance.

(h) Habitual breach of any Standing Orders.

(i) Collection of any money within the Mill premises for purposes not sanctioned by the Manager.

(j) Drunkenness or riotous or disorderly behaviour during working hours or any act subversive of discipline or efficiency

(k) Habitual negligence or neglect of work.

(l) Habitual breach of any rules, or instructions for the maintenance and running of any department or maintaining its cleanliness, and any other serious act of misconduct.

A workman suspended will not be permitted to work in the mills for the period of suspension and no remuneration will be paid or be due to him for this period.

Workmen may be fined for any of the undermentioned offences, but the offence if repeated, or in any gross case, may be treated as misconduct. Fines will be imposed in accordance with the provisions of the Payment of Wages Act for the following offences, or at the discretion of the Manager for acts of misconduct specified above as an alternative to dismissal or suspension:—

(a) Absence without leave without sufficient cause.

(c) Smoking in the Mill premises except in places where smoking is permitted.

(d) Entering or leaving, or attempting to enter or leave the Mill premises except by the gate provided for the purpose.

(e) Absence without leave or without sufficient cause from appointed work in the Mill.

(f) Breach of any rules or instructions for the maintenance and running of any department and maintaining its cleanliness.

(g) Damage to work in process or to any other property of the Company.

(h) Interference with any safety devices installed on the Mills.

(i) Distributing or exhibiting inside the Mill premises hand-bills, pamphlets or posters without the previous sanction of the Manager.

No fine shall be imposed except by the officers authorised under the Payment of Wages Rules and until the workman concerned has been given an opportunity of being heard.

All fines imposed on workmen and realised will be credited to a special fines fund which will be utilised for such purpose as may be approved in this behalf by the Provincial Government in accordance with the provisions of the Payment of Wages Act.

(h) Night-shift work.—Only adult and able-bodied male workers shall be employed for night shift work. The night shift work should be allotted to the workmen, as far as practicable, by rotation, so that no workmen may be employed in night shifts for more than 2 months at a stretch. Other matters regarding night shifts shall be according to the provisions of the Indian Factories Act.

Point No. 11—Sounding of whistles.

For the employees it was wanted that whistles should be sounded before starting, recess and closing of the Mill. This is quite reasonable and Mr. Banerjee on behalf of the Millowners' Association agreed that this would be done.

Point No. 12—Abolition of Head Jobbers, Sardar and contract labour system.

It was demanded that contract labour system should be abolished and the posts of Head Jobbers and Sardars also should be done away with. The Association maintained that the system of contract labour is almost non-existent. The Association has no objection to the abolition of the contract labour system and the posts of Head Jobbers and Sardars. "The demand be allowed."

Point No. 13—Abolition of distinction in wages and dearness allowance and the service conditions between male and female workers.

There shall not be any distinction in the service conditions between a male and a female worker, except in the matter of wages and dearness allowance. The female workers shall get [illegible] of the wages and dearness allowance fixed for the male workers of the same category as already indicated under the heads "Minimum Basic Wage" and "Dearness Allowance".

Point No. 14—Welfare activities.

There are seven items which will be considered separately. The consideration must be prefaced by some observations which will make the reasons for the decisions clear.

An industry is a social institution. Though apparently the mill-owners spend money at the first instance, they get it ultimately from the consumer public, i.e., the society. If there are other arrangements for social welfare which a mill worker can enjoy in common with the public, there is no reason why this should be duplicated at the cost of the society. Where, however, the workers are placed in such a way that they cannot take advantage of the amenities offered by the State, arrangements may be made for those things. An industry being an asset of the State, the society must not grudge the workers who are denied the other advantages to have this and tax it on the goods produced.

After the legislations for the welfare of the workmen, e.g., the Indian Factories Act, Bengal Maternity Benefit Act, State Insurance Act, there is very little for this Tribunal to recommend. Sufficient provisions have been made in the Indian Factories Act and the rules framed thereunder for cleanliness, sanitation, latrines, washing arrangements, drinking water and rest room. If the provisions are observed, there will be very little gound for complaint for the workers. Separate machineries have been set up under the different statutes to enforce compliance with the provisions of the different Acts. Repetition of those provisions by this Tribunal will not improve the situation. In case of non-compliance of the provisions of the Statutes, it is always open to the workmen and the Unions to bring the matter to the notice of the proper authorities. This Tribunal proposes only to supplement the statutory provision.

(b) Education, and (a) Recreation and amusement.—It has been referred to above that the Mills are located in such places that the children of the workers can attend the public primary schools. They can also attend cinemas. It is, therefore, not found advisable to raise the cost of production by giving to the workers these facilities in duplicate. Education is primarily a duty of the State and the Millowners can be made liable for it only when the mill is located in such a place that the workers cannot take advantage of the facilities offered by the State. Here this is not the case and, therefore, the Tribunal rejects the demand that the Millowners shall have primary schools and technical schools for the workers and their children. This Tribunal, however, will leave it to the mill authorities to consider whether it will be of advantage to them to give some lessons in technique to the workmen for increasing their efficiency. This will help the Mills.

Government is already spending very large amounts for recreation and amusement of the working classes. Government expenses are increasing every year. In this transition period, it has got to be examined how far Government provision is made when they are already making provisions. By increase in wages the burden on the industry has already increased and it has got to be seen how it receives the shock. After the industry becomes accustomed to the present wage scale these matters of minor importance can be considered. For the present this Tribunal recommends the installation of a Radio (tuned to Calcutta) with loud speakers, if necessary. This will not entail a heavy burden on the management. On the other hand, this is expected to have some educative value and provides some recreation to the workers at one and the same time.

Where there are barracks for workers, a room should be provided for the workers to meet and spend their leisure in innocent indoor games. The materials for such indoor games shall be provided by the workers themselves.

As fields for outdoor games are not likely to be available for all the Mills, this Tribunal does not propose to give any direction for facilities for outdoor games.

(c) Libraries.—It has already been noted that the mills are located in such a way that the workers are not denied what the common men get and therefore this demand cannot be upheld. This Tribunal, however, recommends that some elementary books having educative value, specially about industries and labour, may be provided in the common room.

(d) Medical facilities.—Medical aid to the workers may be divided into three classes—(i) medical aid for ailment and diseases which a worker suffers in common with the general public, (ii) medical aid for occupational diseases and ailments arising out of hazards of work and (iii) general first aid.

Item No. (iii) is an imperative duty of the industry. For item No. (i) the industry has no obligation. It is the duty of the State. Item No. (ii) is the joint liability of the industry as also of the State. The State is liable because an industry is an asset of the country and, therefore, it has got to spend some money for maintaining this asset. For this purpose the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, has been passed. The Tribunal can go no further. So far as first aid arrangements are concerned, every mill must have such arrangements in the line indicated by the Indian Factories Act and the rules framed thereunder. The members of this Tribunal visited some of the mills and found first aid arrangements. In one of the mills the members failed to notice any room for examination of patients for giving first aid. This Tribunal directs that there must be separate rooms for examination and giving first aid to male and female workers. This Tribunal further advises all employers to arrange the organization of first aid training in their institutions. It is suggested that at least four persons out of every 150 workers should be trained in first aid according to the standards laid down by the St. John Ambulance Association.

(e) Arrangement for nourishment to nursing mothers and feeding of babies, and (g) Rest rooms and creches.—Section 33(2) of the Factories Act makes provision for creches and this Tribunal directs that there must be creches wherein the requisite number of women are employed. This Tribunal directs that there should be cradles and toys as also arrangement for feeding and cleaning the babies. This Tribunal directs that the women in charge of creches or, at any rate, at least one, must have been herself a mother. The Tribunal further directs that there must be rest shelters for the workers to await joining their work or during the interval period. A portion of the shelter must be partitioned off for females where they can also nurse babies without being observed by others. We do not think that any further direction is necessary.

(f) Cheap canteen and ration shops.—This Tribunal further directs that there should be a cost price canteen in every factory. The Mill will supply rooms, furniture, utensils and fuel and when the number of people engaged is less than fifty, the Mill will supply one servant, in other cases two servants. The Mill will bear these expenses. This will be managed by a joint board of employers and employees, and the articles will be sold at cost price. The almirahs or wagons supplied for keeping the foodstuff must be flyproof. There will be sitting arrangements. The Tribunal has no objection to the conversion of a part of the shelter, if it is big enough for canteen as well. There must be adequate supervision by the mill about the hygienic rules followed in preparing he foodstuff and in keeping the rooms sanitarily clean. This Tribunal is not impressed with the necessity of coercing the employer to open a ration shop after decontrol of articles. If, however, the workers like, they may open a shop on co-operative basis outside the factory and the mill in that case will supply a room and give such advice as may be sought for.

The Tribunal further directs that in the canteen room there must be arrangements for washing hands and mouth. There must be cool drinking water available to the workers just outside the factory rooms.

The Tribunal further directs that there should be washing places for the workers to clean themselves after the day's work. There should be sufficient water there and liquid soap for washing body should be supplied free of cost.

Point No. 15—Housing and House Allowance.

The demand on behalf of the employees is that better housing arrangement should be made for them and where this is not possible they should be awarded house allowance. On principle Mr. Sankar Banerjee agreed that he is in sympathy with the view that something should be done for housing but he maintained that in this behalf the entire responsibility cannot be taken by the employers. According to the Association provision for adequate housing is a matter which is principally and particularly the responsibility of the State. In this connection it will be useful to refer to the report of the Industrial Housing Sub-Committee of the Standing Labour Committee, New Delhi, dated the 25th May 1946, which at page 15 reads as follows:

"We in this Committee after consideration of all aspects of the problem have come to the conclusion that the task of housing industrial workers in urban area because of its magnitude can only be successfully undertaken by the collective efforts of the local authorities, Government and the employers. The Committee are unanimous in their opinion that it will not be possible to provide the minimum standard required for workers' houses on an economic basis for the lower paid industrial workers unless such housing schemes are subsidised by the Central and Provincial Governments and the employers. In urban areas and other areas developed by the local authorities workers' houses should be built and owned by the local authorities."

In the ninth meeting of the Standing Labour Committee held at New Delhi on the 25th and 26th July 1946, as appears from the item No. 7 in the Summary of Proceedings in the Report of the Industrial Housing Sub-Committee of the Standing Labour Committee a resolution by the Standing Labour Committee was adopted to the following effect:

The Standing Labour Committee requested the Government of India to establish immediately National Working Class Housing Board and also to take steps through the Provincial Governments for the establishment of Provincial Boards for promoting the housing of working classes and the carrying out of the programmes as speedily as possible. The functions of the National Housing Board should include among others—

(a) laying down standards and policies for suitable housing in different areas;

(b) preparing standard plans, specifications and general housing schemes;

(d) taking measures for making building materials, land and other necessary facilities available at reasonable rates and in sufficient measures;

(e) advising Central and Provincial Governments and other public organisations and local bodies with a view to promoting the objective of housing working classes;

The functions of the Provincial Housing Boards should include among others—

(a) undertaking the construction and management of the houses built out of the funds provided by the Central Government, and

(b) supervising and carrying out the housing schemes undertaken by the Provincial Governments and other public organisations.

These matters have received favourable consideration of the Labour Department of the Central Government. The Central Government is reported to have agreed to contribute 12½ per cent. of the cost of building houses but not exceeding Rs. 200 per house.

From what has been stated above it is clear that the opinion of authoritative quarters is that housing is a matter regarding which some responsibility rests in quarters other than the employers and without bringing all these parties in the dispute the entire responsibility of making provisions for housing cannot be laid at the employers alone. Besides the problem of acquiring building materials at the present times is very acute as is well known. Though housing arrangements may not be possible just at present improvements in the quarters already existing can be effected without much difficulty. The Association is opposed to the grant of any housing allowance to the workers as they maintain that in assessing remuneration they have taken into account basic necessities of life such as food, clothing, housing etc.

So far we have dealt with the question of difficulties in undertaking construction of new houses. There is another side of the question which is repair and improvement of the existing quarters. With a view to obtaining first hand knowledge about the housing arrangements of the workers we visited some of the mills and the quarters where the workmen are housed.

In Kesoram Cotton Mills which we visited complaint was made to us by the workmen about inadequacy of water supply particularly in the rooms upstairs. We consider that the mill authorities should take steps for supply of water at least two hours in the morning and two hours in the evening.

Bangasri Cotton Mill which we next visited requires more water taps, drains, doors of latrines and repairs of walls of Kutcha sheds in the quarters of the workmen.

We visited Rampuria Cotton Mills also. In the quarters of the workmen, separate bathing places for males and females consistent with the privacy of the latter should be arranged for.

There is room for improvement in the quarters of the Bangaluxmi Cotton Mills which also we visited. Drainage is not up to the mark and it may be improved without incurring very appreciable cost. In the Kutcha quarters we noticed that cooking was done by some of the workers inside the very room where they live with their families including a number of children. The cooking may conveniently be done in the verandah.

As we consider that the workmen are not entitled to any free housing accommodation they cannot claim house allowance either.

As the award that we are going to make cannot remain binding on the parties for more than one year we feel that in the absence of availability of building materials at present times, we would not be justified in directing the employers to undertake constructions of new houses. If, however, any of the employers are in a position to construct any new house for the workers they are certainly welcome and such a course will certainly not go without appreciation on the part of the workmen. In some of the mills there are some barracks which may be improved and made habitable. And if this be done this will also go a good way in the matter of solution of the housing problem. The necessity of housing arrangement cannot be overemphasised.

Though the plans of buildings to be constructed may rest with Government, we feel we should place on record our appreciation of the lay out of the quarters of the Bangasri Cotton Mills. We do feel that the workers living there could forget that they were working in a mill or were mill hands. They could feel that they were living in their village homes. We would have greatly appreciated if we could find vegetable plants and creepers grown by the workers round their quarters.

Point No. 16—Wages and Conditions of Service of Badliwallas.

While this point regarding wages and conditions of service of Badliwallas was taken up for hearing Mr. Sanyal on behalf of the Bengal National Trade Union Congress agreed to supply materials about specific cases for examination by the Tribunal. Since then the materials were not supplied by Mr. Sanyal and in the absence thereof we find ourselves unable to give any decision regarding the conditions of service of Badliwallas. The number of Badliwallas will considerably fall on the assurance of the mill-owners that the full complement of labour will be permanent hands.

Point No. 17—Maternity Benefit.

On behalf of the Indian National Trade Union Congress (Bengal Branch) the demand on this count is that three months' leave in all with full pay and other amenities including dearness allowance should be given to female workers before and after child birth and medical facilities should be provided for free of charge. The Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress also laid a demand on the self-same terms.

The Mill Owners' Association resisted the demand contending that the present statutory provisions should continue to apply and that if changes are to be effected this should apply to all industries throughout India on uniform basis. It was maintained that Government of India alone was competent to bring about a uniformity in the matter on all-India basis.

We are not aware when the Employees' State Insurance Act will come into operation. The question of maternity benefit and similar other matters are so important that some provision regarding such matters cannot be kept in abeyance.

Mr. Banerjee on behalf of the Association at the time of hearing agreed on principle that some provision should be made regarding maternity benefit. He, however, raised the question as to the extent of it.

We consider it fair to make the following provision regarding maternity benefit.

Over and above the leave earned as a matter of right on account of working in the mill, every female worker shall be entitled to leave for a period of six weeks immediately preceding and including the day of her delivery, and for such period immediately following that day as would provide the benefit for a total period of 12 weeks in all. During the period of this leave the woman worker concerned shall be paid according to provisions of the Bengal Maternity Benefit Act.

In a case of miscarriage or delivery before time, the female worker concerned shall enjoy all the benefits under the Bengal Maternity Benefit Act with the addition that leave for six weeks shall be granted after the date of miscarriage or of the delivery before time. We consider that instead of notifying the Manager or the official so authorised under the Bengal Maternity Benefit Act about the day and month of confinement in this connection, a certificate to the effect that the case had been one of miscarriage or of delivery before time (9 months) should be deemed sufficient.

Points Nos. 18 and 19—Overtime work and overtime payment and Benefits for work on Sundays and holidays

Provision has been made in section 47 of the Factories Act, 1934, about overtime work and overtime payment, and it is not open to any Tribunal to transgress the provisions of the enactment. The matter of overtime is to be governed by the statute. It is not disputed that after an employee had worked for 48 hours in the week he should be paid at the rate of twice his ordinary rate of pay for every extra hour worked. Under section 35 of the Factories Act no daily worker shall be allowed to work in a factory on a Sunday unless he has had or will have a holiday for a whole day on one of the 3 days immediately before or after that Sunday. Thus for every Sunday worked an employee is to get a substituted day of rest. So long as a worker gets one off day in seven, it is not understood how any demand for extra payment for Sunday can be supported. When on a Sunday a worker works he gets a substituted holiday and therefore in such a case the question of overtime payment does not arise as Sunday carries pay. The question relating to both these issues must be governed by the provisions in the Factories Act.

The next question is whether the clerical staff is entitled to any overtime pay. For the employees it was contended that overtime payment should be extended to clerks also. The clerical and non-clerical staff not covered by the Indian Factories Act shall be governed by the Bengal Shop and Establishment Act as regards working hours, weekly holidays and payment for overtime work.

The next point to be examined is whether pay for computing overtime is the basic pay or the total remuneration including dearness and other allowances. "Overtime" is a statutory word having a statutory meaning as given to it in section 47 of the Act. "Pay" appears to mean basic pay. Looking to the scheme of the Factories Act no other meaning seems possible to be given to it. Section 49 C which deals with pay during annual holidays read with the definition of the word "wages" in the Payment of Wages Act, 1936, shows that in that section pay has been taken to include allowances also. It is clear therefore that what the legislature intends, it puts down. There is nothing however in Section 47 of the Act to suggest that pay in that section was intended to include dearness or any allowance also. Thus in our view in computing overtime basic pay need only be considered.

Point No. 20—Term for Recruitment of Labour.

Point No. 21—Uniforms to Durwans.

This demand was made on behalf of the Bengal National Trade Union Congress. It was urged that Darwans should be given uniforms, both winter and summer. The claim was not resisted. In fact for maintaining discipline and for presentation of businesslike appearance in any office or factory liveries to Darwans are necessary and is everywhere recognised. The employers will therefore supply to the Darwans uniforms of the type as might be intelligible to the public for fixing their identities as Darwans. We must however note that usual uniforms in vogue in the country when supplied must be worn by the Darwans when on duty.

Point No. 22—Interim reliefs.

This point no longer arises.

Points Nos. 23 and 24—Provision for preventing loss of production on account of insufficient supply of materials, bad materials and bad accessories and the consequence thereof on the workers, and Joint Production Board.

The Tribunal has not been impressed with the necessity of a Joint Production Board. Works Committee is considered sufficient.

Nothing concrete and substantial has been suggested under Point No. 23. The mill owners can possibly have no fancy for bad materials, nor can it be expected that the mill owners will not get sufficient materials, if available, for this will affect their profits materially. It cannot be believed that the mill owners will have bad accessories, if they can help.

The Union complains that unjustly 41 workmen have been dismissed. On behalf of the Company it has been alleged that on account of transit difficulties they could not clear their godowns and there was paucity of purchasers and they had to shrink production, and for this reason they closed down some of the machines. There was no denial from the other side that a particular machine was closed down and all the workmen attached thereto were retrenched. The Company urges that on account of shrinkage of work retrenchment is inevitable. The Company gives this assurance to the Tribunal that if and when they will be in a position to reopen the machines they will take in those retrenched men. We direct that when the machines are reopened they will be reopened in order of their number and the workmen attached to each will be taken in gradually. The period of unemployment will be treated as leave without pay. This will not be counted as duty for the purpose of earning leave but will be counted a service for the purpose of gratuity, increment, etc Both the Union and the Company agreed to thi position.

There was a general strike in the Dunbar Cotton Mills from the 2nd of October 1946 till the 18th of January 1947. On 22nd January 1947 some workers were discharged, and the grievance of the Union has been that the Management has illegally dismissed those workmen. A list has been appended to the written statement giving 16 names with a prayer for their reinstatement. All the 16 were female workers.

The Company's defence is that owing to reduction in supplies and control of production, in particular varieties, it had to reduce the staff.

While the matter stood on the level of legality and illegality, the learned Advocate on behalf of the Union at the time of hearing made out the case that by illegality he meant victimisation for trade union activities. So far as the question of legality or illegality is concerned, we may consider here whether the workmen have been discharged or dismissed for trade union activities. Of the sixteen women, three have been examined. One is Sabitri bearing muster-roll No. 653. The next is Muneswari bearing muster-roll No. 650. The third is Lasmania bearing muster-roll No. 647. They say that they had been members of the Union and also say that they took part in picketing at the time of the strike and for this reason they have been discharged. So far as the question of their being members of the Union is concerned, their statements stand unrebutted though we think the evidence of the President, Sri Mrinal Kanti Banerjee, an innocent gentleman, does not carry it very long. We take it, however, that they had been members of the Union. Sri Mrinal Kanti added a remark that these women were volunteers at the time of discharge. There were 1,800 workers in Sri Mrinal Kanti Banerjee's Union and it was not practicable for him to know every worker by name and face to be able to say that he or she was a volunteer or did the work of a volunteer. He had to confess at last that he could not say if these females were volunteers. Sabitri, one of the workers, gave birth to a child during the period of strike, and it is very difficult to appreciate when it is urged that she was a volunteer engaged in picketing. She confessed that she did not go near the gate of the mill during the period of strike.

. The next female witness is Muneswari. She said in her evidence-in-chief that she only desisted from attending mill and did not do anything else.

The other female is Lasmania. She said that there were 100 or 125 female workers and that 15 or 17 women resisted others. She, however, said that the males who did picketing were not discharged.

It is not understandable, if the Company wanted to discharge the workers because they were engaged in picketing, why the male workers who were expected to exercise more power and influence were not at all discharged. The onus is upon the employees to prove that the action taken against them was unjust and was due to ulterior motives. This the Union has failed to discharge.

In the opinion of this Tribunal the workers were not discharged for any trade union activities.

Termination of services immediately following the strike no doubt gives rise to a suspicion that these persons might have been sacked for taking part in the strike. From the evidence of the witnesses for the Union we find that the male workers who did picketing work were not sacked, nor were the office bearers of the Union. The reasonable inference is that the termination of services has been on a different ground. It was commented that the Company did not produce any paper. There is, however, no complaint that the Management took new men after discharging these people. This clearly shows that the Company was doing reduced work, indicating that reduction of work was a necessity on trading grounds. In our opinion no case has been made out for reinstatement of these 16 workers.

Point No. 27—Wages and Dearness Allowance of the workers of the Dunbar Cotton Mills from 22nd October 1946 to 18th January 1947.

On behalf of the workers of the Dunbar Cotton Mills a claim has been made that they are entitled to pay and dearness allowance for the period of strike (i.e., from 22nd October 1946 to the 18th January 1947) in the mills. The claim has been resisted on the ground that during the period the Ordinance was in force, it was illegal to stage a strike without proper notice and that no notice for 14 days was given to the Management. It was therefore argued that the strike was illegal and the workers were not entitled to any allowance. Another argument which was put forward was that it was an unnecessary strike and therefore the workers were not entitled to pay and dearness allowance.

We shall first dispose of the question about notice. On behalf of the Union a certificate of posting of the notice has been put in. This shows that a notice was posted on 7th October 1946 and the natural and legal presumption is that it must have reached the addressee in time. The Manager has since left the place and cannot be examined. The presumption thus raised stands unrebutted. This is not rebutted by the production of a notice with a note made by the Management that it was received on a later date. On behalf of the Union it has been stated that another notice was tendered personally. It is thus clear that it was a strike after 14 days' notice.

While considering the question of strike the Tribunal will not consider the grievances of remote times—grievances not arising out of condition of service but grievances arising out of isolated incidents.

The dispute which led to the strike was referred to Srijut Ranjit Gupta by Government. Under the Ordinance then in force Government framed issues and it appears that no issue about the strike pay was made. This gives an opportunity to the Union to say that they had no hand in the matter of framing issues and therefore abandonment of this by Government cannot put their claim in jeopardy. It should however be remembered that the Union has failed to put in any paper to show that while the matter was still pending before Srijut Ranjit Gupta any specific claim was made for pay and allowance for the strike period.

Let us now turn to the merits of the question. It has been held by Tribunals in India and abroad that strike-pay may be allowed only when the strike becomes inevitable. It has been said by some that when the Management takes recourse to a sudden unfair practice a strike may be the only remedy left. To bring the case at par with those decisions evidence has been adduced that the Manager used to assault the workmen and the strike had to be staged. Evidence has been adduced that there were latrines within the factory premises and also there were different stalls or restaurants. It has been said by witnesses tha when the Manager found crowds clustering round the latrines or the tea stalls during working hours he used to chase them and ask them to go to work and in so doing used force. The Manager is no in India to answer this charge. The strike notice contains the statement that the Shahibs used to assault the workers. The strike notice is howeve based on a resolution of the workmen. The resolution was passed in a meeting in which demand were formulated and the Management of the Union was authorised to give a strike notice on those grounds. It however appears from the resolution that there was no item in which it wa said that the Manager or the Shahibs assaulted the workmen. Therefore the inclusion of this clause in the Charter of Demands annexed to the strike notice will not elevate the ground of strike. It is, no doubt, true that some time ago a resolution was adopted in the meeting of the workers that the Shahibs used to assault the workmen. The absence of this in the resolution by which the strike was adopted only goes to show that this was not a ground for which the strike was staged. The strike, as the resolution shows, was staged for improving the condition of service and wages. It has been systematically held by the Tribunals (in which we agree) that no strike pay ought to be allowed when it is staged simply for getting more wages and benefits and is not inevitable on account of unfair labour practice. On merits we are of opinion that no strike pay should be allowed.

Point No. 28—Gratuity and pension to workers of the Dunbar Mills retiring between 14th January 1947 and 22nd May 1947.

We referred to a strike in the Dunbar Cotton Mills while discussing Point No. 27, and this matter comes out of that incident. Srijut Ranajit Gupta in his award decided that the workmen would get some benefit in the nature of gratuity. The matter was referred to Srijut Ranajit Gupta on 14th January 1947 and the award made by him was accepted by the Government on 22nd May 1947. The Association demands that persons retiring between 14th January 1947 and 22nd May 1947 should get gratuity as laid down by Srijut Ranajit Gupta in the terms of the award. We do not find in this award any clause that the gratuity rules would be retrospective in effect. On the other hand, the Government order clearly shows that the decision shall remain in force and shall bind the Company and its employees "for a period of four months from the date of this order." "The date of this order", as we have said, is 22nd May 1947. This means that the order was in force with effect from 22nd May 1947. We therefore fail to see how the benefits of this award can be made available to the persons who retired before 22nd May 1947. We therefore decide that the persons retiring between 14th January 1947 and 22nd May 1947 are not entitled to the benefits of the gratuity as laid down in Srijut Ranajit Gupta's award.

Point No. 29—Compensation to the unemployed workmen of the Dunbar Mills from 14th March 1947.

This demand was made for the first time by an application, dated 2nd January 1948. There was no such demand from the workers of the Dunbar Mills in the original written statement of I. N. T. U. C. The Union did not place before this Tribunal under what circumstances there was unemployment and who the affected workers were. This Tribunal is not, accordingly, in a position to come to any decision and to give any definite direction.

Point No. 30—Effect of the award of Srijut R. Gupta in the dispute of the Dunbar and the Baorea Mills.

The award of Srijut Ranajit Gupta, dated 22nd May 1947, has no bearing on any of the special issues raised on behalf of the workmen of the Dunbar Cotton Mills except Point No. 28 and the effect of this award on Point No. 28 has already been discussed.

Point No. 31—Claim of the clerical staff of the Head Office and two compounders for 2 months' pay as Puja Bonus and a flat increment of Rs. 10 per month.

One item of grievance had been that Jnan Ranjan Das and Bejoy Chandra Manna, compounders, were not given increment, etc., as in the case of others. The grievance has been removed and no dispute exists on this score.

The claim of the Union had been that on the basis of an agreement the clerical staff of the Head Office at Calcutta were entitled to Puja Bonus at the rate of two months' basic wages and that they have not been paid this amount. The entire agreement is set out below.

The following agreement was reached through conciliation as to the above dispute. Shri Bishnu Banerjee on behalf of the Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association represented the clerical employees of the mills. Mr. B. L. Rampuria, one of the Directors, represented the Management.

1. In view of the fact that the graded scales of pay of all the employees including the clerical staff of the Textile Industries in Bengal will be determined by the Tribunal set up by the Government, it has been agreed that pending the decision of the said Tribunal, an ad-interim relief at Rs. 10 will be given to all clerical employees of the Rampuria Cotton Mill. This relief will be given effect from the month of September 1947.

2. Puja Bonus at the rate of two months' basic wages shall be paid to the clerical employees.

3. The position of wage rates of the staff of the Head Office of Mill was discussed and it was found that according to the Management, the amount of dearness allowance is included within the aggregate amount of pay given to such employees and in view of the fact that the scale shall be determined by the Tribunal, question of any further increment at present cannot be considered.

4. An Independence Day Bonus of 15 days' pay shall be given to the Head Office staff of the Mill immediately.

5. Provident Fund Scheme for the clerical staff of the Mill will be introduced with retrospective effect from the month of May 1947.

6. The Secretary of the Union assures the Management that pending the decision of the Tribunal in regard to wage rates, etc., of the Textile workers, no further demands in the said matters will be put forward. The Management assured that the agreement reached shall be given effect to immediately.

It may be noted that this was an agreement between Bishnu Chandra Banerjee, Secretary of the Rampooria Cotton Mills Employees' Association, and the Management. Though it was not signed by the Management, it has been accepted by it. It is obvious from paragraphs 1 and 2 that they relate to the clerical staff of the Mills. Paragraphs 3 and 4 relate to the Head Office staff and it has been clearly so mentioned. We find that when a case of Head Office clerks is referred to, it is specially mentioned that it relates to the Head Office staff. Paragraph 5 relates to the clerical staff of the Mills. The Tribunal is of opinion that paragraph 2 does not cover the case of Head Office employees. The demand is rejected.

Point No. 32—Claim of two employees, Subodh Chatterjee and Surendra Aich, for full wages for the period of their suspension.

This point has been settled outside and no dispute exists. So no adjudication is called for.

The grievance of the Union is that Khagendra Nath Mitra, Assistant Accountant, has been designated as a clerk, Haradhon Ghosh, Record-Keeper, has been designated as a clerk and Tarak Prosad Ghosh, Steno-Typist, has been designated as a Typist.

As a preface to this discussion we may state that it is agreed that Khagendra Nath Mitra was not recruited as an Assistant Accountant, nor Haradhon Ghosh as a Record-Keeper nor Tarak Prosad Ghosh as a Steno-Typist.

It appears from the evidence that Sri N. R. Majumdar, who is the Chief Accountant, wrote these designations in the Attendance Register in the month of July 1947. Mr. B. L. Rampuria (since deceased), the Managing Proprietor, who had been to his house in Bikanir from June to October, deleted these designations immediately on his return. The person examined said that N. R. Majumdar wrote these designations under instructions from the Managing Proprietor, Mr. Ramuria (deceased). Evidence is lacking to show that Mr. Rampuria gave instructions to N. R. Majumdar to write these designations. We are thus left with the evidence that N. R. Majumdar wrote these designations. The question is whether N. R. Majumdar was authorised to create new designations for clerks. There is nothing to show that N. R. Majumdar could elevate his own position or the position of any of the clerks. Therefore his actions cannot bind the Company. Furthermore, the Tribunal is not satisfied that these designations were given in a very regular and business-like way. Take, for example, the case of Haradhon Ghosh who says that he was elevated to the position of Record-Keeper. It transpires that he has not even any almirah in his charge, not to speak of any room. It is difficult to understand how he could be the Record-Keeper. We can understand that he was a Record clerk but not the Record-Keeper who is to remain in charge of an office.

Tarak Prosad Ghosh has produced a certificate saying that he was trained as a stenographer. He was not, however, appointed as a stenographer. This he admits. It is not very unnatural that, when necessary, for the sake of convenience, he might have been given some dictation. This does not make him a steno-typist by appointment. His evidence is self-contradictory. He says in cross-examination that in 1945 when the management wanted a stenographer, he was an applicant and he was made a stenographer, but that he was never called a stenographer in writing. Thus it is clear from his statement in the cross-examination that he was elevated to the post of stenographer in 1945 and not in July 1947 as pleaded.

We are clearly of opinion that the management never elevated these employees to the higher designations as alleged.

This demand of the Union is accordingly rejected.

Point No. 34—Claim of 4 workmen of the Rampuria Mills for retransfer to their former employment.

Sri Nikunja Behari Chatterjee, Sri Murali Mohan Das, Sri Radharaman Pramanik and Sri Harakali Chakravarti were transferred from their positions to different positions carrying equal pay. There is no question of victimisation or injury. Such change of table is necessary for administrative purposes and when this was explained, the learned Advocate for the Union abandoned the claim.

After discussion it is settled that 25 per cent. of 1st class fents (rejection cloths) may be sold to the workmen at the rate at which these are sold to other persons by the Mills.

Point No. 36—Claim for loans.

The claim is fantastic. They can take loans from the Provident Fund up to the limit allowable.

Point No. 37—Claim of 5 workers for ex-gratia payment alleged to have been made to other workers.

The Union's claim is that Mihir Lal Ghosh, Abdul Mahammad Mian, Haripada, Ashutosh Kantha and Surendra Nath Pal should be awarded ex-gratia payment of Rs. 101 each as made to the other workmen. This claim has been resisted on behalf of the Company. A letter, dated 14th October 1947, from Mr. B. L. Rampuria on behalf of the Rampuria Cotton Mills to its Manager to the effect that flat extraordinary payment of Rs. 101 to all the workers irrespective of their service, without it being a precedent or basis for any future demand till the decision of the Tribunal with respect to Cotton Mills should be granted, is on the record. The stand taken by the Management is that this benefit, as a matter of fact, was extended to all the employees except in the case of these five with which we are now concerned, and that for adequate reasons.

The case of the five employees may be dealt with individually.

Mihir Lal Ghosh, it appears, was appointed for the first time on the 15th of November 1937. The Attendance Register, which has been shown to us, and the appointment letter fix the 15th of November 1947, as the date of his appointment. That being so, it is clear that he was not in employment on the date when the extraordinary payment was decided upon, and, therefore, he is not entitled to any payment of Rs. 101 as claimed.

It appears that Haripada was absent without leave in September and October 1947, and, therefore, according to the Company, he forfeited his claim to the bonus. We feel unable to appreciate the contention on behalf of the Management in this behalf. Whether he was away with or without leave, the position is that he was not discharged up to October 1947, and, therefore, at the relevant time he had already earned the bonus and the claim for it cannot, therefore, be reasonably resisted.

Payment of bonus to Abdul Mahammad Mian also cannot be withheld. He took leave for 1½ months from the 2nd of September 1947. It is the Company's case that after the expiry of leave he overstayed and, therefore, was discharged at the beginning of November 1947. Be that as it may, his absence up to the middle of the third week of October was due to leave and not to any delinquency. Whatever offence he committed, that was committed in the third week of October, i.e., at a time when the bonus had already been earned.

It now remains to deal with the cases of Ashutosh and Surendra. The Company's case is that they were discharged for misconduct on the 27th September 1947 and that later on they apologised to the Manager and were reappointed on the 30th of October 1947, on condition that they would not get any bonus. The whole point of importance is whether they were discharged on the 27th of September 1947, for if they were so discharged on that date, the events occurring after that would be of little importance. According to the Company one Saileswar Mitra, as representative of all the employees in the Mill, used to have negotiations with it. He was the de facto, though not the de jure, representative of Ashutosh and Surendra. Admittedly they were not engaged in any work from the 27th September 1947 up to the 30th October following. It is also significant that their back pays which fell due on the 10th of October 1947 were held up and they took payment of the same in the first part of November. Correspondence between the Company and Saileswar has been produced before us showing intimation by the Company to Saileswar about the discharge of Ashutosh and Surendra on the 27th September. As a matter of fact, Ashutosh admitted that at the time when he went to take payment from the Manager, the latter told him that he had been discharged. It is not likely that unless these two employees had been discharged the Manager would have told any of them so. We feel unable to characterise the correspondence that passed between Saileswar and the Management as manufactured. The Attendance Register has been produced before us. It is said that the letter "P" in this Register stands for 'presence', "B" for 'absence' and "BL" for 'absence with leave'. There is not a single "P" mark against the name of Ashutosh or Surendra on any of the days between the 27th September and the 30th of October. The letters "B" and "BL" have been entered in this register against their names during this period. The register does not appear to have been well kept and merely because of the entry of the letters "B" and "BL" a conclusion that they were in employment during the relevant period does not appear to be justified. It is no doubt true that no discharge slip was issued to these two employees. The explanation that the Management, while negotiating with the Union, was very nervous in issuing the discharge slips for fear of strike and thereby bringing the work of the Mill to a standstill appears, in the circumstances, to be acceptable. Two gate passes have been produced by the Union for showing that these bear the token numbers of these two employees. On the basis of this it was contended by the learned Advocate for the Union that the workers were inside the Mill during the period. As a matter of fact, the practice is that the Timekeeper notes down the token numbers only of the workers on gate passes, on the representation of one or more workers and the Manager signs them as a matter of routine.

Two ration cards also were produced by the Union for showing that rations at concessional rates were taken by these two employees during the relevant period. These bear the signature of the Manager. Apparently the employees are not without friends. In the Mill somebody might have got the signatures of the Manager, who personally does not scrutinise them while signing on the two ration cards. In this way they were enabled to get rations at concessional rates. The letter, dated 27th September 1947, by the Management to Saileswar Mitra unmistakably shows that Ashutosh and Surendra were discharged on that date. It was through him that these two persons got their reappointment with the Company on the 30th of October. At the time the bonus was declared, therefore, they were not in employment and in consequence did not earn it.

Of the five employees, only Haripada and Abdul Mahammad Mian are entitled to the bonus of Rs. 101 each.

After an amount of discussion Sri P. K. Sanyal appearing for the Union was satisfied that the question of reinstatement of 11 out of 16 persons named in this issue (5 having already been taken back by the Company) relates to a dispute which arose after the order of reference which is dated the 7th of October 1947. The dispute having arisen after the date of the order of reference, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to go into that question and Mr. Sanyal said that he would be applying to the Labour Commissioner for moving the Government for referring this as a fresh dispute to an appropriate Tribunal. This dispute has since been amicably settled by the parties.

Eighteen workers of the Rampuria Cotton Mills —Sarat Sahu, Subodh Das, Ganesh Pal, Provash Ghosh, Suren Bal, Ashutosh Kantha, Lakshman Bera, Ajanul Santra, Mohan Saha, Shyamlal Kostha, Nirod Bhattacharji, Santosh Singh, Pushparanjan Kantha, Paresh Chandra Sarkar, Basanta Kumar Mitra, Abdul Mahammad Mian, Mihir Lal Ghosh, Surendra Nath Bal—are said to have some special grievances. These special grievances have been placed before this Tribunal, by the Bengal Branch of the Indian National Trade Union Congress, in the written statements filed on behalf of the Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association. These written statements have been filed by Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, as representing the workers and employees for whom the written statements purport to have been filed. The Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association has authorised, among others, its Secretary, Sri Bishnucharan Banerji, and Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, to represent the Association. The main question which calls for decision at present is whether the 18 workers of the Rampuria Cotton Mills named above have been properly represented in this case. At the very outset we may say that the learned Counsel for the Mill has fairly conceded that he had no objection to the aforesaid 18 workers being represented by Mr. P. K. Sanyal, Advocate. The learned Counsel vehemently opposes representation of the 18 workers by Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, Secretary of the Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association, on the ground, as he alleges, that these 18 workers are not members of the Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association. This is the main question which has got to be decided now. We find that there are three registered Unions for the employees and workmen of the Rampuria Cotton Mills. These are—Rampuria Cotton Mill Workers' Union, affiliated to the Bengal Chamber of Labour, Serampore Sutakal Employees' Union and the Serampore Sutakal Mazdoor Union. Three separate written statements have been filed for the employees and the workers of the Mill by these three Unions. The learned Counsel for the Mill urges that the 18 workers mentioned above are members of the Serampore Sutakal Mazdoor Union and not of the Serampore Sutakal Employees' Union. According to him, the Mill authorities have recognised both the Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association and the Serampore Sutakal Mazdoor Union. The clerical staff of the Mill is said to be members of the Sutakal Employees' Association while the manual labourers are said to be the members of the Mazdoor Union This position is, however, neither accepted nor denied by the learned Advocate Sri P. K. Sanyal. A good number of these 18 workers have today authorised Sri P. K. Sanyal and Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, Secretary, Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association, to represent them before this Tribunal.

The provision how a workman can be represented before an Industrial Tribunal, is to be found in section 36 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, and rule 23 of the rules framed under the said Act. Section 36 is an enabling section. It does not take away the inherent right of a workman to represent himself before a Tribunal nor does it take away the right of an association or a union to which the workman belongs to represent the case of the workman as its member. In the latter case, no doubt, the ordinary rules of representation in actions by or against a corporate sole are to be followed. Workmen have the right to appear through a lawyer as their representative unless that right is curtailed by any special law under which the Tribunal is constituted. Under section 36(3) read with rule 23 of the rules framed under the Act, a formal permission of the Tribunal is necessary to a lawyer representative and in this case we accorded that permission to Mr. P. K. Sanyal.

The question is whether Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, Secretary, Serampore Sutakal Employees' Association, can properly represent the 18 workers mentioned above. It hinges mainly on a correct interpretation of section 36(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The first part of section 36(1) with which we are concerned runs thus:—

"A workman who is a party to an industrial dispute shall be entitled to be represented in any proceedings under this Act by an officer of a registered trade union". The learned Counsel for the Mill contends that for a correct interpretation of this section the clause "to which the workman belongs" has got to be added. Sri P. K. Sanyal, on the other hand, urges that this section should be taken on its face value without any addition or qualification. A plain meaning of a statute should always be taken unless such a plain meaning leads to absurdity or to some unhappy position. The contention of Sri P. K. Sanyal is that "a registered trade union" means "any registered trade union." In this view of the case a worker of a cotton textile industry would be entitled to be represented by an officer of the registered union of the workers of an engineering firm or a chemical firm. Would such representation be proper? We are inclined to answer this query in the negative, for such a representation of a worker is not likely to be for his benefit. An officer of the Association of an engineering firm or a chemical firm is not usually expected to be conversant with the terms and conditions of service of a workman of a cotton textile industry. He is not likely to represent a workman of a cotton textile industry to the best interest of the workman. Such a representation may be prejudicial to the interest of a workman rather than for his benefit. There may be exceptions but no rule can be based on exceptions. We are clearly of opinion that such a representation is likely to lead to absurdity. Such could not be the intention of the legislature in enacting section 36 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 was enacted for securing industrial peace and is meant for the benefit of the workman as also the employers. Any interpretation prejudicial to either the employer or the workman which is not beneficial to either party cannot be accepted. Having carefully considered all the points urged before us, we are clearly of opinion that Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, Secretary, Sutakal Employees' Association, has no right to represent these 18 workmen, if these 18 workmen are not members of the Union of which Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji happens to be the Secretary. A contrary view is likely to lead to unnecessary complication specially when there is rivalry between two unions claiming to represent a particular workman. Cases are not rare where a workman with a view to avoid negotiations by the union of which he is a member claims to be represented before a Tribunal by the officials of another rival union. We called upon the workmen to prove that they are members of Bishnu Babu's Union. But as they did not advance any evidence on this point, they were permitted to be represented by Sri P. K. Sanyal as their lawyer representative and permission was refused to Bishnu Babu to represent them.

Point No. 40—Claim of the workers of the essential department of the Mohini Mills for quarters within the Mill compounds.

At the time of hearing this point was settled between the parties on the Management agreeing to provide quarters as early as possible. Accordingly it does not call for any decision of the Tribunal.

Point No. 41—Claim of the compounders and the staff of the Electrical Department of the Mohini Mills for double wages and compensatory leave for working on Sundays.

This Tribunal directs that the compounders and the workers of the Electric Department of the Mill shall get compensatory leave if they are employed on Sundays. Their demand for overtime wages is rejected.

Point No. 42—Claim of the compounders for pay and dearness allowance at the rate allowed to clerks and monetary compensation for working during the last Puja holidays as allowed to the workers.

The first part of this point does not call for any decision as it is admitted that the employees received the payments claimed.

As regards the second part of this point the claim relates to three persons only. It is admitted that 50 hands of the Watch and Ward Department did not get the relief these three are claiming. We do not see our way how any special relief can be awarded to these three persons while so many other workers went without it. We, therefore, decline to grant any relief in respect of the second part of this point. We may add that this dispute arose long after the order of reference and as such it is outside the scope of the present reference.

This point relates to the claim of Saroj Kumar Maity for a higher salary than that of S. N. Bhaduri who is alleged to have been wrongfully allowed to supersede him. Bhaduri is now working as the Head Clerk. Maity was appointed in May 1938 as the sole clerk on Rs. 25 per month. Besides he used to receive Rs. 4 per month as railway fare, as he had to attend to his duty from outside. In November 1938 his pay was raised to Rs. 30. In the same month Bhaduri was appointed by the Management as an assistant to the Overseer on Rs. 25. The pay of these two employees in the succeeding years may be shown as follows:—

	Maity.	Bhaduri.
	Rs.	Rs.
1939	40	38
1941	50	50
1st October 1942	65	70
1st September 1944	75	80
1st January 1947	85	90
August 1947	96	117

Since August 1947 Maity was getting dearness allowance of Rs. 58, i.e., at 60 per cent. over his pay and Bhaduri also was getting Rs. 58 as dearness allowance at 50 per cent. of his pay. So the two are getting the same amount as dearness allowance.

The last revision in the scales of pay was made in August 1947. Before that in May 1947, Bhaduri was allowed an increment, raising his pay to Rs. 100 with effect from January 1947. It would thus appear that up to September 1942, Maity's pay was not less than that of Bhaduri. It is the case of the Management that on the 1st of October 1942, Maity was appointed Cashier and Bhaduri Head Clerk. Maity has been the President of the Union of employees since May 1947, when the Union was formed. But the increase in pay which Bhaduri was getting was given long before that in 1942, when he was appointed Head Clerk. The Management has nothing to complain about the work of Maity. It has been admitted before us on its behalf that his work has been quite satisfactory throughout. From the circumstances of the case it does not appear that the lesser pay of Maity is due to any victimisation on the part of the Management. In fact the two have been holding different posts since the 1st of October 1942 and naturally the emoluments that the posts carry are different as the nature of work required of the holders of the posts is different. The duties of the two employees not being similar it cannot be said that the duties of the Cashier are more onerous than that of the Head Clerk, when the Management thinks that the Head Clerk should get a higher pay than that of the Cashier. We do not consider that any case has been made out that the salary of Maity should be fixed at a rate higher than that of Bhaduri.

As regards the first part of this demand it is admitted that the employees received the payments claimed. This question, therefore, need not be gone into. As for the second part, the clerical staff including the compounder, claim double their salary with dearness allowance for working on the 21st September 1947, which was a Sunday. Standing Orders do not make any provision for payment for work done by clerks and compounders on such occasion. This really is a demand for overtime payment regarding which the statutes do not make any provision. We are, therefore, unable to grant any monetary relief to the clerks and compounders in respect of the claim raised in the second part of the issue. We however direct that they shall get a compensatory holiday for working on the 21st September 1947.

The Management has agreed to pay compensation to the employees for securing rationed articles at higher prices from the 12th September to the 19th September 1947. This be done.

The Ghusuri Sutakal Mazdoor Union raised this demand before this Tribunal for the first time by an application filed on 15th November 1947. It does not find place in the original written statement filed by I.N.T.U.C. for the Union. It appears that on the 6th October 1947, Sri Taradas Bhattacharyya, acting on behalf of the President of the Union addressed a letter to the Management demanding one month's pay for the workers as Puja and Id Bonuses for 1947. The reference to this Tribunal for adjudication of the disputes in the Cotton Textile Mills in West Bengal was made by an order, dated 7th October 1947. The demand embodied in the letter of Taradas Babu, dated 6th October 1947, was prior to this reference and is hence covered by it. It appears that the Management directed, by an order, dated 3rd November 1947, payment of Rs. 33 as interim relief to each of the workers pending adjudication by this Tribunal. The Union's case is that there was an agreement whereby the Management agreed to pay Rs. 100 to every worker and did actually pay Rs. 33 pending adjudication by this Tribunal and that Rs. 67 was still due. There is nothing on the record to show that the Management ever agreed to pay Rs. 100 to every worker nor is there anything to show if any demand for Rs. 100 was made before 7th October 1947. The only evidence of the demand is the letter of Taradas Babu, dated 6th October 1947. It was urged that some neighbouring mills had paid their workers Rs. 100 each as Puja Bonus. There is no evidence on the point. Even if the neighbouring mills had paid the workers Rs. 100 each, we cannot accede to the enlargement of the original demand of the workers after the order of reference. We allow the claim of the workers as demanded by the letter, dated 6th October 1947. We accordingly direct that the Management shall pay each worker as Puja or Id Bonus for 1947 one month's pay including dearness allowance less what has already been paid. If any one has been paid in excess of what he would be entitled to under this direction, he will not be made liable for any refund.

Conclusion.

The study of figures reveals to us the backwardness of the industry in the matter of production. It was painful for us to feel it. We have tried to evolve a plan in which we have given to each its due place. Instead of leaving the labour to fight its case every moment with the progress of the industry, we have put the wage scale in such a way that it may automatically get what it deserves.

Times are very hard. Everybody is in a tight corner on account of high prices. The remedy lies not in increasing the rate of wages, for this will react and there will be further rise in the price. We are moving in a vicious spiral. The merchants dealing in essential commodities like foodstuffs, medicines, etc., have, with some exceptions, betrayed a lack of sympathy towards their suffering countrymen. To curb their activities, controls and rations were introduced, but corruption raised its head. The result is want on all sides. Owing to paucity of goods, market prices go up, wages and salaries are increased, next prices go higher up, then more dearness allowance is given and so on. Increase in production is undoubtedly one of the best remedies. This will not only increase the earnings of the workers but will also stop black market, bring down prices and increase the purchasing power of money.

Production, or in other words, the progress and well-being of the industry depends on a feeling of mutual trust and confidence between the labour and the management. Many of the problems will become easier if each think in terms of duties rather than in terms of rights. "If all simply insist on rights and no duties, there would be utter confusion and chaos". (Mahatmaji—"Harijan", 6th July 1947.) Rights divorced from duties lead to open warfare or brings in a spirit of non-co-operation in the weaker party. Open warfare cannot go on for ever. Sooner or later one side or the other must withdraw, even though it is only to nurse in grievance bitter thoughts of revenge. Non-co-operation, however less exhausting to participants and limited in time is in the end equally pernicious in its effects. The worker should not use the weapon of industrial warfare or industrial non-co-operation for achievement of his aims. He should realise that the aims can be achieved only by bargaining in good faith within the limits of the existing industry and politico-economic system and by co-operating for maximum production under it. Attitude of labour is the most outstanding issue in the cotton textile industry as in any other industry. No plan of increased production and all round development in the industry can have any successful implementation unless the attitude of labour is what it should be. Labour must, therefore, approach the question of wider national interest with as much enthusiasm as their class interest. We feel that the labour will not have all its grievances removed by this award. The redress lies in co-operation between employees and employers. "Peace and harmony and efficiency cannot be legislated; cannot come by decree or command". (The Spirit of Industrial Relations by H. S. Kirkaldy.)

It will not be out of place if we refer to the helpful activities of some of the Labour Unions in America quoted in "Economics of Labour" by Lester. "..........................the Union has been active in discovering sources of waste and reducing costs, always insisting that unnecessary overhead expenses, exorbitantly high salaries, undue selling expenses, excessive cost of supervision, unnecessary clerical expenses must be found and reduced".

No progress in a mill is possible unless there is close co-operation and joint effort both by labour as also by Management. The Management should cast away its aloofness and sense of superiority and treat the workers as colleagues and co-workers. Peace within industry cannot be achieved on any lasting basis unless those within whose hands power lies realise that power implies responsibility, that rights cannot be divorced from duties and that employer in modern times must exercise his dominion on a basis of trusteeship rather than domination. "Modern industry is a co-operative effort which is capable of conferring upon mankind collective benefits beyond the dreams of individual avarice. The realisation of these benefits demands that the spirit of industrial relationship should be based on mutual trust". It is the bounden duty of the Millowners to dispel all distrust from the minds of the labour. If any person of the Management be any of the selling agents, the labour may justly feel aggrieved that the terms will be favourable for the selling agents, to the prejudice of the workmen, share-holders and the consumer public.

As wages have been linked up with production under this award, the figures must be kept very accurately and the representatives of the labour must be given access to the production books of cloth and yarn and the books showing payment of wages to workers and the amount of work done by each of them. This is the only way in which the Management can regain the confidence of the labour.

In conclusion we must thank the Counsels, advocates and the labour leaders and the other persons helping us in this arduous task. All the parties were anxious to help the Tribunal to the utmost and the work was not hampered by mutual recriminations.

Weavers—
Weavers (average ability)	N Rs. 16. (at pick rates to be fixed by the mills).
Line Jobbers	8 per cent. to 10 per cent. of the basic earnings of the weavers under him (depending on the number of weavers).

Bobbin cleaners may be employed when the number is large.

For occupation not covered by Appendices B and B(1), the minimum wages and dearness allowances shall not be less than the minimum rates fixed by this award, and if such occupation requires any skill, the wages and dearness allowance shall be fixed by agreement according to the abilities of the particular worker.

Engineering Section.—Occupations such as mechanical or electrical fitters, tinsmiths, twiners, carpenters, painters, lorry drivers, firemen, tindals, departmental machinemen, tapeman-cum-machine carriers, etc., are not included in this list. Those occupations are of special nature, and not of general nature such as Winders, Piecers or Weavers. Salaries for workers of these categories are usually fixed by Mills on respective abilities and extent of work. No doubt, they should get much more than unskilled workers. These occupations are excluded from Bombay list also.

Bleaching and Finishing Section.—Very few Mills in Bengal (hardly two or three) have fully equipped bleaching and finishing sections. Hence occupations of this section are omitted from the list. In Bombay list also they are excluded.

15. Reference of disputed cases to a referee.—(1) The decision of the Board shall be final and binding upon the subscribers and the employer in all matters relating to the fund, and in the event of the Board being equally divided in its opinion on any disputes, the dispute shall be submitted for decision to a referee agreed upon by the Board.

(2) In the event of the Board not agreeing upon a referee, the dispute shall be referred to an authority nominated for this purpose by a general or special order by the Provincial Government* and the decision of such authority shall be final. The fees and expenses of a referee agreed upon by the Board, or of the authority to whom the dispute is referred, shall be defrayed out of the fund.

A BILL

further to amend the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; Ben. Act V of 1911.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Calcutta Improvement (Amendment) Act, 1948.

(2) It shall come into force on the date on which the Calcutta Improvement (Amendment) Ordinance, 1948, ceases to operate. West Ben. Ord. IV of 1948.

(3) Section 2 shall remain in force only up to the 31st day of March, 1949.

Insertion of new section 4A in Bengal Act V of 1911.

2. After section 4 of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"4A. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 4, sub-section (1) of section 7, section 8, section 15, section 16, and section 17, the three other members of the Corporation referred to in clause (c) of section 4 who were elected or appointed as Trustees but who have ceased to be members of the Corporation on the supersession of the Corporation under section 3 of the Corporation of Calcutta (Temporary Supersession) Act, 1948, shall vacate their offices as such Trustees and the Provincial Government shall appoint three persons as Trustees in place of the three other members of the Corporation referred to in clause (c) of section 4 and the persons so appointed shall hold office as such Trustees from the date of their appointment till the date of expiry of the period of supersession of the Corporation under section 3 of the Corporation of Calcutta (Temporary Supersession) Act, 1948. West Ben. Act VIII of 1948.

(2) If any vacancy occurs in the office of a Trustee appointed under sub-section (1), the vacancy shall be filled by the Provincial Government by appointment of another person within one month and the person so appointed shall hold office for the residue of the term of office of the Trustee in whose stead he is appointed.

(3) On the expiry of the term of office of the Trustees appointed under sub-section (1) or under sub-section (2), the vacancies shall be deemed to be casual vacancies in the seats for the three other members of the Corporation referred to in clause (c) of section 4 and shall be filled in accordance with the porvisions of section 16."

Substitution of new section for section 10.

3. For section 10 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

The Chairman to be a wholetime officer ordinarily.

"10. While any person is holding the office of Chairman, he shall not hold any other salaried office and shall devote his whole time and attention to his duties under this Act:

Provided that the Provincial Government may require him to hold some other salaried office in addition to the office of Chairman or may permit him to perform any honorary duties which in the opinion of the Provincial Government will not interfere with the performance of his duties under this Act".

Amendment of section 11.

4. After sub-section (3) of section 11 of the said Act, the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(4) If under section 10, the Provincial Government requires the Chairman to hold any salaried office in addition to the office of Chairman, the salary and allowances (if any) payable to the Chairman for his holding the office, other than the office of Chairman, or such portion thereof, as the Provincial Government may decide, shall, instead of being paid to the Chairman, be payable to the Board for credit to the Revenue Account of the Board."

5. Any notification issued or any appointment made or anything done or any action taken in exercise of any power conferred by the Calcutta Improvement (Amendment) Ordinance, 1948, shall, on the said Ordinance ceasing to be in operation, be deemed to have been issued, made, done or taken in exercise of the powers conferred by this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 25th day of May, 1948. West Ben. Ord. IV of 1948.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

On the supersession of the Corporation under the Corporation of Calcutta (Temporary Supersession) Act, 1948 (West Ben. Act VIII of 1948), the Councillors and Aldermen of the Corporation became functus officio and the three members of the Corporation on the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta could no longer represent the local authority on the Board.

2. It was thought desirable that the Chairman of the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta should be appointed, in addition to his own duties, as the Administrative Officer of the superseded Corporation, although this was not allowable under the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.

3. Government took powers under the Calcutta Improvement (Amendment) Ordinance, 1948 (West Ben. Ord. IV of 1948)—

(1) to appoint three persons on the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta to fill up the three seats mentioned in paragraph 1, and

(2) to regularise the appointment of the Chairman of the Board as the Administrative Officer of the Corporation.

4. It is intended that the second provision should be permanently incorporated in the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, to meet, if necessary, a similar contingency in future, while the first provision will be of a temporary nature. The Bill purports to validate the provisions of the said Ordinance which will become inoperative on the expiry of six weeks from the date on which the next session of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly commences.

West Ben. Ord. IX of 1948.

(3) When any cement is seized under the authority of any order made under sub-section (1), the person seizing the cement shall make a report of such seizure to a Magistrate who may give such directions as to its temporary custody as he thinks fit, so, however, that where no prosecution is instituted for contravention of the order in respect of the cement seized within a period in his opinion reasonable, the Magistrate shall direct its return to the person from whom it was seized; and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, so far as they may be applicable, apply to any search or seizure under any such order as they apply to any search or seizure under Chapter VII of that Code.

False statement.

9. If any person—

(i) when required by any order made under section 3 to make any statement or furnish any information, makes any statement or furnishes any information which is false in any material particular and which he knows or has reasonable cause to believe to be false, or does not believe to be true, or

(ii) makes any such statement as aforesaid in any book, account, record, declaration, return or other document which he is required by any such order to maintain or furnish, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or with fine or with both.

Cognizance of offences.

(2) No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against the Crown for any damages caused or likely to be caused by anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of any order made under section 3.

Power to exempt certain varieties of cement.

15. The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt any variety of cement from all or any of the provisions of this Act.

16. Any order or direction issued or any action taken or anything done or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred or imposed or any proceeding commenced in exercise of any power conferred by the West Bengal Cement Control Ordinance, 1948, shall, on the said Ordinance ceasing to be in operation, be deemed to have been issued, taken, done, incurred, imposed or commenced under the provisions of this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 6th day of August, 1948. West Ben. Ord. IX of 1948.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

During the last War, control over the distribution and price of cement was exercised by the Central Government by notifications issued under the Defence of India Rules. With the lapse of the Defence of India Rules, this control by the Centre also lapsed, and, until recently, there was no provincial law in West Bengal under which the price or distribution of cement within the Province could be controlled and it was considered that unless power was taken by legislation to regulate the price and distribution of the available supply, it would be difficult to prevent the commodity from getting into the blackmarket and being sold at excessive prices. As the matter was very urgent and as the Legislature was not in session, the Governor in exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 88(1) of the Government of India Act, 1935, promulgated the West Bengal Cement Control Ordinance, 1948. Under section 88(2) of the said Act, the Ordinance will cease to operate at the expiration of six weeks from the re-assembly of the Legislature but it is necessary that the powers conferred by the Ordinance should be retained beyond that date and with this object in view the present Bill has been drafted.

And whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

The award made by the said Sri A Das Gupta Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein.

ANNEXURE.

Adjudication of the dispute between the Calcutta Insurance Association, Royal Exchange, Calcutta, and their employees, represented by the Joint Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce Indian Employees' Union, 9C, Ganguli Lane, Calcutta.

BEFORE SRI A. DAS GUPTA, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Sri Jatin Chakraborty and Sri Ram Krishna Mukherji appear for the Union.

By order No. 739Lab., dated the 10th March 1948, the dispute between the Calcutta Insurance Association and their employees, as represented by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Indian Employees' Union, was referred to me for adjudication. The dispute arose out of a notice, dated 10th June 1947, served on Sri Gopal Chandra Dey, an employee of the Calcutta Insurance Association, discharging him from service on and from the 1st August 1947. The Union's case is that Sri Gopal Chandra Dey was discharged on account of his Union activities. It demands reinstatement of Gopal Chandra Dey on the ground that his discharge was a clear case of victimisation and unfair labour practice on the part of the employers. Gopal Chandra Dey is said to have been an efficient and meritorious officer and to have received special increment from time to time from the employers in recognition of his services.

The Calcutta Insurance Association denies to have discharged Gopal Chandra Dey on account of any Union activity. It denies the charges of victimisation and unfair labour practice and pleads that Gopal Chandra Dey was discharged on account of gross negligence of his duty and inefficiency. The Association denies to have had, at the time of Gopal Dey's dismissal, any knowledge of Gopal Dey's connection with the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Indian Employees' Union, either as an officer of its executive committee or as a member of the Board of Representatives of the Union. The Association also disputes the jurisdiction of this Tribunal to direct reinstatement of Gopal Chandra Dey.

The following points arise for adjudication in the present case:—

(1) Has this Tribunal jurisdiction to award reinstatement of a discharged employee?

(2) Was Gopal Chandra Dey discharged as an unfair labour practice or by way of victimisation?

(3) Is Gopal Chandra Dey entitled to be reinstated? If so, on what terms?

Award.

I take up all the three points together. For the sake of convenience, I propose to discuss the evidence as to why Gopal Chandra Dey had been discharged before I discuss the question of jurisdiction of this Tribunal. Gopal Chandra Dey and Sri Ramkrishna Mukherji, Joint Secretary of the Union, have been examined for the Union. Mr. W. J. Herridge, Manager of the Calcutta Insurance Association, has been examined for the Association. The admitted facts of the case are that Gopal Chandra Dey was appointed as a junior clerk on probation on 8th September 1941 on a monthly salary of Rs. 40 and that he had put in more than six years' service when he was served with a notice of discharge. During this period he got the following increments:—

Admittedly, Gopal Chandra Dey was a good worker at the beginning and by his efficiency he earned much favour with his employer. The sworn testimony of Mr. Herridge is that Gopal Chandra Dey became inefficient from about the beginning of 1947 and that since then he was found dull and inactive and did not seem to bother about his works.

It has been consistently held by the Judges of the Industrial Tribunal that the Tribunal has jurisdiction to award reinstatement of employees only when they are discharged by way of victimisation or as an unfair labour practice, and I proceed on the assumption that the Industrial Tribunal has jurisdiction to so interfere in cases of victimisation and unfair labour practice. The Union claims reinstatement of Gopal Chandra Dey on the ground that he was discharged on account of his Union activities and that this was an act of victimisation and unfair labour practice on the part of the employer. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce Indian Employees' Union, was formed in or about July 1946, and Gopal Chandra Dey is said to have been a very active member of this Union, having been elected a member of the Board of Representatives of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Indian Employees' Union in the year 1946, and later on at the end of the said year a member of the executive committee of the Union. At the hearing it was said that Gopal Chandra Dey organised the Union and took an active part in the strike in February last as a protest against the Security Bill. The proceedings book of the Union from its inception up to the 29th August 1947, has been placed before me. The following details will show at a glance what part Gopal Chandra Dey actually took in the Union:—

Date of the meeting of the union.		Particulars of the meeting of the union.		Part taken by Gopal Chandra Dey.
8th July 1946	..	General meeting	..	Attendance was about 70 per cent. Nothing to show if Gopal Chandra Dey was present but Gopal Dey was elected a member of the Board of Representatives.
18th July 1946	..	General meeting	..	More than 200 members attended but nothing to show if Gopal Dey was present.
19th July 1946	..	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	..	The list of members present does not include Gopal Dey's name.
23rd July 1946	..	Meeting of executive committee ..	..	Ditto.
26th July 1946	..	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	..	Ditto.
8th August 1946	..	Meeting of the executive committee	..	The list of members present does not include Gopal Dey's name. (Gopal Dey's name appears to have been proposed along with several others to organise a charity performance in aid of the union.)
4th September 1946	..	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	..	Gopal Dey was present. (Nothing objectionable happened).
7th September 1946		Meeting of the executive committee	..	The list of members present does not include Gopal Dey's name.
9th November 1946	..	Meeting of the executive committee	..	Ditto.
30th November 1946	..	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	..	Ditto.
14th December 1946	..	Meeting of the executive committee	..	Ditto.

13th January 1947	Meeting of the executive committee	All present except Gopal Dey and another.
20th January 1947	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	All present except Gopal Dey and five others.
24th January 1947	General meeting	About 60 per cent. attended. Nothing to show if Gopal Dey was present.
3rd February 1947	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	The list of members present does not include Gopal Dey's name.
12th March 1947	Meeting of the executive committee	The list of members present does not include the name of Gopal Dey.
17th March 1947	General meeting	80 per cent. present, but nothing to show if Gopal was present.
20th May 1947	A Committee meeting	List of members present does not include the name of Gopal Dey.
2nd July 1947	Meeting of the executive committee	List of members present does not include the name of Gopal Dey. In this meeting Gopal Dey's discharge discussed.
29th August 1947	Meeting of the Board of Representatives	The list of persons does not include the name of Gopal Dey.

It is clear from the aforesaid table that Gopal Dey was present only in one of the meetings of the Board of Representatives, held on the 4th September 1946, in which some questions of internal management of the Union were discussed. Gopal Dey is said to have taken active part in the general strike which took place on the 5th February 1947, as a protest against section 144 proceedings. The meeting was held on the 3rd February 1947, but Gopal Dey was absent. There is absolutely no documentary evidence worth the name to corroborate the oral evidence of Gopal Dey and Sri Ram Krishna Mukherji, Joint Secretary of the Union, that Gopal Dey was an active member of the Union or that Gopal Dey took an active part in this strike which took place in February 1947. The sworn testimony of Mr. Herridge is that Gopal Dey was not discharged for any Union activities, that he himself is a Trade Unionist and has no objection to Trade Unions and informally recognised the Chamber of Commerce Indian Employees' Union. It was suggested to Sri Ram Krishna Mukherji, Joint Secretary of the Union, that Mr. Herridge had told him about his sympathy for Unions and his friendship with many Trade Unionists, but Sri Ram Krishna's memory lapsed and he could not definitely remember if he had any talk with Mr. Herridge on this point. This much he remembers that Mr. Herridge had told him that Gopal Dey was inefficient and that this was the only reason for his dismissal. The evidence is that of the two of the employees of the Calcutta Insurance Association, Sri Milan Kumar Mitra and Sri Haraprosad Chatterji, Milan Kumar Mitra was a member of the Union from its very inception, became a member of the Board of Representatives in December 1946, and was re-elected in September 1947, and Sri Haraprosad Chatterji was elected member of the Board of Representatives in September 1947, and a member of the executive committee some time after September 1947. They are still in service. Sri Indu Bhushan Mukherji, the former Vice-President of the Union, is still an employee of the Calcutta Insurance Association. It is said that Sri Indu Bhushan Mukherji is an employee of the Chamber of Commerce and that his services have been lent to the Calcutta Insurance Association. He is still a member of the Board of Representatives of the employees of the Chamber of Commerce. The evidence is that the Secretary of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce was duly apprised about the personnel of the executive committee of the Board of Representatives of the Union by a letter, dated the 11th December 1946. It has been suggested that Mr. Herridge consults the Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce, on all points and copies of all letters addressed to the Chamber is sent to the Calcutta Insurance Association. Mr. Herridge also admits this. In any case Mr. Herridge could know of Milan Babu's position in the Union long before the notice of dismissal was served on Gopal Dey. There is no suggestion that any of the employees of the Chamber of Commerce has been victimised for Union activities. The suggestion is that Mr. Herridge follows the Bengal Chamber of Commerce in all matters. If no employee of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce has been victimised for Union activities, Mr. Herridge himself being a Trade Unionist, had no reason to victimise Gopal Dey for Union activities, and, in fact, he did not victimise any of the two employees, Milan Kumar Mitra and Haraprosad Chatterji, who are still important members of the Union. On a careful consideration of the evidence before me, I am clearly of opinion that Gopal Dey has failed to establish that he had any active part in the Union so much so that his employer wanted to get rid of him or that he was discharged for any Union activities.

The ordinary law is that contract for personal service cannot be specifically enforced. Industrial Courts in West Bengal have assumed jurisdiction to interfere with orders of dismissal by the employers when such dismissals are instances of victimisation and unfair labour practice. Thus in order to bring a case of dismissal within the jurisdiction of Industrial Tribunals, it must be proved that the dismissal was an instance of victimisation or unfair labour practice. This the Union has failed to establish in connection with the dismissal of Gopal Dey. It appears that the Labour Commissioner had recommended Gopal Dey's reinstatement on the ground that he had proved to be efficient during his service in the Calcutta Insurance Association. Gopal Dey was undoubtedly an efficient officer, but the evidence is that towards the latter part of his service, from about the beginning of 1947, he was found inefficient, dull and inactive. Nothing was suggested in the letter of the Labour Commissioner, dated 12th January 1948 (copy appended to the written statement of the Union), that the dismissal was an instance of victimisation and unfair labour practice. An employee found efficient in the beginning of his service, may turn up inefficient at some later period. If Gopal Dey had been discharged on any ground other than victimisation or unfair labour practice, his remedy lies in a suit for compensation in the courts of ordinary common law. The sworn testimony of Mr. Herridge is that Gopal Dey was warned on two previous occasions. This is denied by Gopal Dey. There was an enquiry against Gopal Dey by Mr. Clarke during the absence of Mr. Herridge who had been to England. The matter was placed before Mr. Herridge on his return in January 1947. The enquiry was started on some report against Gopal Dey's dishonesty. As the charge could not be very satisfactorily substantiated, Mr. Herridge did not take any steps against Gopal Dey, but the sworn testimony of Mr. Herridge is that he closely watched the work of Gopal Dey and found him inefficient, dull, slack and lazy. Mr. Herridge says that he gave Gopal Dey two warnings. This is denied by Gopal Dey. There was an anonymous letter charging Gopal Dey with dishonesty. Mr.

Herridge is said to have paid a visit to the department of Gopal Dey after office hours during Gopal Dey's absence. Gopal Dey's evidence is that the anonymous letter came in 1943 or 1944. The anonymous letter has been marked exhibit "X". In it, we find a reference to the enquiry made by Mr. Clarke, which was admittedly done in 1946. Therefore, the anonymous letter could not be of 1943 or 1944.

In the first notice, dated the 10th June 1947, served upon Gopal Dey, the ground why his services were terminated was not mentioned. On a further reference by Gopal Dey by a letter, dated 14th June 1947, Mr. W. J. Herridge informed him by a letter of the same date that the services were terminated on account of his general inability to carry out the work required to be performed by him. Gopal Dey wrote again to the Manager for clarification of the words "inability to work". In reply the Manager told Gopal Dey that he had nothing to add. (Copies of these letters are to be found in the Appendices, answers to the written statement of the Union.) Then the matter was placed before the Labour Commissioner and when Mr. Herridge was referred to by the Labour Commissioner, he gave details of "inability to work". This is Exhibit 2. I, as Judge of the Industrial Tribunal, cannot sit in judgment over the action taken by an employer against an employee unless it is a case of victimisation or unfair labour practice. I do not accordingly propose to discuss whether the grounds for dismissal of Gopal Dey as alleged by the employer has been proved, whether the procedure adopted was proper and whether his dismissal was justified. These questions are outside the jurisdiction of the Industrial Tribunal and can be agitated only in courts of common law. In the result, my award is that this Tribunal is unable to interfere with the order of dismissal of Gopal Chandra Dey and direct his reinstatement.

Hitherto, I proceeded on the assumption that the Industrial Tribunal has jurisdiction to interfere in cases of victimisation and unfair labour practice. In the circumstances of the present case where the Union has failed to establish victimisation and unfair labour practice, I do not propose to discuss the legal aspect of the question (point 1).

ANNEXURE.

BEFORE SRI S. C. DUTTA GUPTA, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Management of Messrs. Kamalalaya Stores, Ltd., 156, Dharmatola Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Kamalalaya Stores, Ltd. Karmachari Samity, 18, Mirzapur Street, Calcutta.

By Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department (Labour), Order No. 1699Lab., dated the 26th May 1948, the dispute between the Management of Messrs. Kamalalaya Stores, Ltd., of 156, Dharmatola Street, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Kamalalaya Stores, Ltd. Karmachari Samity was referred to me under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, for adjudication.

Notices were issued to the parties after which the Union on behalf of the employees filed a written statement embodying their demands and the Management also thereafter filed a written statement in reply. Eleven issues were framed, the issue No. 1 being related to the question of reinstatement of 30 employees. Subsequently however the parties entered into negotiations for settlement of the dispute and they are to be congratulated for the successful termination of their efforts. Messrs. Kamalalaya Stores, Ltd., is one of the biggest firms of its kind in Calcutta and I should place on record my appreciation of the spirit of give and take with which the parties approached the controversial questions in this dispute for settlement. They have filed today a joint agreement of settlement which is recorded and I give my award in terms of this settlement, which are incorporated herewith as Annexure "A" and will form part of this award. It will be noticed that Annexures "E" and "F" attached to the written statement of the Company have been referred to in the terms of settlement and accordingly those two annexures will also form a part of this award.

While the agreement of settlement was filed it was urged on behalf of the Union that Paresh Nath Banerjee (No. 21 in issue No. 1) also should be reinstated when the next permanent vacancy occurs and given the same advantages and facilities as are being given to the 10 employees reinstated under the terms of settlement filed today. To this no objection was raised on behalf of the Company. Accordingly Paresh Nath Banerjee will also be reinstated in the permanent vacancy that may occur in future and given the same advantages and facilities as are being given to the 10 employees reinstated under the terms of settlement—Annexure "A".

ORDER.

No. 3036Lab.—26th August 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 2122Lab., dated the 26th June 1948, industrial dispute between Messrs. Muller and Phipps (India), Ltd., 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Nitai Charan Pal, C/o Grand National Boarding, 1, Bhabanath Sen Street, Shyambazar, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri S. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to direct that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Muller and Phipps (India), Limited, 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta, and its employees, in connection with the case of Sri Nitai Charan Pal, C/o Grand National Boarding, 1, Bhabanath Sen Street, Shyambazar, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI S. C. CHAKRABORTY, Chairman, Tribunal.

Acting under the provisions of sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, Government of West Bengal, have constituted a Tribunal with me to adjudicate on the dispute between Messrs. Muller and Phipps (India), Limited, 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta, and its employees in connection with the case of Sri Nitai Charan Pal, C/o Grand National Boarding, 1, Bhabanath Sen Street, Shyambazar, Calcutta (vide Order No. 2122Lab., dated the 26th June 1948).

AWARD.

Sri Netai Charan Pal says, he was the Assistant Accountant though the Company says that he was an Assistant in the Accounts Department. The designation is not of much importance in this dispute. The employees of the Company in a meeting held on 8th November 1947, formed a Union in which Sri Netai Charan Pal was elected Secretary. The allegation is that the Company was informed about the formation of the Union and the status of, and the part played by, Sri Netai Charan Pal in the formation of the Union. On 6th December 1947, the Company terminated the services of Sri Netai Charan Pal on the pretext of reorganisation of the Accounts Department. He was further deprived of the bonus for the year 1947. The discharge is said to be an instance of victimisation for trade union activities. Pal prays for reinstatement with salary for the period of non-work and further prays for the bonus for the year 1947.

The Company's version in substance is that in view of the appalling and disorderly state of the Company's accounts it had to reorganise the Accounts Department and, in doing so, had to discharge two employees including Pal and had to put on probation the other two. The other objections are that Sri Netai Charan Pal never raised any dispute by any demand to the Company, and, therefore, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction. The Company further alleges that there is no dispute with the employees who have all by a petition signified that there is no dispute.

The first point to be considered is whether Sri Netai Charan Pal should be reinstated. Just as a man has the right to employ another man so he has the right to discharge him. In modern times of industrialism a new phenomenon has appeared, viz., discharge for trade union activities. Trade unionism has been held to be lawful and in highly industrialised countries discharge or punishment for trade union activities has been banned. The jurisdiction of this Tribunal to order for readmitting a discharged man is unlimited but it will not naturally exceed the limits laid down in advanced countries. The Tribunal will interfere with cases of victimisation for trade union activities or when a man is discharged by an unfair labour practice. It would be unwise and improper for the Tribunal to interfere with the administration and discipline of any establishment unless victimisation or unfair labour practice is proved.

When the termination of the services of the Union Secretary follows soon after the formation of the Union, the usual inference is that the termination is the result of the Secretary's connection with the Union. When in a situation like this the employer urges that the termination of service has been for other reasons, the grounds require very close scrutiny. The Union Executives are not however immune from the ordinary discipline and conditions of work.

The evidence on behalf of Sri Netai Charan Pal is that in a meeting held on 8th November 1947, presided over by an outsider the Union was formed with him as the Secretary. The set-up of the Executive will have some bearing in this matter. This is given below:—

President: Mr. Nirmal Kumar Sen (an outsider).

Secretary: Mr. N. C Pal (of Accounts Department).

Assistant Secretaries: Mr. A. Basak and Mr. S. L. Sen.

Treasurer: Mr. D. K. Rakshit (of Accounts Department).

The fact of the formation of the Union and the names of the office bearers were not communicated to the Company. In the statement the Company admitted that on the 4th December 1947, it came to know of the formation as also of the dissolution of this Union. Pal's version is that the Union was dissolved after his discharge as the employees were terrified. It is not very unreasonable to infer that the Manager came to know of the names of the office bearers of the Union when he came to know of its formation.

During the relevant period, the set-up of the Accounts staff was as follows:—

Mr. D. K. Rakshit, Accountant. The second man was Mr. N. C. Pal. There were two other clerks, viz., Mr. D. P. Ash and Mr. S. P. Rakshit. Mr. Ash got his service on the recommendation of Mr. N. C. Pal. Mr. D. K. Rakshit was the seniormost man in service and next to him was Mr. N. C. Pal and the third man was Mr. Ash. The fourth man was Mr. S. P. Rakshit. The Rakshits are cousins. The men in the Accounts Department were thus divided into two groups—the Rakshits in one group and Pal and Ash in the other.

The Company has an office in New York and there are many branches in India. The office at Bombay is the central office for all other offices in India. Immediately with the ending of the month all the offices would send their accounts to Bombay. There a consolidated account would be prepared for India and would be sent to America. Delay in sending accounts from any of the branches would mean delay in despatch of accounts from Bombay. From July 1947 Netai Charan Pal had been in charge of the Cash Book which is the main primary book from which other books are prepared. Before him D. K. Rakshit used to maintain this book. Delay or mistake in the preparation of the Cash Book would necessarily involve delay in preparation of accounts. Mistakes here would creep into other books. According to the method of book-keeping here at first the lump sum collected in one voucher is entered and thereafter, in other columns the amount is distributed. One charge against Pal is that he made delay in writing the Cash Book. There were many days in July 1947, on which the Cash Book was not written. Pal had the excuse that on account of riots he could not attend office. In September, it appears, he was absent for one day only and the Cash Book was written for fourteen days out of twenty-four working days. The Cash Book was not written from 1st to 14th November and again for the six days of December when he was in office. Before July 1947, D. K. Rakshit maintained the Cash Book. During his time also the Cash Book was not written promptly.

How the Calcutta office had to plead with the office in America for delay in the Accounts Department, will be clear from the following letters issued by the Calcutta office:—

Further to my letter of November 1st, I am pleased to enclose herewith our statements for the month of July.

Pal says that D. K. Rakshit was not regular in maintaining the Cash Book. He argued that delay was traditional with this Company.

Mr. Jordan, the Manager, says that he wanted to reorganise the Accounts Department and actually appointed a man but out of courtesy to the present staff he did not bring him over their head. Messrs. Ford, Rhodes, Thornton & Co. are the auditors of Messrs. Muller & Phipps (India), Limited. On 1st December 1947, the auditors wrote the following letter to the Company:—

"Ford, Rhodes, Thornton & Co., Chartered Accountants.

TOWER HOUSE,
CHOWRINGHEE SQUARE,
CALCUTTA.

1st December 1947

Messrs. Muller & Phipps
(India), Ltd.,
7, Wellesley Place,
CALCUTTA.

Dear Sirs,

Accounts.

We regret once again to draw your attention to the state of your Branch books and accounts. Many of your records have still not been completed subsequent to July 1947, and we strongly recommend that you endeavour to obtain more efficient accounting staff than at present employed by you, as it would appear that the present staff cannot maintain your accounts up-to-date.

We are, Dear Sirs,
Yours faithfully,
Ford, Rhodes, Thornton & Co."

Then on the 3rd December 1947, the auditors' letter, dated the 29th of November 1947, was received. The letter is to the following effect:—

"Muller & Phipps (India), Ltd.,

Wellesley House,
7, Wellesley Place,
CALCUTTA.

TOWER HOUSE,
CHOWRINGHEE SQUARE,
CALCUTTA,
29th November 1947.

Dear Sirs,

We have completed our examination of your books and records for the month of July 1947 and now enclose two copies of the Receipts and Disbursements Statement duly signed by us, together with connected Schedules. We also enclose copies of the Merchandise Sales Reports for that month.

We have been unable to examine your records relating to the months of August, September and October as the books are not fully written up. Postings to the General Ledger are still incomplete, and it would appear that your present Accountant has seriously underestimated the time required to prepare his records for audit. We have discussed this matter with him and it is clear that our conception of the point at which records can be said to be ready for audit does not coincide with his ideas on the matter.

In our letter of 1st November 1947 we requested that details of various Suspense Accounts (as indicated by us) should be furnished, but so far we have been presented with Statements as at 30th June only. The information contained therein is not in all cases complete, and at the time of writing we are not satisfied with the situation. No Statements of Suspense Accounts are available for the months of August, September and October 1947, and in this connection your Accountant considers that it would be sufficient if such Statements are prepared once in each quarter. In our opinion this is not sufficient, and it is essential that balanced Statements should be prepared monthly. The volume of transactions is considerable, and during our examination of your Accounts for the month of July we have located a number of errors, the nature of which makes it vital that records should be maintained monthly in such a way that Statements can readily be prepared.

With regard to Quantity Stock records, the office Stock Ledger was not written up to date at the time of our visit and it is therefore not possible to say whether any differences exist between that record and the various Godown Stock Ledgers.

Mr. Turnbull of our office called on Mr. Jordan on the 27th instant and explained the situation to him with particular reference to Suspense Accounts and Stock Records.

The Receipts and Disbursements Statements enclosed with this letter have been signed by us, but we must impress upon you the immediate importance of producing balanced analyses of the records referred to in the preceding paragraphs.

Immediately you inform us that your records for the month of August are ready for our examination, we shall be pleased to attend upon you in this connection.

We are, Dear Sirs,
Yours faithfully,
Ford, Rhodes, Thornton & Co.

Bombay."

The following is an extract from the auditors' letter, dated the 3rd December, and received by the Company on the 4th December 1947:

"* * * * * *

On attempting to compare figures for cash counted as above noted with entries in the Cash Book, it was found that the Receipts side of this record had not been written up since the 14th November. It was, therefore, impossible for us to complete the normal verification of records which is a part of all Cash Accounts, and particularly so in the case of a surprise check. We must draw your attention to this state of affairs which in our opinion must be remedied immediately. No adequate explanations were forthcoming from either the Cashier or the Accountant and we must emphasize the necessity for dealing with the situation forthwith.

While speaking about the Suspense Account the auditors did not spare D. K. Rakshit. Copies of these reports were sent to Bombay. This was definitely a reproach on Mr. Jordan for neglecting the Accounts Department.

Mr. Jordan says that he had to overhaul the department and in doing so he discharged two men and placed other two, viz., the Rakshit cousins on probation. He further hired a highly qualified and experienced Accountant on a higher salary.

After all this attempts by Mr. Jordan to reorganise the Accounts Department cannot be said to be a pretext for doing some misdeed. Reorganisation was needed and after the reproach by the auditors he could not have delayed.

Now the question is whether Mr. Jordan acted maliciously against Netai Charan Pal in reorganising the department. The Accounts Department was leading to a crisis when the Union was formed. D. K. Rakshit became Treasurer; Pal Secretary; S. P. Rakshit Vice-President. No one could be touched without offending the Union.

Mr. Jordan considered that Pal was more to blame as he was responsible for primary Cash Book. He therefore weeded him out. Much less was done for D. K. Rakshit as he was put on probation. Mr. Jordan says that he could not clear out the whole lot and therefore retained D. K. Rakshit who was less to blame. D. K. Rakshit was also senior to Pal. The differential treatment is otherwise understandable.

Sri Netai Charan Pal argued that Mr. Jordan might have reorganised the department without discharging him, that is, he could appoint additional assistants. For a person who has lost his job in these difficult times it is a very natural way of thinking. Mr. Jordan might have overhauled the department in many ways, but the question is whether this overhauling was a necessity for him. From what I have said it is clear that it was a necessity and was not a pretext for discharge. In the context what he did cannot be said to be dishonest or a cloak to cover the punishment for trade union activities. Mr. Jordan did not act maliciously in discharging Sri Netai Charan Pal. This is not victimisation and the Tribunal is unable to order reinstatement of Sri Netai Charan Pal to his services.

Next comes the question about bonus. Mr. Kennedy argued that this was no industrial dispute because Pal never claimed bonus to the Company. He put in his application to the Labour Commissioner on the basis of which reference was made to this Tribunal. He did not make the demand. Though outside the terms of reference, there is no difficulty as regards the question of bonus as Mr. Jordan says that the bonus due to Sri Netai Charan Pal is lying to his credit in the office and could not be paid because he could not be contacted. Sri Netai Charan Pal can go to the office any day and get the money. No adjudication by the Tribunal is necessary.

Sri Netai Charan Pal says that when he received the letter of discharge he pleaded for retention and thereafter wanted some time which was refused. He did not send any formal petition for his reinstatement. After negotiations with the Company by the Labour Commissioner on behalf of Pal I consider that the objection that no demand was made is too technical. It is, however, advisable that whenever reinstatement is sought to be agitated a formal demand should be made to the employer.

An application has been filed before me purporting to have been signed by all the employees to the effect that no dispute exists. It has been argued by Mr. Kennedy that Sri Netai Charan Pal has no locus standi when the reference is about a dispute between the employees and the employer. It has been further argued that according to the scheme of the Act no single employee, when other employees do not come to his help, can raise an industrial dispute to be referred to a Tribunal. I do not discuss this point as I have already found that Sri Netai Charan Pal is not entitled to be readmitted to his services by an order of this Tribunal.

I award that Sri Netai Charan Pal is not entitled to the claims made.

S. C. CHAKRABORTY,
Chairman, Tribunal.

West Ben. Ord. I of 1948.

Repeal of Ben. Act V of 1946.

36. The Bengal Tanks Improvement (Amendment) Act, 1946, is hereby repealed.

Ben. Act V of 1946.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bengal Tanks Improvement Act, 1939, was passed in 1939 for improvement of derelict irrigation tanks. Experience in the working of this Act disclosed that it was necessary to take power from the Legislature for (a) making payment of water rate compulsory, (b) to empower Collectors to take possession of lands adjoining a derelict tank where this was found necessary for properly improving the tanks, (c) enabling Collectors to modify the period of possession, (d) preventing the accrual of occupancy right on the land taken over and leased, and (e) in respect of some other minor matters.

A Bill was introduced in the Assembly in 1944 for making these amendments in the original Act; but before the Amendment Bill could be passed, the Governor assumed to himself powers under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935. The Bill was thereafter published for eliciting public opinion, and after some modifications on the basis of opinions received, was enacted by the Governor in 1946 under section 93 of the said Act. The term of the Act expired on the 23rd April, 1948. A Bill was accordingly drawn up to re-enact the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1946 with some further modifications which it was thought necessary to introduce in the light of the experience of the last few years. The following are the more important changes proposed:—

(b) enabling tanks improved as relief measure being treated as tanks improved under the Act,

(c) providing for uniformity of procedure being adopted for tanks improved under the old and new Acts,

As the last session of the Assembly was suddenly prorogued and as arrangements had to be made to continue the operations under the Act uninterrupted, the Bengal Tanks Improvement (West Bengal Amendment) Ordinance, 1948, was promulgated, embodying the provisions of the Bill. The present Bill represents the provisions of the Ordinance, which are now required to be included in the statute book of the province.

(2) It extends to the whole of West Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on the date on which the West Bengal Raw Jute Futures Ordinance, 1948, ceases to operate.

West Ben. Ord. X of 1948.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "contract relating to raw jute futures" means a contract relating to the sale or purchase of a screwed bale of raw jute made on a forward basis—

(a) providing for the payment or receipt, as the case may be, of margin in such manner and on such dates as may be specified in the contract, or

(b) by or with any person not being a person who—

(i) habitually deals in the sale or purchase of raw jute involving the actual delivery of possession thereof, or

(ii) possesses, or has control over, a godown and other means and equipments necessary for the storage and supply of raw jute;

(2) "margin" means the difference between the rate specified in a contract relating to the sale or purchase of a screwed bale of raw jute made on a forward basis and the rate prevailing on such date subsequent to the date of the contract as may be specified in the contract.

3. (1) The Provincial Government may, from time to time, if it so thinks fit, by notification in the Official Gazette, prohibit the making of contracts relating to raw jute futures and may, by like notification, withdraw such prohibition:

Provided that the withdrawal of any such prohibition shall not affect the operation of the provisions of sub-section (2) in respect of any contract relating to raw jute futures made prior to the date on which the prohibition is withdrawn.

(2) When the making of contracts relating to raw jute futures is prohibited by a notification under sub-section (1),—

(a) no person shall make any such contract or pay or receive any margin except, in the case of any such contract made prior to the date of the notification, to the extent to which the payment or receipt, as the case may be, of margin is allowable on the basis of the last closing rate in a notified market;

(b) no owner or occupier of any premises shall knowingly permit such premises to be used for the making of any such contract or for the payment or receipt of margin in contravention of the provisions of clause (a); and

(c) notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force,—

(i) every such contract made, and every claim in respect of margin, in contravention of the provisions of clause (a), shall be void and unenforceable, and

(ii) every such contract made prior to the date of publication of the notification shall be varied and settled on the basis of the last closing rate in a notified market.

Explanation.—In this sub-section,—

(a) "last closing rate" means the rate fixed by the Directors of a notified market to be the closing rate of such market immediately preceding the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) prohibiting the making of contracts relating to raw jute futures; and

Penalty.

4. Whoever, in contravention of the provisions of section 3,—

(a) makes a contract relating to raw jute futures, or pays or receives, as the case may be, margin, or shall, on conviction, be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

(b) being the owner or occupier of any premises, knowingly permits such premises to be used for the making of a contract relating to raw jute futures, or for the payment or receipt of margin,

Special procedure.

5. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, an offence punishable under this Act shall be cognisable and non-bailable and shall not be triable by any Magistrate other than a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the First Class.

Act V of 1898.

The West Bengal Raw Jute Futures Bill, 1948.

(Clause 6.)

6. Any notification issued or anything done or any action taken or any proceedings commenced in exercise of any power conferred by or under the West Bengal Raw Jute Futures Ordinance, 1948, shall, on the said Ordinance ceasing to operate, be deemed to have been issued, done, taken or commenced in exercise of powers conferred by or under this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 24th day of August, 1948.

West Ben. Ord. X of 1948.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The principal use of a raw jute futures market is to provide a "hedge" enabling all those who require to carry the risk arising out of the uncertainty of future price movements to cover or insure against these risks. In practice, however, the raw jute futures markets in Calcutta have been operated upon by persons, who are not bona fide dealers, for the purpose of speculation.

The contracts made in such markets do not lead to the one party or the other making or taking delivery of raw jute contracted for, but profits or losses are made by one party or the other under a system of margins. The raw jute position has also radically changed after the partition of India. Whatever might have been the utility of raw jute futures markets before the partition, the present position is that three-quarters of the jute crop is located in the foreign country of Pakistan and is under their control. There is, therefore, hardly any utility of raw jute futures market in the Indian Union for the purpose of hedging. Recently, there has been a good deal of speculative dealings in the raw jute futures markets and this is considered to be one of the reasons leading to the sharp upward trend of raw jute prices. Government, therefore, considered the existence of raw jute futures markets definitely harmful for the trade and the industry as a whole and decided to ban them.

In view of the urgency of the matter the West Bengal Raw Jute Futures Ordinance, 1948, has already been promulgated under sub-section (1) of section 88 of the Government of India Act, 1935, and it has taken effect from the 24th August, 1948, being the date of its publication in the Official Gazette. As, however, under sub-section (2) of the said section 88, the said Ordinance will cease to operate on the expiration of six weeks from the reassembly of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly, the present Bill has been prepared for introduction in, and passing by, the said Assembly so as to implement the provisions of the said Ordinance by an Act of the legislature and to continue the actions taken under the said Ordinance after it so ceases to operate.

Chatterji & Sons Workers' Union, 95/4/1, Narikeldanga Main Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT—SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE,
Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 1849-Lab., dated Calcutta, the 5th June 1948, the above dispute was referred to me for adjudication.

Brief history of the dispute.

This Company was started in 1937 and deals in engineering and contractor's business of different types. The workmen of the Company formed a Trade Union in the year 1947 and submitted a charter of demands before the Manager on 8th February 1948. The matter was placed before the Labour Commissioner who held a joint conference of the Company and the Union for a negotiation, but the Company took the plea that it was desirable that all the engineering industries in Calcutta should be guided by one principle and that they would like to implement the decision of the Major Engineering Tribunal. The matter was, however, ultimately referred to this Tribunal.

Demands of the Union.

The Union demands that the minimum basic wages of the unskilled workers should be Rs. 40 and that the dearness allowance should be 65 per cent. of the basic pay, minimum being Rs. 45 per month. The Union also demands bonus, gratuity, pension, and increased scale of leave and holidays.

The Union also demands the reinstatement of a discharged worker, Nitai (Ticket No. 33), and alleges that it is an act of victimisation and unfair labour practice.

Issues.

(1) Minimum basic wages.
(2) Dearness allowance.
(3) Security of service.
(4) Bonus.
(5) Leave and holidays.
(6) Gratuity and pension.
(7) Provident Fund.
(8) Medical aid.
(9) Reinstatement of Nitai (Ticket No. 33). Is it a case of victimisation? Is he liable to be reinstated?

DECISIONS.

The Company has filed a chart showing the names of the workers and the present basic pay and dearness allowance. It is seen that there are about 103 workers employed in this industry in various categories such as Lathe-man, Vice-man, Saw-man, Blacksmith, Drill-man, Electric-man, Welder, Riveter, Hammer-man, Moulder, Khalasis and Coolies. It is evident from the chart supplied by the Company as also the chart supplied by the Union that the Company pays Re. 1-2 per day as the minimum basic pay to the unskilled worker and dearness allowance at the flat rate of Rs. 20 per month. Some of the Apprentices and Boys get Re. 1 per day. The case of the Apprentices and Boys may be left out of consideration for the rate prevalent in respect of these persons is quite sufficient.

It appears, therefore, that the minimum wages of a worker in this Company comes up to Rs. 49-4 (including dearness allowance).

The Company had, while the matter was pending before the Labour Commissioner, agreed to abide by the decision of the award of the Engineering Tribunal which was then functioning. It is clear from the letter of the Company that they anticipated the decision of the Tribunal to be Rs. 50 as the minimum basic wages plus dearness allowance. Whatever that may be, the Engineering Tribunal has fixed basic wages at the rate of Rs. 30 (for 26 working days) and minimum dearness allowance at Rs. 25 per month. It is thus seen that the Company is paying less by Rs. 5-12 than the minimum rate fixed by the Major Engineering Tribunal.

It appears, however, that the financial position of the Company is not at all happy. The chart filed by the Company clearly shows that the Company is running at a loss. It is also seen how the wage-bill has been systematically increased and the profit has dwindled. The statement of the income of the Company for the year 1354 B.S. as audited by the Registered Accountants shows that the net loss amounted to Rs. 13,769-2-6. I have made a rough calculation and I find that if the minimum basic wages and dearness allowance be fixed at the scale laid down by the Major Engineering Tribunal, the Company will have to incur an additional expense of Rs. 8,400 in a year. Consequently any increase of wages, when the Company is already running at a heavy loss, will ruin this industry and the Company will have to either close its doors or retrench its staff, which will be beneficial to neither party. I am inclined, therefore, to quote here some pertinent observations of Sri S. N. Modak in his award given in B. K. Paul & Co.:—"As has been indicated by Lord Amulree in his book 'Industrial Arbitration in Great Britain,' an industrial court has to give a decision to meet present-day world as it is, and the court is concerned not with what the workers ought, in a moral sense, to receive but what it is proper that he should receive in view of the state of the industry if more good than harm is to result from court's decision". It is no use killing the goose which lays gold eggs. Under the circumstances, I am afraid, I cannot make an award regarding scale of pay and dearness allowance on the same tune as per award in the Major Engineering Tribunal. So the wage structure, that is, basic pay of Re. 1-2 per day (Rs. 29-4 per month) and dearness allowance Rs. 20 per month, should not be disturbed now when the Company is passing through a critical financial period. I also find that the Company had in the past sympathetically responded to the demands of the Union when funds permitted. The wage-chart of the workers will prove that the workers' wages actually increased more than three times of the pre-war rate. In my opinion, the Company is not at all hostile to the Union but is sympathetically alive to their demands and it is hoped that with the better days coming, the Company will readily implement the demands of the workers as per award in the Major Engineering Tribunal. I also hope that the workers will take this award in proper sportsmanlike spirit and will put their shoulder willingly and seriously to the wheel and help the Company in tiding over the present financial difficulties by greater production. Needless to add that under the pressing circumstances as above, I reluctantly refuse the minimum scale of wages and dearness allowance as laid down by the Major Engineering Tribunal.

Issue No. 3—Security of service.

The Company agreed to abide by the terms laid down in the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal. The Company is directed to follow the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal on this score.

Issue No. 4—Bonus.

No question of payment of bonus can arise in view of the fact that the Company is running at a loss. It is useless to make any order of bonus by expressing a pious wish that with the better days coming, the Company may be pleased to grant bonus. The Company did not make any profit during the last two years. So the question does not arise. The claim is rejected.

Issue No. 5—Leave and holidays.

I am inclined to think that the matter was well considered by the Major Engineering Tribunal, to which I had been also a party. There should be 22 holidays in a year including festival holidays and 10 days' statutory holidays under the Factories Act. This may be divided as follows:—

10 continuous holidays under the Factories Act, which is equivalent to 8 or 9 paid holidays according as there is one Sunday or two within the period of 10 days.

5 or 6 days' other leave with pay, which may be taken in continuation of the 10 days' leave under the Factories Act or separately at the option of the workmen. This other leave for 5 or 6 days will accumulate for 2 years as provided for the 10 days' leave under the Factories Act.

Issue No. 6—Gratuity and pension.

The Company is not in a position to undertake hese schemes as it is financially handicapped. The laim is rejected.

Issue No. 7—Provident Fund.

The claim is also rejected for reasons already stated.

Issue No. 8—Medical aid.

As the Employees' State Insurance Act is now in force, this question cannot arise.

Issue No. 9—Reinstatement of Nitai (Ticket No. 33). Is it a case of victimisation? Is he liable to be reinstated?

The case of the Union is that the worker Nitai had been dismissed for his Union activity. The Union's case is that he was an important executive committee member. But no proof has been given that he was actually an active member of the Union. It is admitted that the employees who were holding important executive posts such as Secretary, Vice-President, etc., are still in service. I cannot understand why this particular employee should be picked up for victimisation. I am satisfied that the Company is not inimical to the Union and that the Company has all along replied sympathetically to the letters of the Union and held conferences with the Union officials from time to time.

It has been laid down by the Calcutta Tribunals in many of the awards [Award in Imperial Bank of India dispute by Mr. R. Gupta, Calcutta Gazette (Extraordinary Issue), dated 6th September 1947, and Award in Venesta, Ltd., by Dr. Waight, Calcutta Gazette, dated 6th September 1947] that in case of reinstatement or for interference by a Tribunal with the order passed by the employer, the onus of proving ulterior motive or unfair labour practice lies with the employees. I have already found that the Union has totally failed to substantiate the allegation that Nitai had any dynamic activity as a member of the Union; so the plea does not stand.

Let us now turn to the case of the Company who alleges that this particular employee was discharged for gross misconduct and irregular attendance. The Company examined Sri. S. K. Sen, Works Manager, and Apurba, a Foreman. Both of them stated that Nitai insulted the Manager. On reading between the lines of evidence of Nitai as also of the employer, I am of opinion that he had been dismissed for improper and insulting behaviour to the Manager. This worker, I find, was also systematically irregular in his attendance and negligent in his duties, and lastly his insulting behaviour to the Manager was the last straw on the camel's back and could not be tolerated any more. The man, in my opinion, was very rightly dismissed. I would like to add here that every employer should be allowed sufficient latitude in punishing a worker for persistent negligence or insubordination and misconduct. The Tribunal should be very slow in ordering reinstatement in such cases unless a very strong case is made out by the Union that particular worker has been vindictively pursued for Union activity. Unless an unfair labour practice or gross injustice is proved, no Tribunal should interfere with the order of discharge or punishment consequent on serious dereliction of duty or insubordination. Unfortunately, the spirit of indiscipline and disobedience and flouting of authority is prevalent amongst workers of some of the industries and unless some disciplinary measures taken by employers are approved of by the Tribunal, I do not know where things are likely to end. In my opinion this was a fit case for discharge.

Summary of the main recommendations.

Minimum dearness allowance—Rs. 20.

AWARD.

By Government order No. 1514Lab., dated the 13th May 1948, the above industrial dispute was referred to me for adjudication as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. I gave notice to the parties and the Firpo's Employees' Union, hereafter to be called the Union, filed written statement on 28th May 1948. Messrs. A. Firpo Ltd., hereafter to be called the Company, filed written statement on 14th June 1948. Issues were framed on 21st June 1948 and the case was heard on 3rd July 1948, 17th July 1948, 24th July 1948 and 30th July 1948. Two other disputes between the Company and the Union relating to retrenchment of some employees had previously been referred to me for adjudication by the Government orders No. 626Lab., dated 2nd March 1948, and No. 924Lab., dated 27th March 1948. The first of these disputes has been settled and the second dispute is pending all proceedings therein having been stayed by order of the Hon'ble High Court. In the Government order No. 1514Lab., dated the 13th May 1948 the present dispute has been described as a dispute respecting issues not covered by the two orders mentioned above.

The Firpo's Employees' Union was formed in November 1947 and was registered on 6th December 1947. On 10th January 1948 the Union submitted to the Governing Director of the Company a charter of demands. This led to certain correspondence between the Union and the Company, of which copies have been filed along with the written statement of the Union, and ultimately, the Company not having conceded the demands, the dispute was referred to me for adjudication. In the written statement filed by the Union the demands have been classified under twenty heads and relate to recognition of the Union, fixation of pay-rates and time scales for all categories of employees, dearness allowance, retiring benefits, leave and holidays, conditions of service, medical aid and other matters, the details of which will be found from the issues framed. Unfortunately a considerable portion of the written statement was taken up with discussion of the finances of the Company with a view to show that the Company was making more profits than what appeared in its balance sheets and there was even a suggestion that the Company was manipulating its accounts to make it appear that it was making less profit. The Company in its written statement repudiated and resented this suggestion. At one stage an application was filed by the Union for an order on the Company to produce its account-books from 1939 to 1948. This was not, however, ultimately pressed and at the time of hearing of the case, the suggestion in the written statement of the Union regarding manipulation or inaccuracy of the Company's accounts was not repeated. The Company's accounts are properly audited and it is somewhat reckless to suggest any manipulation. It appeared at the time of hearing that all these matters were altogether irrelevant as the Company did not plead financial inability to raise the wages of its employees. Though these matters were not pressed at the time of hearing, it would have been better if they had not been raised at all in the written statement in the form in which they were actually raised.

The following issues were framed for adjudication:—

(1) Recognition of the Union.

(2) Basic pay, time scales and grades of different categories of employees as enumerated in Annexure A of the employees' written statement.

(3) Fitting existing employees into the grades so fixed.

(4) Dearness allowance.

(5) Special allowances: (a) Transport allowances or free transport, (b) Education allowances for employees' children, (c) House rent allowance, (d) Over-time allowances.

(6) Bonus.

(7) Retiring benefits: (a) Provident Fund, (b) Gratuity.

(8) Conditions of service: (a) Permanency of service, (b) Rules for discharge and dismissal, (c) Promotion, (d) Working hours, (e) Rules for recruitment, (f) Standing orders.

(9) Leave and holidays: (a) Privilege leave, (b) Casual leave, (c) Sick leave, (d) Holidays.

(10) Compensation for involuntary unemployment.

(11) Medical aid and facilities.

(12) Free tiffin and Rest Room.

(13) Provision of more latrines.

(14) Provision of better chairs for clerical staff.

Issue No. 1.—Recognition of the Union.

As already stated, the Union was registered on 6th December 1947. It is claimed that about 500 Indian employees out of a total of 550 are members of the Union. After the submission of the charter of demands by the Union on 10th January 1948 the Governing Director of the Company asked for the constitution of the Union and the names of its office-bearers and certain other informations and these were supplied. On 10th February 1948 the Union was informed by the Director of the Company that the Company had no objection to recognise a properly conducted Union which would represent 80 per cent. of the staff (Annexure D) of the written statement of the Union). At the time of hearing of the case Mr. Meyer informed me that the Company was agreeable to recognise the Union without any condition. I congratulate the Company on this wise decision and direct that the Union be recognised by the Company with effect from the date on which this award will come into operation.

Issues Nos. 2-4.—Basic pay, time scales and grades and dearness allowance of the different categories of employees and fitting existing employees into grades to be fixed.

As already stated, the Company employs about 550 Indian employees. A list of all these employees has been filed by the Company. This list also contains the names of the European and Eurasian staff and certain highly paid employees with whom we are not concerned. Amongst the Indian office staff, the Head Clerk and the Accountant, each of whom gets Rs. 475 per month as pay, are not members of the Union and the Union has stated that it does not represent them. Their cases should not, therefore, be considered by the Tribunal. The rest of the employees may be classified as office staff and clerks, factory staff and bakers, cooks and kitchen staff, garage staff and drivers, electricians, laundry staff, butlers, boys, khansamas, barmen, coolies, carpenters, tailors, durwans, bill collectors, bearers and sweepers. In Annexure A of the written statement of the Union the staff has been divided into seven categories for the purpose of fixation of pay and time scales and grades and also dearness allowance. It will, however, be necessary to revise to some extent this classification of categories, as will be seen later on.

Clerical or office staff.—The first category is the clerical or office staff. The total number of the clerical staff is 65 excluding the Head Clerk and the Accountant with whom I am not concerned, as already stated. Out of these 65 clerks, 26 with length of service varying from 5 to 16 years, are getting a pay of Rs. 110 each. One has put in 24 years' service. There are others getting Rs. 120, 125, 130, 135, 140, 150, 160, 170 and 200 and the highest pay is Rs. 225 which is being paid to an employee who has put in 30 years of service and is at present the Head Typist. All these salaries are inclusive of dearness allowance. The Company has got no system so far of paying dearness allowance separately. In January 1947, the Company granted a general increment to the office staff and the salaries of all those who were getting Rs. 70 to Rs. 100 were raised to Rs. 110. Others getting above Rs. 100 also received increments of Rs. 10 as the minimum and Rs. 25 as the maximum. Further increments were granted to a few employees after January 1947. In its written statement the Union demanded a minimum pay of Rs. 120 for the clerks and typists and also demanded a grade of Rs. 120—10—300 for them. For accountants and book-keepers a separate grade of Rs. 150—20—350 was demanded. Over and above this dearness allowance was demanded at the rate of 65 per cent. on the first rupees hundred of salary subject to a minimum of Rs. 40, 40 per cent. on the second rupees hundred and 20 per cent. on the third rupees hundred. I am bound to say that these demands are rather extravagant and this was recognised by the Union itself at the time of hearing of the case when the demand was reduced to a grade of Rs. 70—10—250 for all categories of clerks with dearness allowance at the rate of 70 per cent. on the first rupees hundred, 40 per cent. on the second rupees hundred and 25 per cent. on the third rupees hundred. At one stage it was claimed that the Company was bound to pay dearness allowance over and above the salaries it was paying and it was urged that the salaries were not inclusive of dearness allowance since the Company was paying Provident Fund contribution on the entire amount of those salaries. It is, however, to the credit of the Union that it was recognised at the time of hearing that the existing salaries should be taken to be inclusive of dearness allowance and that unfair advantage should not be taken of the Company's mistake in not showing in its accounts a portion of the salaries as basic pay and another portion as dearness allowance. On account of this mistake the Company has been deducting and paying Provident Fund contributions on the entire salaries paid. There can be no question that the Company is paying handsome salaries to its employees and to claim that the Company should pay dearness allowance over and above these salaries would have been most unreasonable and unjust. I congratulate the Union for appreciating this position at the time of hearing and reducing its demands in consequence.

In order to decide what portion of the salary which is at present being paid to a clerk should represent dearness allowance, it is necessary first of all to fix the rate of dearness allowance for the clerical staff. As already stated, the Union it its written statement demanded 65 per cent. on the first rupees hundred of the salary subject to a minimum of Rs. 40 as dearness allowance. In the revised demand submitted at the time of hearing, the dearness allowance was demanded at 70 per cent. on the first rupees hundred of the salary. I think that both these demands are rather too high. The Central Pay Commission recommended dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 40 for pay range from Rs. 51 to Rs. 100, Rs. 45 for pay range from Rs. 101 to Rs. 150 and Rs. 55 for pay range from Rs. 151 to Rs. 200 and so on, on a cost of living index amounting to Rs. 280. It is said that the cost of living index has gone up further and it is now above Rs. 300. The clerical staff of this Company, however, enjoys another kind of amenity in consideration of which I am of opinion that the rate of dearness allowance recommended by the Central Pay Commission, as stated above, should not be exceeded. This amenity consists of afternoon tea with buttered toast which is supplied free to all its clerical staff by the Company. This has been valued by the Company at Rs. 10 per month. On behalf of the Union, however, the quality of the toast supplied has been criticised and it is said that the money value would not be as high as Rs. 10. Even if it be so, the fact that this special kind of amenity is enjoyed by the clerical staff should be taken into account in fixing the rate of dearness allowance. I accordingly fix the rate of dearness allowance for the clerical staff as follows:—

Rs. 40 for pay range—Rs. 51—100.

Rs. 45 for pay range—Rs. 101—150.

Rs. 55 for pay range—Rs. 151—200.

It is not necessary to fix the dearness allowance for any higher pay range since the maximum pay of the clerical staff is going to be fixed at Rs. 200, as will appear later.

According to the above scale of dearness allowance, a clerk who is now getting Rs. 110 should be deemed to be getting Rs. 70 as basic pay and Rs. 40 as dearness allowance. Similarly, a clerk getting Rs. 140 should be deemed to be getting Rs. 100 as basic pay and Rs. 40 as dearness allowance. Up to Rs. 140 the basic pay should be arrived at after deducting Rs. 40 from the actual amount which is being paid to a clerk. There is now no clerk getting salary from Rs. 141 to 149 and the next salary above Rs. 140 is Rs. 150, according to the statements filed by the Company and also by the Union. Since Rs. 45 is the dearness allowance fixed for pay range Rs. 101 to 150, a clerk getting Rs. 150 should be deemed to be getting Rs. 105 as basic pay and Rs. 45 as dearness allowance. Salaries from Rs. 150 to Rs. 195 can easily be converted into basic pay and dearness allowance in this manner. From salaries above Rs. 195, Rs. 55 should be deducted in order to arrive at the basic pay. Thus a clerk getting Rs. 151 should get Rs. 55 as dearness allowance and his total salary would therefore be Rs. 206. There are some clerks on Rs. 200, according to the statement filed by the Company. This salary cannot be converted into basic pay and dearness allowance without some increment up to at least Rs. 6. These clerks should be considered to be on a basic pay above the pay range of Rs. 150 and what their actual pay scale should be will appear later. There is one clerk getting Rs. 225 and he is the Head Typist, as already mentioned. His basic pay should be deemed to be Rs. 170 since he is entitled to Rs. 55 as dearness allowance.

I now come to the question of fixation of time-scales and grades for the clerks. The Company in its written statement had taken legal objection to the jurisdiction of the Tribunal to fix time-scales and grades under the Industrial Disputes Act. At the time of hearing, however, this objection was not pressed and the Company itself proposed grades and time-scales. The Company is in the habit of granting liberal increments of pay to its clerks from time to time but there are no fixed time-scales or grades. Some fixed time-scales and grades are, however, necessary in the interest of the employees.

As already stated, the Union finally demanded one uniform grade of Rs. 70—10—250 for all kinds of clerks. The Company, however, proposed three grades according to the qualifications of the clerks. These grades are—

(A) Rs. 70—4—130 for graduates,
(B) Rs. 60—2½—90 for matriculates and under-graduates, and
(C) Rs. 35—2½—80 for non-matrics.

In a statement submitted by the Company on 17th July 1948 the grade to which a particular clerk is assigned has been mentioned and it has been stated that this grading has been done on the basis of educational qualifications as also efficiency and long service. So far as the C grade of Rs. 35—2½—80 is concerned, I must say that this cannot be a grade for clerks, even though they may be non-matriculates. The lowest grade fixed by the Central Pay Commission for clerks starts from Rs. 55. The clerks belong to the middle class and certainly their minimum pay cannot be fixed so low as Rs. 35. In the above statement, the great majority of the clerks have been placed by the Company in the B grade. Their number is 35 which is more than half the total. At present the lowest pay of Rs. 70 (after deducting dearness allowance from Rs. 110) is being paid to some clerks who have put in only five or six years' service and they have been placed in C grade. The pay of one of them was Rs. 70 in December, 1946 while certain others were then getting even more, viz., Rs. 80. So, very likely these clerks had been appointed on Rs. 70 or Rs. 80. They cannot by any means be fitted into the proposed C grade, if their present pay and the pay in December, 1946 and the length of service are taken into account. So I cannot accept the C grade proposed by the Company. I do not also see much justification for keeping a separate grade for non-matriculates or treating them differently from the matriculates. The number of clerks placed on the C grade is only 18. I think that it will be more appropriate to fix one grade for the matriculates and non-matriculates and to adopt Rs. 60 as the minimum basic pay for such clerks. The Union has proposed one uniform grade for all kinds of clerks including graduates, but this shows scant recognition for superior educational qualifications and on principle this cannot be accepted. I therefore propose to fix one grade for non-matriculates, matriculates and under-graduates and another grade for graduates. The rate of annual increment proposed by the Company for the B grade, namely, Rs. 2-8, is not sufficient and the rate proposed by the Union, namely, Rs. 10, is too high. I think that the rate of increment should more properly be Rs. 4 and the maximum should be Rs. 140 with efficiency bar at Rs. 100. For A grade, in which the Company has placed 12 of the clerks, the starting salary should be Rs. 80, the rate of increment Rs. 6 and the maximum Rs. 200 with an efficiency bar at Rs. 140. The grades are accordingly fixed as follows:—

(A) Rs. 80—6—140 (E.B.)—6—200.
(B) Rs. 60—4—100 (E.B.)—4—140.

So far as the question of fitting the existing clerks into the two grades is concerned, the C grade proposed by the Company not having been accepted, the clerks who are shown in the C grade in the statement filed by the Company on 17th July 1948 should all be placed in the B grade. The 35 clerks placed in the B grade in the statement along with those placed in the C grade should all get the B grade fixed above and the 12 clerks placed in the A grade in the statement should have the A grade fixed above. As recommended by the Central Pay Commission, the initial pay of each clerk should be fixed at the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay which he may be drawing at present. This should be done with effect from the date on which this award will be brought into operation by order of the Government. For this purpose the basic pay should be calculated after deducting the dearness allowance according to the scale fixed above from the salary which is at present being paid to a particular clerk. Thus the basic pay of a clerk who is now getting Rs. 110 should be taken to be Rs. 70 and his initial pay should be fixed at the stage in the proposed scale next above this pay, i.e., at Rs. 72. As regards some clerks in the B grade, special increments seem to be necessary in consideration of length of service. Thus P. G. Nandi (No. 42 in the list of 17th July 1948), who has put in 24 years of service, is getting Rs. 110 only. In such a case, as recommended by the Central Pay Commission, special increments at the rate of one increment in the proposed scale for every three completed years of service, subject to the ceiling of Rs. 20, should be added to the initial pay fixed. Thus his basic pay should be Rs. 92 and he should get Rs. 132 including Rs. 40 as dearness allowance. In the B grade, those who have put in 12 years of service or more and are still getting Rs. 110 should receive special increments at this rate subject to the ceiling of Rs. 20. There are three such persons, according to the statement, and they are—

(1) P. G. Nandi (No. 42).
(2) P. N. Banerji (No. 39).
(3) C. R. Sarkar (No. 45).

Another clerk P. K. Majumdar (No. 20 in the list) who is getting Rs. 125, though he has put in 15 years of service, should also have a special increment and get Rs. 132 including dearness allowance, his initial pay being fixed at Rs. 92.

So far as the clerks placed in the A grade are concerned, those who are getting Rs. 200 should get Rs. 207 out of which Rs. 152 should represent basic pay and Rs. 55 dearness allowance. Rupees 152 should be deemed as the stage in the grade next above the pay they are getting. The initial pay of the others should similarly be fixed at the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay they are now drawing after deducting dearness allowance according to the scales fixed above. There are two clerks in the A grade who should receive special increments of Rs. 20 in view of the length of their service (24 and 20 years) and the pay they are getting at present. They are—

No. 4 D. N. Das whose initial pay is fixed at Rs. 146, and

No. 23 H. K. Sen whose initial pay is fixed at Rs. 110.

They will get dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 45 on the pay fixed.

The Company, as already stated, has placed 12 of the clerks in the A grade and they should be considered as the present incumbents of the A grade. The placing of a particular employee in a grade is a matter within the discretion of the Company but it is expected that the Company will promote more employees from the B grade to the A grade, according to their efficiency and length of service.

Factory staff.—The factory staff consists of confectionery mistries and their assistants. The Company has filed a statement classifying them into three categories of skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled workmen. The skilled staff gets pay varying from Rs. 48 to Rs. 98. The Head Mistri gets Rs. 270. His case is not necessary to be considered by the Tribunal and no demand has been made on his behalf. The semi-skilled staff gets pay ranging from Rs. 35 to Rs. 48 and the unskilled staff from Rs. 30 to Rs. 34. No separate dearness allowance is paid to these workmen but they get a substantial mid-day meal cooked by themselves, foodstuff being supplied by the Company, and this meal is valued by the Company at Rs. 12 per month. According to the Union, the food supplied is not worth so much. After some discussion, however, it was agreed by both parties that the value of the food supplied should be estimated at Rs. 10 per month. The Union further agreed to deduction of this sum from the dearness allowance that may be fixed. So far as the factory staff is concerned, the Company agreed to dearness allowance being paid to them at the same rate as was fixed by the Engineering Industries Tribunal. The Union demanded that dearness allowance should be fixed at least at Rs. 30 per month. In the Engineering Industries Tribunal, the award of which was published in the Calcutta Gazette of 3rd July 1948, the following scale of dearness allowance has been fixed:—

Pay Range.			Dearness allowance. Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	...	...	25
Rs. 51—100	...	...	35
Rs. 101—150	...	...	40
Rs. 151—200	...	...	45
Rs. 201 and above	...	. .	50

I propose to fix the same rate of dearness allowance for the factory workers and other workmen of this Company. Since the factory staff gets food worth Rs. 10 per month, the dearness allowance will be reduced by Rs. 10 so long as they will get this supply of food.

The Union has proposed the following grades:—

Rs. 40—2—70 for the unskilled workmen

Rs. 60—5—90 for the semi-skilled workmen.

Rs. 80—10—200 for the skilled workmen.

These grades were demanded by the Union in a statement filed subsequently in modification of the original demands which were higher. The Company proposed that the minimum of the unskilled should be fixed at Rs. 30 and of the semi-skilled at Rs. 35. I think that the grades proposed by the Union are rather high and the present pay scales of the workmen quite fair, though there are no regular time-scales. I therefore fix the grades for the factory staff as follows:—

Rs. 30—1—35 for the unskilled workmen.

Rs. 35—1—50 for the semi-skilled workmen.

Rs. 51—3—81 for the skilled workmen.

The unskilled and the semi-skilled workmen will get dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 15 and the skilled will get dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 25 in addition to the food they are getting. The initial pay of each workman should be fixed at a stage in the grade fixed for him next above the pay he is getting at present.

There is one skilled workman, Lachman, who is getting Rs. 98. His initial pay should be deemed to be Rs. 81 and the balance should be deemed to be dearness allowance. His pay including dearness allowance should be raised to Rs. 106. The coolies in the Soda Factory and other coolies should have the same grade as the unskilled factory workmen with dearness allowance Rs. 25. The bakers should also have the grade of unskilled workmen with the same kind of dearness allowance, and their present pay should be raised to Rs. 55 including dearness allowance. The head baker should have the grade and the dearness allowance of a skilled worker and his initial pay is fixed at Rs. 51 the balance being deemed to be dearness allowance. If any of these workers get any food, then the value of the food concession should be deducted from dearness allowance.

Kitchen staff.—The kitchen staff consists of cooks, assistant cooks, kalaiwalas, knifemen, masalchis, pantrymen and coolies. The Company has filed a statement classifying the cooks into three categories of skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled. In the category of skilled cooks there are two men who are very highly paid. They are the head cooks. One of them gets Rs. 400 and the other Rs. 250. There are six more cooks who get pay ranging from Rs. 115 to Rs. 200. They should also be deemed to be highly skilled. Though the Company has described these eight cooks as skilled, they should more properly have been described as highly skilled. In the next category of semi-skilled cooks, the pay range varies from Rs. 85 to Rs. 120. In view of the handsome scale in which these cooks are paid, they should more properly have been described as skilled cooks. The cooks in the category of unskilled get pay varying from Rs. 35 to Rs. 85. They should more properly have been described as semi-skilled. In fact, there cannot be an unskilled cook. The unskilled workers in the kitchen staff are not cooks but men like masalchis, knifemen, etc. The Union in its revised demand proposed a grade of Rs. 120—10—250 for the skilled cooks, meaning thereby the cooks whom I have described as highly skilled. In its written statement, however, the Union had demanded only two grades for the cooks, the first grade being Rs. 80—10—200. As already stated, there are only eight cooks in the highly skilled category of whom two are head cooks. They are apparently able to take care of themselves and it would not be proper to fix a grade for only six or eight men. I do not therefore propose to fix any grade for the highly skilled cooks excepting fixing a minimum. In consideration of the fact that the cooks in the next lower category are actually being paid up to Rs. 120, I fix the minimum pay of the first category at Rs. 125. The cook Alam who has been placed in this category is getting Rs. 115 which is less than this minimum. His pay should therefore be raised to Rs. 125.

Before I proceed to fix the grades and the scales of pay for the cooks of the next two categories described as semi-skilled and unskilled in the Company's statement, it is necessary to say something about the question of dearness allowance for the cooks. The Company has stated that the cooks get all their meals free from the hotel and has therefore opposed the grant of any dearness allowance to them. The Union has demanded dearness allowance for the cooks on the same scale as in the case of other employees. At the time of hearing the Union at first suggested that the Company might discontinue providing meals for the cooks and pay them dearness allowance in cash instead. I understand that the practice in all hotels is that the cooks take their meals in the hotels they serve. I do not think that it would be proper to change such a longstanding practice and it has been urged upon me that any other practice would be highly inconvenient in the management of the hotel. The cooks' hours of duty are also such that unless they take their meals in the hotel, they will have to go without meals for long hours or the work of the hotel will suffer. The Union ultimately appreciated the weight of these considerations and urged that if no dearness allowance is paid to the cooks, they should be given a higher basic wage. At a later stage of the hearing, however, the Union demanded some cash payment by way of dearness allowance for the cooks. It is difficult to arrive at an exact estimate of the money value of the meals supplied to the cooks, but I do not think that it will be less than the dearness allowance which has been fixed for the factory staff. Taking all these facts into consideration I am of opinion that no dearness allowance should be paid to the cooks but that their scale of pay should be more liberal than that of the factory and other staff.

From the pay scales already mentioned it will appear that the cooks are actually being liberally paid. The cooks in the semi-skilled category, which I have taken to be equivalent to the skilled category, get pay varying from Rs. 85 to Rs. 120. The Union demanded a grade of Rs. 80—10—200 for them in the written statement but in its revised demand the grade proposed is Rs. 80—3—140. I think that the proper grade for this category of cooks, taking into account the fact that they will get no dearness allowance, should be Rs. 85—5—125. The cooks described as unskilled are getting pay varying from Rs. 30 to Rs. 85. One of them, Nicholas, is getting Rs. 15 only. For this category the Union demanded a grade of Rs. 40—5—100 in its written statement and Rs. 40—2—80 in the revised demand. I think that the proper grade for this category should be Rs. 40—3—85. Accordingly, the grades for the cooks of the skilled and semi-skilled categories, who have been described as semi-skilled and unskilled respectively in the statement filed by the Company, are fixed as follows:—

(1) Rs. 85—5—125 for the skilled category.

(2) Rs. 40—3—85 for the semi-skilled category. Those who are getting less than the minimum should all get the minimum from the date this award will come into effect, and the pay of those who are getting above the minimum should be fixed at the stage in the respective scales next above the pay they are now drawing. The cooks will not get any dearness allowance, as already stated, but they will be entitled to have their meals from the hotel. It is expected that the cooks will be promoted from one category to another, according to their skill and efficiency. This is, however, left to the discretion of the Company.

As regards the other kitchen staff, whom I have described above as the unskilled staff, it appears that the kalaiwalas get pay ranging from Rs. 40 to Rs. 45. Their grade is fixed at Rs. 35—1—50. The knifemen and the masalchis get Rs. 30 or Rs. 32. The Pantrymen get Rs. 30. There are also some coolies on Rs. 30. For all these, the grade is fixed at Rs. 30—1—35. I understand that some of the kitchen staff also get their meals from the hotel. Those who get such meals, and I understand that the kalaiwalas and the masalchis are among them, will not get any dearness allowance on the same principle which has been applied to cooks. The others will get dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 25, as fixed above.

Drivers and garage staff.—It appears from the statement filed that the Company employs six drivers on Rs. 71-4 and one on Rs. 100. No separate dearness allowance is paid to any driver. The Union demanded a scale of Rs. 80—10—200 for the drivers in the written statement. In the revised demand, however, the scale suggested is Rs. 80—3—125. Over and above, dearness allowance has been claimed. I think that the grade of Rs. 55—2—75 should be adequate for drivers and I fix the grade accordingly. They will get, in addition, dearness allowance at Rs. 35. The drivers who are getting Rs. 71-4 should therefore get Rs. 90 including dearness allowance and the driver on Rs. 100 should be deemed to be on the maximum pay of the scale. His pay is fixed at Rs. 110 including dearness allowance.

In the garage the Company employs a head mistri and certain other categories of workmen like turners, vicemen, fitters, painters, tin-mistris, blacksmiths, carpenters, cleaners and coolies. The cleaners and coolies get pay ranging from Rs. 22 to Rs. 34. They should have the grade of unskilled workmen, namely, Rs. 30—1—35. They should also get dearness allowance at the rate fixed above. The pay of all these workmen should therefore be raised to Rs. 55 including dearness allowance from the date of operation of this award.

As regards other workmen in the garage, those who are getting at present more than Rs. 70 should more properly be placed in the skilled category and those who are getting less than Rs. 70 should be placed in the semi-skilled category. For the semi-skilled workmen, the grade should be Rs. 35—1—50 and for the skilled workmen, namely, those who are at present getting pay above Rs. 70 inclusive of dearness allowance, the grade is fixed at Rs. 51—3—81. The semi-skilled category will get dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 25 and the skilled category will get it at the rate of Rs. 35. In placing the workmen on the grades fixed, the same principles should be adopted, namely, the initial pay should be fixed at the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay they may be drawing at present and this pay should be ascertained in each case by deducting the dearness allowance from the existing pay. Where by such deduction the minimum is not reached the basic pay should be raised to the minimum of the grade. There is one tin-mistri on Rs. 30 and there is also a viceman on Rs. 30. They should also have the minimum of the semi-skilled grade. There is a carpenter in the garage staff on Rs. 66. He and the other carpenters in the employment of the Company who get Rs. 55 will have the same grade as that of the semi-skilled workmen, namely, Rs. 35—1—50, and the same dearness allowance. The pay of the carpenters on Rs. 55 should be raised to Rs. 60 inclusive of dearness allowance.

Laundry staff.—The Company employs a large number of dhobis or washermen whose pay generally is Rs. 42 and there are two who are getting Rs. 65 and Rs. 69 respectively. Excepting these two they should have the same grade as that of unskilled workmen, namely, Rs. 30—1—35 and the same dearness allowance, namely, Rs. 25, and should get Rs. 55. The two who are getting above Rs. 60 should have the grade of semi-skilled workmen, namely, Rs. 35—1—50, with Rs. 25 as dearness allowance. Their initial pay should be fixed after deducting dearness allowance from the existing pay. There are some tailors in the employment of the Company who are getting Rs. 50. They should have the grade of semi-skilled workmen, namely, Rs. 35—1—50 and the same dearness allowance and their initial pay should be fixed on the same principle. The linen boys should have the grade of unskilled workmen, namely, Rs. 30—1—35, with dearness allowance, Rs. 25.
